AUTOMOBILE SALES reflect high or low American prosperity. Therefore, the country in general, automobile agents particularly, are interested in the opening of the automobile exposition, in New York City, with one hundred and fifty per cent more visitors, the first day, than on the opening day one year ago.

Automobile men are to be congratulated on having not only better automobiles, but also better "showmanship" than ever.

It is important to have a good thing, also to make other people want it through the right kind of advertising and display.

THE HOLLANDER, Marinus Van Der Lubbe, the 24-year-old stonemason, set fire to the German Reichstag building, burned it down, didn't kill anybody. That is as though somebody had burned down the Capitol at Washington.

Yesterday, in Leipzig, Van der Lubbe's head was cut off. The details will interest future civilizations.

The guillotine blade that drops automatically was used in place of a headsman with ax or sword, and dressed in evening clothes. There was ceremony enough to satisfy German ideas as to etiquet in chopping off a head.

VAN DER LUBBE, who confessed scornfully, and refused to say anything more, was executed by the guillotine operator, Herr Goebler, "dressed in evening clothes, wearing white gloves."

Van der Lubbe climbed silently to the guillotine platform. Goebler pressed the button, Van der Lubbe's head was in a basket, half full of sawdust, before the clergyman had finished his prayer. The executioner called out in a loud voice:

"Justice has been done."

The prison bell rang, to let the people know.

Only thirty seconds before the state's attorney had said:

"I surrender you to the executioner."

FRANCE AND Russia conclude a friendly trade agreement, despite the fact that repudiated czarist bonds owned in France amount to six thousand million dollars.

Europe sees in this trade agreement "an alliance against Germany and Japan." At present Europe is having Japanese nightmares without any reason.

Japan is reaching out, naturally, in Asia; and Europe thinks that, next, Japan will fly around the world to gobble up all of Europe and America, beginning with America.

ITALY WARNS us:

"Japan can reach the Philippines and other American places in four days, while the American fleet requires twelve days to reach Manila," Japan "despising the white race for their materialistic outlook, are bent on a triumph for their race."

Furthermore:

"Americans fighting Japan must fight about 5,000 miles away from the nearest American base."

If America ever fights it will fight by submarine, airplane, explosive bombs and poison gas, and only in self-defense and one or two thousand additional miles will make no difference.

However, Japan will not fight the United States for two reasons: First, Japan is intelligent, and many well informed Japanese know what the United States is. Second, the Japanese could not win.

Japan is successful with her commercial penetration in Abyssinia, where she has obtained a "free zone" territory for cultivating cotton and other raw materials.

That bothers Italy, but it does not bother the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., capital of our partly wet, partly dry country, would by an act of Congress "become extremely liberal," which means that you could buy what you wanted and drink it when and where you liked. You would not have to buy a bottle of whisky, take it home, put it under the mattress, and see how quickly you could get rid of it.

They tried the plan, "take it home in a bottle and drink it all up quickly," in New Zealand, but it didn't work.

LIBERIA, AFRICAN republic with more than one million inhabitants, is ruled by only twelve thousand citizens, forming a "civilized" ruling class, all descendants of former American slaves.

Liberia's constitution is based on that of the United States, and the chosen "twelve thousand," considering themselves the only civilized ones in Liberia, refuse to let the other one million vote or have anything to say about the government.

That plan is dangerous. Boers in South Africa decided that they alone were fit to govern South Africa. The British thought otherwise and now the Transvaal is British.

The best plan everywhere is to interest as many as possible in keeping things as they are. That applies to the U. S. A.

AIRMAN LAYS BANKRUPTCY TO MELLONS

'Chiseled' Way Into Control of TWA, Taney Charges

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan 11.—Charges that the Mellon industrial dynasty "chiseled" its way into domination of a company awarded airmail contracts and drove a passenger line into bankruptcy were hurled at the Senate Airmail Committee hearing today.

The alleged machinations of the Mellon family, of Pittsburgh, at a time when Andrew W. Mellon was Secretary of the Treasury, were outlined by Theodore Taney, former head of Pittsburgh Airways.

Taney's company went bankrupt in February, 1931, after vain efforts to compete with a parallel line to which Postmaster General Walter F. Brown awarded a mail contract in 1930.

The whole affair resulted, Taney charged, in a Mellon-controlled company dominating one of the three companies awarded transcontinental airmail contracts.

TOLD NOT TO BID

Taney testified officials of the Mellon-controlled Pittsburgh Aviation Indsutries Company, which owned an airport seven miles from Butler, Pa., and 23 miles from Pittsburgh, told him it was useless for him to bid for a mail contract. Taney quoted one of the officials as saying:

"There's going to be only one air line operated transcontinentally through Pittsburgh, and your company is not going to be in that set-up."

Senator Black, committee chairman, asked:

"Were these officials correct?"

Taney replied:

"They were."

Senator Black asked Taney what seemed to justify the inclu-

SENATE PASSES DEBT BILL

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Johnson bill, making it a felony for any person to lend money to or buy the bonds of defaulting debtor governments, passed the Senate this afternoon.

The bill, a brief one, must be approved by the House before it becomes effective. It would terminate all credit in this nation for the governments, which have defaulted either on private or public debts.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Johnson (Rep.), of California, early in the special session last spring.

Fall Fatal to Priest In New Kensington

A fall as he was about to enter his church to celebrate mass nearly a month ago, today had cost the life of the Rev. Stephen Macruak, 58, of 1606 Kenneth avenue, New Kensington. Father Macruak, pastor of the St. John the Baptist Greek Catholic Church, suffered a fractured elbow in the fall and was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital. Pneumonia, which developed following the injury, caused his death, according to a report to the morgue.

Two-Pound Baby Dies of Hiccoughs

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—After a battle of several hours, waged to save her life, Valerie Bates, new-born two-pound baby, is dead today. The tiny infant, who was kept in a shoe box at the Osteopathic Hospital and was fed with an eye-dropper, succumbed to an attack of hiccoughing. Exhaustion brought heart failure which was officialy given as the cause of death. She was born Monday.

Mob Jams Wynekoop Trial

DR. ALICE L. WYNEKOOP

Dr. Alice Carried to Court on Chair; Death Asked

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Amid scenes of near rioting as hundreds of spectators fought for entrance to the court, Dr. Alice L. Wynekoop went on trial today for the death of Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, 23, her daughter-in-law, on an operating table in a home surgery.

The jostling, pushing and frequent violence of the crowd caused Judge Joseph B. David to order the building cleared. Chief Bailiff James Gabriel announced the public would be excluded from the remainder of the trial.

Selection of a jury after Dr. Wynekoop had pleaded not guilty proceeded slowly and indications at the noon recess were that two days or more might be required to complete it.

The sensational case went to trial with the prosecution asking the death penalty for the 62-year-old woman physician.

WHITE AS GHOST

Her features composed but her face a ghastly white, Dr. Wynekoop sat calmly at her counsel's table. Her expression did not change when Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty asked the first venireman whether he had any scruples against inflicting the death penalty if the woman physician were found

M'CREADY'S CITY JOB 'REPEALED'

Playboy Quits in Huff After Mayor Says 'He's Out'

Harrison R. McCready was repealed today by Mayor McNair.

The young man who has been a tremendous success as a playboy was fired by Mayor McNair in a few words:

"He's out."

Thus Pittsburgh loses its first director of home-making—a position the Mayor created for McCready. The Mayor said he had somebody else in mind for the job.

As soon as McCready heard the news he quit—left the city flat.

It was assumed that His Honor had fired McCready because the playboy showed up yesterday for his first day at work with a drink or two under his belt.

But McCready retorted:

"A few drinks take a man away from his troubles. I am now a Republican and I'm disgusted . . . Firing me will be a detriment to the Mayor's occupation and the city . . . I think the citizens should get up a petition to oust him . . I'm through."

However, what is the city's loss is the night clubs' gain.

McCready's job was to take the occupants of Father Cox's Shantytown and other homeless men, and let them build their own shanties on city lots. McCready had promised to chip in 14 of his own lots.

With this new leisure McCready will have more time to follow his court action. He is trying to upset a $150,000 trust fund he set up for his first wife and child. His counsel's argument is he was drunk and mentally unbalanced.

DEASY, KAISER POLICE HEADS

A stalwart of former Mayor John S. Herron and another of James F. Malone today were sworn in as police captains.

The appointments, announced after a conference between Mayor William N. McNair, Public Safety Director Harmar D. Denny, Jr., and Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall, took the rank and file of the department by surprise.

Former Inspector Jerry Deasy, of 703 Maryland avenue, and City Detective Walter Kaiser are the new captains. Deasy supported Malone in his campaign for Mayor against Charles H. Kline and for Council in the last primaries. Kaiser lives in Herron's home ward and was a favorite of the former Mayor.

Deasy also is a close associate of Andrew Charles, who has been named assistant superintendent of police.

In swearing in the new captains, Director Denny told them it is Mayor McNair's policy to give superior officers full charge of their offices. Deasy was assigned temporarily to the North Side as senior captain at night, succeeding John Flavin. Kaiser will succeed former Capt. Bernard Kirley in the East Liberty district. Flavin's rank was reduced and Kirley retired on pension yesterday.

U. S. PLANES NEARING HAWAII

Naval Fliers Less Than 400 Miles From Goal

International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., Jan. 11.—The six Navy seaplanes flying here from San Francisco indicated they were on the last leg of their ocean flight by radioing a request that the Makapu Point radio beam be turned on at 9:30 a. m., Honolulu standard time (4 p. m. Pittsburgh time).

The squadron will be able to pick up the beam 350 miles from Makapu Point.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Flying blind throughout the night but making remarkable speed, the United States Navy's crack air patrol squadron making a non-stop flight from San Francisco to Hawaii today entered upon what was virtually the "home stretch" of its flight.

Flight Commander Knefler McGinnis radioed naval headquarters here at 8:32 a. m., Pacific standard time, that the squadron had passed over the U. S. S. Wright, fourth of the chain of naval surface patrol ships, and that "everything was going fine."

Although Commander McGinnis did not mention the plane 10-P5, which had been reported separated from the squadron during the night, Admiral Johnson radioed that all six of the planes in company had been sighted from the Wright.

The Wright was approximately 1,550 miles from San Francisco and 600 miles from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, the goal of the flight.

At 10 a. m., Pacific standard time, the ships had cut the distance to less than 400 miles from Hawaii.

With favoring winds and the weight of the gasoline cargo diminishing steadily, it appeared probable that the planes would better the present record between San Francisco and Hawaii by approximately two hours and a half.

Japanese 'Middies' Reach San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—By "remarkable coincidence," the Japanese navy tanker Erimo unexpectedly arrived in San Francisco bay yesterday shortly before the U. S. Navy's air squadron of six planes took off for Hawaii.

And by "further coincidence," the tanker's officers and 50 midshipmen were given a "holiday" in Marin county, the scene of the takeoff of the San Francisco-Hawaii flyers.

Carol and Magda Reported Parted

LONDON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—King Carol, of Rumania, and his red-haired sweetheart, Mme. Magda Lupescu, have definitely parted as a result of Rumania's political troubles, the Daily Express said in a Vienna dispatch today.

The Express stated Mme. Lupescu packed her belongings and left Carol in tears. Her leaving the country was said to be one of the conditions upon which Nicholas Titulescu consented to assume the foreign portfolio in the new cabinet.

W. R. Hearst Discusses U. S.-Japanese Relations In New Year's Message

Under the heading, "War? Don't Repeat Germany's Blunder," the Japanese newspaper Hochi, in Tokio, printed a New Year message to the Japanese people from William Randolph Hearst. The message carried an explanatory introduction by the editor of Hochi, stating:

"America's newspaper king, publishing over 20 dailies and 10 magazines, wields powerful influence in journalism. He is well known in Japan for the fact that although sometimes he publishes articles against Japan, he himself is not anti-Japanese. It is the spirit of patriotism that prompts him to write strong editorials."

The text of Mr. Hearst's message follows:

DR. SHIRO TERADA,
Managing Editor Hochi,
Tokio, Japan.

IT SEEMS to me that there are no countries in the world which have better reason to maintain friendly relations and greater opportunity to maintain friendly relations than Japan and the United States of America.

All that is necessary is for both nations to carry on friendly commercial, financial and diplomatic relations with each other, and apart from that for each nation to mind its own business.

Japan is five thousand miles away from the United States on the edge of Asia, and if Japan wants to dominate the Asiatic continent that is none of our affair.

The United States is in the middle of the North American continent, and if she wants to and is able to play the leading role in American affairs I cannot see how that can possibly concern Japan.

THE PACIFIC OCEAN lies between these nations. It is the biggest ocean in the world. No nation can hope to monopolize it, and as long as there is freedom of the seas, what possible cause of conflict can there be between the United States and Japan?

Furthermore, what possible benefit is to be gained by either nation in a war with each other?

Such a war would necessarily be protracted on account of the strength and valor of the two nations, and the end of the war, no matter which won, would find both nations prostrate.

What compensation could there possibly be for such physical and financial exhaustion as would inevitably result?

Suppose the United States should win, what would it gain?

THE UNITED STATES does not want Manchukuo. Nor does it want Korea, nor any of Japan's territory, but some other nation might not be so indifferent to an opportunity for territorial expansion.

What would Japan gain by victory? It might take possession of Hawaii and the Philippines—and it might NOT.

Russia and England, both having interests in the Pacific, might object to that, and England and Russia, not exhausted by war, might be difficult to deal with.

The United States will never precipitate such a war, and if Japan should precipitate it, Japan, in my humble opinion, would make as great a mistake as Germany made when she precipitated the Great War.

MILITARISTS do not always realize that in these days of near civilization there are political and moral forces at work in the world more powerful in the long run than force of arms.

Progress and prosperity, wealth and happiness, both for Japan and the United States, lie in peace, not in war—certainly not in war with each other.

The Japanese and the Americans are both great peoples. They should admire each other, respect each other, and live and develop in friendship and harmony with each other.

NAVY HEAD SEES CRISIS IN 1935

Soviet-American Arms Alliance Charged

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service.

TOKIO, Jan. 11.—Japan is already preparing for war with the United States, and the time is past when the white race can consider itself superior to the yellow, according to Vice Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, commander-in-chief of the imperial combined fleets of Japan.

Vice Admiral Suetsugu, noted submarine expert and authority on naval strategy, whose followers include the strong Japanese group opposed to the London naval treaty, is qualified for selection as navy minister in the event of war, and is the man with whom the fate of the empire is likely to be entrusted in the event of emergency.

In an interview appearing in the publication Gendai, Suetsugu not only drew a pessimistic picture of the future of world peace, but also charged that resumption of diplomatic relations between the United States and Soviet Russia involved a military scheme to surround Japan. He said:

"A frontal clash between the two great Pacific fleets would seriously damage both sides.

"It is likely that the United States would use every means to surround Japan. We must pre-

Actor-Playwright Dies by Gas in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Earl Simmons, 45, playwright and formerly a widely-known actor and manager of his stock company, was found dead yesterday in a West Side rooming house, a suicide by gas.

Simmons recently had told friends he would end his life by gas, as had his friend Patrick Kearney, who dramatized "An American Tragedy." Police said Simmons was penniless.

Drop Wabash Deal for New Tunnel

Toll Bridge, Ramps Included in Big Project Here

The Wabash tunnel and bridge project has been scrapped, and an alternative plan to construct a new tunnel and bridge to the South Hills has been substituted in Allegheny County's request for a $31,000,000 loan and grant from the Public Works Administration, it was learned today in Washington.

A favorable reception was given the new proposal by PWA engineers, it was learned, and the plan has the approval of Joseph C. Trees, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Advisory Board of the Federal Emergency Administration.

Abandonment of the Wabash project, which brought criticism from many sources because of the necessity of paying $3,000,000 to the railroad company, was the result of a survey in which it was declared to be impractical for

SENATE REVERSES VOTE TO PENALIZE DEBT DEFAULTERS

HOUSE CRIMPS ECONOMY PLAN OPPONENTS

Administration Wins Important Tests In Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The administration triumphed in two congressional tests today, the Senate reversing itself on the restrictions against liquor imports from nations remiss with debt payments, and the House granting unhampered right-of-way to the bill extending the Roosevelt economy powers.

On word from the White House of disapproval of the Clark amendment imposing higher levies on alcoholic imports from the debt defaulters, the Senate changes its mind on a 44 to 30 vote. This practically assured the House wouldn't have a change to adopt the disputed clause, but Speaker Rainey had predicted to reporters before, anyhow, that it would not share the Senate view.

DEBATE RESTRICTED

Over Republican objection, the House Democratic leadership succeeded on a 261 to 212 vote in clamping on a stringent restriction to debate to protect the powers given the President to curtail federal spending, including veterans' payments.

This signified easy and fast going for the legislation to the Senate, where the more liberal rules will mean more lengthy attacks.

All was not simple sailing for the Democratic leadership, however, faced as it is with dissatisfaction over patronage.

On petition of 28 Democratic Congressmen, Representative Clarence F. Lea, of California, had to call a party caucus for late Monday for consideration of patronage matters. He heads the caucus committee.

Senator Harrison (Dem.) of Mississippi, obtained reconsideration of the liquor tax bill and Murphy (Dem.) of Iowa, put over reconsideration of the disputed amendment.

The latter, who yesterday supported the proposition aimed at France and other non-payers of debts, explained he had changed his mind on being given to understand that this method would hamper the President in his "tariff reciprocity bargaining plans" to help American foreign trade.

CURRENCY MOVES

Meanwhile, speculation over prospective new moves by President Roosevelt in his managed currency monetary program was revived as he conferred with his financial and legal advisers.

He conferred with Gov. Black, of the Federal Reserve Board, and arranged for a later talk with Secretary Morgenthau, of the Treasury, and Attorney General Cummings together. Black smiled but declined to comment on his visit.

Silver advocates on Capitol Hill have expressed confidence that something new by the President to aid this industry in connection with his monetary program was in prospect.

In the House, the campaign of bi-metallism advocates to obtain support for silver remonetization legislation spread with the decision of the wheat-belt states to name a cooperating committee.

The support given the move by representatives from Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas was disfavored, however, by Kansas Republicans-McGugin and Guyer.

FEDERAL COSTS TOP 3 BILLION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Federal expenditures for the fiscal year today passed the three billion dollar mark, leaving eight bilions to be spent before June 30 to fulfill President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

Nearly half the estimates for routine government costs has been spent. The exact figure is $1,554,067,201, but of the more than seven billion dollars which the President estimated for recovery costs, only $1,452,061,326 has been used.

The deficit stands at $1,446,401,507 as compared with $1,743,308,843 on the same date last year. By the end of the year, President Roosevelt has estimated the deficit will stand at $7,309,068,211.

The public debt is $23,809,336,000. President Roosevelt has estimated by June 30 it will be lifted to $29,847,000,000.

LIQUOR SENT TO PINCHOT SEIZED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot has served notice he will have no part of foreign wine samples which have been addressed to him.

The Governor's office was notified today that a shipment of liquor addressed to the Pennsylvania executive had been seized because it violated federal postal regulations.

The Governor waived all claim to the shipment, which turned out to be a three-ounce bottle of Curacao, valued at 0 cents. It was sent by Oscar C. Max, Salas, Curacao, Dutch West Indies.

Several days ago announcement was made that a shipment of assorted wines from Cadiz, Spain, was on its way to Philadelphia for Gov. Pinchot. He said he would have nothing to do with it.

BALDWIN FEUD TRUCE FAILS

An attempt to hold a "compromise" conference of the two deadlocked factions of Baldwin Township's Board of Commissioners failed today.

Registered letters were sent out Monday by the four holdover members of the board inviting the four newly-elected members to meet at noon today in the township building. Previous attempts to organize resulted in a tie vote.

W. E. Armstrong, chairman of the old board, had taken the precaution to ask that four deputy sheriffs be sent to prevent rowdyism, but he rescinded the request about noon when none of the opposing group appeared. The old members waited, but in vain.

Meanwhile the new faction planned to petition court to remove the other group on the ground they had been "delinquent" in refusing to attend meetings called by the former. The latter retorted it takes five members to call a meeting and that therefore there was no delinquency.

The holdover faction in addition to Armstrong includes A. F. Dryer, John Nurnberger and Miss Alice Linnert. The newly-elected group consists of John S. Wheaton, John McGinnis, Peter A. Kuensig and Clarence F. Kirsch. The latter are bent on discharging the solicitor, Henry A. Jones, and the secretary, Samuel H. Noll, it is said.

2 TRY ESCAPE, DIE IN CRASH

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—An effort by two young men to escape after they had been placed under arrest today resulted in an automobile crash that proved fatal to both of them and brought serious injuries to Deputy Sheriff Richard Renner.

En route to Hagerstown in Renner's automobile, one of the men apparently struck him with a wrench, knocking him unconscious and sending the automobile down an embankment.

One of the dead men was identified from papers as Orval M. Oliver, 23, of Glouster, O. The other was tentatively identified as Clyde Mellotte, 23, of Needmore, Pa.

The accident occurred after the Sheriff's office here had been notified by Hancock, Md., officials to watch for two men in an automobile bearing Ohio license plates, wanted in connection with the theft of some chickens. The Deputy halted the automobile and placed the two men in his automobile to bring them to Hagerstown.

Mrs. Mary Greiner, 60, mother of two nuns and two priests serving in Pittsburgh, is dead at her home at 2116 First avenue, Altoona. Funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Saturday in Altoona.

Mrs. Greiner leaves nine sons and daughters. Four of them are Father Oswald, superior of St. Francis Friary in Brookline, and Father Wilfred, of the same friary; and Sister Florence and Magdala, of Mt. Alvernia Convent, Millvale. Both the priests are members of the Capuchian order.

College Man Named To Treasury Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—John Clark, of the University of Denver, has been appointed to a temporary post in the Treasury in charge of income tax cases, Secretary Morgenthau announced today.

Clark is a lawyer. It was reported that he might be appointed assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of fiscal affairs or named a director on the board of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Better Liquor, U. S. Aim; Reporters Test It

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—...ting and offering drinks ... different types of bottled liquor ... newspapermen, Secretary Morgenthau today said the relaxing of some import restrictions was intended "to break the bootleg ring which still has the country by the throat, and to increase federal revenue."

Blended whisky now being sold, he declared, contains only from 1 to 5 per cent of real aged whisky with much of it unfit to drink.

His explanation of the new order to let in great supplies of "American type" whiskies — defined by the Federal Alcohol Control Administration today as rye and bourbon, liquors indigenous to this country, was:

"We want to give the public a better drink at a cheaper price and get revenue for the government."

In joining with the Treasury and Agriculture departments yesterday, the Control Administration lifted import restrictions on these whiskies for 30 days.

Some aged moonshine whisky sold by bootleggers was said by Morgenthau to be a better beverage than much of the legal blended stock. This presents the situation he wants to break up through the new order.

WORKING TIME MAY BE CUT AGAIN BY NRA

Johnson Sees Week of 32 Hours If Trade Justifies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A further general shortening of work hours will be proposed to American industry next month by the National Recovery Administration if the improvement of business develops to the point officials expect.

Hugh S. Johnson told newspapermen:

"If business turns up I think we can reduce substantially the average of 40 hours a week now prevailing in coded industries. Not only that, but I think business is going to."

He said he did not contemplate a universal 30-hour week or any other definite figure, but explained that hours virtually had to be decreased or increased by eighths, which suggested an average of 32 working hours a week as a possible objective.

CODE CONFERENCE

He will propose the general reduction plan to a gathering of the directing committees for the 200 coded industries at a meeting he will call for February 15.

That session is to go over the entire code regime for the purpose of shaking out inequalities between competing industries, discriminations between manufacturing and distributing groups, abuses and unsatisfactory policies of all sorts. Johnson's idea is that now that a large part of the codes are in effect they can be co-ordinated into a working whole.

The February gathering, he said, will be a continuation of the administrative revision which started with the price change hearing that concluded yesterday. This disclosed widespread use by industries of the code authorizations for publishing open prices to fix uniform and greatly increased prices on a variety of products.

A number of other misapplications of the code principle also were brought to light and officials predicted considerable changes in code administration as a result.

CIVIL WORKS CURB

Johnson's intention of proposing work-hour shortening, suggested that the administration might have a definite plan to turn back upon private industry by spring a sizeable portion of the employment load now being carried by the federal government through the Civil Works Administration.

Under present plans the civil works program would be cut off in May and if industry is expected then to shorten the larger part of the load many men will have to be transferred as private payrolls. The public works program, however, is expected to absort part of them.

Johnson pointed out that industry must have a marked revival before it could increase labor costs any further, as great numbers of companies have cut into their capital to the point that they do not have reserves enough to increase costs and would be forced into bankruptcy unless profits were forthcoming.

LOSSES IN BANK EXPLAINED BY EDSEL FORD

Auto Maker Grilled by Pecora at Senate Detroit Probe

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Huge losses from stock in the Guardian Bank group of Detroit were related today by Edsel Ford to the Senate Banking Committee after testifying the Ford Motor Company had $32,500,000 on deposit when the banks were closed by the Michigan bank holiday.

Of the $32,500,000 the Ford company has got back about $11,500,000, he said.

The son of Henry Ford told a crowded committee room that he had about 50,000 shares of group stock when the bank holiday came last February.

DENIES TAX DODGE

At one time, previous testimony showed, this amount was valued at approximately 15 million dollars but since has become worth less than nothing, due to assessment of stockholders.

Ford denied a suggestion by the investigators that the Ford Motor Company purchased seven and one-half million dollars of government bonds at the end of 1932 to avoid a state tax.

Ferdinand Pecora, banking committee counsel, asked if the Ford company had made any "special or temporary" deposits in the bank units. Ford replied:

"There may have been."

"How many?"

"I have no idea."

"What was the purpose?"

"To show an increase in deposits."

"Do you think it is an ethical manner of improving a bank's deposits?"

BANS LAWYED'S ADVICE

Before Ford replied, Pecora asked the witness' attorney not to advise him on questions of oninion. Ford said:

"I don't remember the circumstances."

Pecora repeated the question. Ford replied at last:

"Why, no, I don't suppose it is."

"Do you know why you did it?"

"No."

Ford testified in a low but easily audible voice in reply to questions.

Dressed in a gray double-breasted suit, he sat in the same witness chair near the middle of the table formerly occupied by such noted figures as J. P. Morgan and Albert H. Wiggin.

The big committee room was well filled with spectators because of advance reports of Ford's appearance.

SHERIFF VOTE SCANNING ON

Clerks of the County Bureau of Elections and of the Prothonotary's office today began an examination of returns of 21 contested districts in the Heinz-Gollmar sheriff fight.

John Heinz, Democrat, instituted the contest, after he apparently had been defeated at the November election by less than 300 votes by the incumbent, Frank I. Gollmar, Republican.

Judge Ralph H. Smith today refused to modify his original order permitting the scrutiny of return sheets, or to postpone it to give Gollmar's counsel opportunity to obtain a stay by appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Child Welfare Urged By Mrs. Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Women were urged by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt last night to take a greater interest in civic problems and in social welfare work in their own communities.

Addressing the annual dinner of the Women's City Club, Mrs. Roosevelt stressed the need of caring properly for poor children, saying that to do so would cut down future crime bills.

MISS GRACE ROOSEVELT

ROOSEVELT GIRL ENGAGED

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The engagement of Miss Grace Roosevelt, only daughter of Col. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, and William McMillan, of Baltimore, was announced last night.

The wedding will take place March 3 in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church at Oyster Bay. A reception will follow at Sagamore Hill, estate of Miss Roosevelt's grandfather, the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

She will be the first grandchild of President Roosevelt to be married.

McMillan, who is 28, is an architect, the son of the late Hugh McMillan, of Detroit, and Mrs. Walter Dent Wise, of Baltimore. He is a nephew of the late Senator James McMillan. McMillan has shot big game in various parts of the world and is an expert yachtsman.

WILL SLANDER CASE NEAR END

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—With the defense almost finished with its argument, a jury prepared today to receive the $300,000 case of Theodora Nagle, suing the estate of the late Theodore Nagle for alleged defamation of character through statements in his will.

Attorneys for the plaintiff have completed summation of their case, in which Miss Nagle seeks $300,000 on contentions that Nagle was her father and that his will contained an implication she was an illegitimate child.

Defense arguments are that Miss Nagle is not the daughter of the manufacturer, who died in 1925, and they cited testimony of witnesses that Nagle and his estranged wife, Mrs. Agnes Nagle, had not lived together for three years before Miss Nagle was born.

Nagle's will stated that he had only two children, Elizabeth and Bailey, and claims from other persons would be fraudulent.

Miss Nagle, who is 36, does not ask a share in the estate but only damages which she said were caused her by the clause in the will.

MELLON GROUP SMASHED HIM, SAYS TANEY

sion of the Mellon-controlled company in the important merger, which was virtually ordered by the Postmaster General. He replied:

"I don't know. The airport owned by the company was 27 miles from Pittsburgh."

"Has that airport ever been used by the merged companies in transcontinental mail and passenger service?"

"No. There's a flying school out there now, but there is not much doing. The field is going to weeds."

SHARP PRACTICES

E. V. Moore, Atlanta attorney, charged sharp ractices by the Postoffice Department. Postmaster General Walter F. Brown suddenly imposed regulations requiring bidders to be fully equipped with Ford or Fokker tri-motored planes.

The result was, he said, to prevent independent, pioneer air line operators from ahving a chance at the contracts. Moore said the company he represented, the Atlanta-Forth Worth Pioneer Company, was thus squeezed out, and subsequently was sold for "fifty cents on the dollar."

The committee will "welcome" the appearance of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh or Hervert Hoover, Jr., to explain in detail their activities with two major air line companies, virtually forced to merge to get a transcontinental mail contract during the administration of Postmaster General Walter F. Brown. This was made clear by Senator Black.

Lindbergh, if he appears, will be expected to answer questions about the gift of $250,000 worth of Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., stock he agreed to accept before he went with the company in 1928 as technical adviser.

Under terms of the agreement, made with C. M. Keys, president of TAT, Lindbergh also was given an option to purchase 25,000 additional shares of TAT stock over the years 1929, 1930 and 1931, at the par value, $10, if he still was employed by the company.

Committee members made it clear they would like to know if he exercised the options, and at what cash profit, especially in 1929, when the stock was selling on the market at a much higher figure than $10 per share.

Black said he had not decided to request Lindbergh or young Hoover to appear, but "would continue present investigations to find out all about the activities of the companies that employed them."

Hoover, son of the President, was in the employ of the Western Air Express, merged with TAT to form Transcontinental and Western Air Transport, Inc., which now has a transcontinental mail contract granted by Postmaster General Brown under terms of the McNary-Watres act.

DATA REQUESTED

Black said the committee has ordered the Western Air Transport and TAT to supply it with the salaries of all officials before and after the merger, including the salary of young Hoover.

Earlier testimony that the Mellons literally "muscled in" on the aviation company merger was given yesterday.

D. M. Sheaffer, chairman of the executive committee of TAT, said that he and Keys vigorously opposed letting the Mellon-controlled Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Company into the merger. Sheaffer and Keys capitulated, however, when the Pittsburgh company threatened to see Postmaster General Brown and "present our claim to 10 per cent" of the new company stock.

BALANCE OF POWER

It was brought out that after months of controversy the Mellons agreed to accept 5 per cent of the stock, which amounted to 25,000 shares at $10 par value, or $250,000.

Further testimony developed that the 5 per cent of stock virtually given to the Mellon-controlled company was actually a balance of voting power in the company as equal shares of 47½ per cent were held by TAT and Western Air Expres.

Testimony was presented that Clifford Ball, pioneer air line operator, had been told by Brown that he could not get a contract for a line from Pittsburgh to Washington, and subsequently sold his line to the Mellon-controlled Pittsburgh concern.

Favoritism to Mellons Charged By Taney

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Theodore Taney, president of Pittsburgh Airways, told Senate investigators today that a contract for carrying mail on the New York-Kansas City-Los Angeles route was let to Transcontinental and Western Air on terms which cost the government approximately $1,670,000 annually more than the bid of his company and associates would have cost.

Previously J. D. Condon, of the Pittsburgh Airways, said his company made a bid on a transcontinental route, but that the Postoffice Department had injected a night flying clause into the bidding which disqualified it.

The contract had been given to American Airways because of the night flying clause, Chairman Black developed, but flying was done by day, as the successful bidder was not equipped for night service.

BURNING LOVE NOTES OF WOMAN FARO VICTIM BARED

'NEED A KISS' ONE PASSAGE IN LETTERS

Mrs. Blacklidge Admits Writing Missives at Balm Hearing

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, former internal revenue collector, who once lost $50,000 at faro, admitted in court today she wrote a packet of letters to "Denny Darling" and "Denny Dear," but refused to say they were intended for Policeman Norman Nottingham.

Notingham's wife, Susanne, 35, has sued Mrs. Blacklidge for $100,000 damages on charges of alienating the policeman's affections. Judge Irving L. Weaver set trial for January 22.

Mrs. Blacklidge's identification of the letters came about because her attorney demanded that any documentary evidence be made available to him.

NOTES SIGNED "MYRTLE"

Attorney Murphy O. Tate, representing Mrs. Nottingham, replied the letters were none of Mrs. Blacklidge's business unless she admitted writing them.

So the former internal revenue official came into court, perused the packet of letters (tied with a ribbon) and said with a faint smile that she was the author. Her attorney then received copies of them.

Some quotations from the missives included:

"I just want to be held tight in your arms.

"How I want you, how I miss you, darling.

"Hot and tired, I need a plunge, a shot and, oh, how I need a kiss."

Most of the letters were signed "Myrtle." One said:

"I heard your B. and C. was going to put my name in the headlines. Sweetheart, take me and my belongings away from here—make a home for us."

Attorney Tate said he thought that one was especially important in the suit.

LETTERS IMPOUNDED

Nottingham was in court and watched Mrs. Blacklidge read the letters. He drives a patrol wagon at the Grand Crossing Station.

Attorney Tate said Mr. and Mrs. Nottingham still were living together, "but that's because he owns the house and she had nowhere else to go."

The letters all were written from Flora, Ill., in July, 1932. They were impounded by the court to make another appearance at the trial.

The $50,000 which Mrs. Blacklidge lost at faro, at Springfield, Ill., several years ago, was said by her then to have been borrowed from Edward R. Litsinger, Chicago politician.

DETROIT SCHOOL STERILIZATIONS PROBED

25 Boys, Girls Forced To Undergo Operation, Auditor Charges

International News Service.

DETROIT, Jan. 11.—Charges that more than 25 boy and girl inmates of the Wayne County Training School have been sterilized against their will, prompted the County Board of Auditors today to vote unanimously for an investigation.

The charges were made by Auditor Edward H. Williams. He said a cursory investigation had convinced him that "human rights had been wantonly violated.

The training school over which the oBard of Auditors had control, is located in the suburb of Northville.

The board, after hearing the charges, ordered an inquiry to open at 10 a. m. Monday.

BLAMES SOCIAL WORKER

Williams accused Mrs. Mildred Ainsworth, chief social worker at the institution, of major responsibility for the sterilizations. He said:

"A wave of indignation is sweeping the world as the result of Hitler's sterilization campaign in Germany. Naturally I was astonished yesterday to learn that sterilization had been practiced in Wayne County with less respect for law and human decency than in Germany."

He cited the case of a 19-year-old boy whose father and mother, he said, were persuaded to sign sterilization order under the impression that it was an order for their son's release from the institution.

The boy's father, Williams said, later discovered his mistake in time to prevent the operation from being carried out.

TRICKERY CHARGED

Williams said:

"Perhaps three of the most flagrant cases in which trickery was used to effect sterilization involve two young girls and a boy of 16, former inmates of the training school.

"In the cases of the boy and one of the girls, the orders were signed by the Probate Court. In the third case, that of a girl of 20, the subject strenously objected to being sterilized, but the operation was performed anyway."

The sterilized inmates were all classed as juvenile delinquents, according to Williams, and the operations were sanctioned by orders from Probate Court judges. However, the state law provides that both the family and the subject must consent to such an operation, unless the person is insane or otherwise incompetent to give his consent.

CROWDS RIOT AS WYNEKOOP TRIAL OPENS

Frail Woman Doctor Carried to Court On Chair

guilty. He replied in the negative.

Nor did she show any expression except one of intense interest when Dougherty recounted the charges in the indictment against her. The prosecutor said that the state would prove that Rheta, talented young violinist, came to her death at the wilful hands of her mother-in-law.

Dougherty recounted how Rheta's body was found in the basement surgical room of the Wynekoop mansion last November 21. He said he would prove Rheta died from a bullet wound through her heart, from an overdose of chloroform, or from a combination of both.

CROWDS JAM COURT

A near riot preceded by a few minutes the opening of the trial. The crowd of 1,000 or more which jammed stairways and corridor, became unruly, pushing and shouting as men and women battled for preferred position in line. Finally James E. Gabriel, chief bailiff, ordered the building cleared, and some who had stood in line since 7 a. m. were forced to descend to lower floors. Gabriel then permitted the line to re-form.

Dr. Alice's expression seldom changed, except when she peered over her shoulder and through the door of the courtroom, her attention attracted by screams and shouts among the mob outside.

Dr. Wynekoop was so weak from several weeks of illness that she had to be carried in a chair to the Criminal Courts Building from the adjacent County Jail. However, she walked into Judge David's courtroom, the Judge having ruled that prospective jurors might be influenced by seeing her carried.

EMBRACED BY CHILDREN

Her daughter Catherine, also a physician, accompanied her on the last stage of the walk to the courts building. One of the first to greet her was her son, Walker, a young businessman. He arose from his seat, went to the counsel's table where his mother was seated and took her in his arms affectionately. He gave her a lingering kiss and conversed with her for several minutes, his cheek against hers.

Dr. Catherine also kissed her mother and whispered words of encouragement. Son and daughter then took places in seats to the left of the defendant, only a few seats removed from the Rev. John Henry Hopkins, elderly Episcopalian minister, who has acted as spiritual counselor to Dr. Wynekoop.

Dr. Wynekoop's other son, Earle, husband of the slain Rheta, was missing from the courtroom. Dougherty said Earle had not been subpenaed by the state, and defense attorneys made no explanation of his absence.

JUDGE IN SHIRT SLEEVES

Judge David emerged from his chambers in his shirt sleeves and warned photographers against taking flashlight pictures. Then he returned a fe wminutes later in his judicial robes.

Exhaustive questioning of veniremen by Dougherty indicated it might require several days to complete the jury.

Each venireman was required to say whether he might be influenced by the prospect of the death penalty, the relation of the defendant and the victim, Dr. Wynekoop's age, her profession, the appearance of policemen as witnesses, or a dozen other phases of the case.

The second venireman examined, Thomas Ryan, unemployed, was excused for cause. He said he had formed an opinion of Dr. Wynekoop's guilt or innocence.

When another venireman, Ernest Buetell, said he never had served on a jury, Judge David said:

"Well, son, you're due."

Only about 125 of the crowd that jammed the corridors and filled a stairway for three flights were allowed to enter the court. The remainder of the space, about half of the high-ceilinged, dark-paneled court, was filled with veniremen.

Behind his high desk, Judge David, severe of countenance, paced back and forth, inserting caustic remarks at frequent intervals to speed examination.

DAY BEGINS EARLY

Jail attendants, court attaches, attorneys, prosecutors, a clergyman, stayed close by Dr. Wynekeep, and the Jail Matron Mary Kennedy, garbed in white, hovered watchfully over her. But calmly, a stoic figure in black, she faced the opening of the ordeal.

The day began early for the elderly physician. The jail physician, Dr. Francis McNamara, examined her to dettermine whether her strength and will power were sufficient to enable hr to go on trial. She answered:

"I'm ready, yes ready."

Dr. Wynekoop was dressed carefully. In the last days of the investigation into th death of Rheta, Dr. Wynekoop became careless of her appearance, but today she looked like a very old and very ill woman, carefulyy dressed for an outing with her stiffly starched nurse in attendance.

WOMAN GUILTY; PASTOR NAMED

International News Service.

OREGON, Ill., Jan. 11.—A verdict returned by a middle-aged jury in Circuit Court here today found Mrs. Ruby May Herzfeldt guilty of misconduct with the Rev. W. Clark Williams, former Mt. Morris pastor.

Mrs. Herzfeldt, wife of a Mt. Morris printing foreman, was charged with having been friendly with the clergyman as part of the divorce proceedings brought by her husband, Otto.

Mr. Williams, accompanied by his wife, was a spectator at the trial. He emphatically denied the charges.

Mrs. Herzfeldt testified her husband had forced her to draw up a so-called "confession of sin," in which, Herzfeldt charged, she admitted association with the clergyman.

FAY TO DEMAND $7,400 MONTH

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Temporary alimony of $7,400 a month and attorney fees of $50,000 will be asked by Fay Webb Vallee when she goes into court here next Wednesday to begin prosecution of a suit for separate maintenance against Rudy Vallee, orchestra leader.

The demands of Mrs. Vallee were disclosed in answers to a wife's questionnaire filed in connection with the suit, which accused Vallee of indiscretions with three women, among them Alice Faye, actress and a member of his troupe.

Under a property agreement which she will seek to abrogate, Mrs. Vallee is receiving $100 a week. In her suit she asserted that when she signed the agreement Vallee was making $350,000 a year and now is earning $50,000 a month.

Counsel for Vallee said an answer will be filed to the suit categorically denying all her charges.

HADDON SCORES IN KING SUIT

LONDON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Clarence Guy Haddon, 43-year-old unemployed consulting engineer, won the right to call defense witnesses when he went on trail today charged with threatening and attempting to blackmail King George.

Agreeing to subpena witnessess, but reserving decision on whether he will hear them, Justice Charles of Old Bailey—London's famous criminal court—adjourned the hearing until either January 19 or 23.

Haddon, who claims to be the illegitimate son of the late Duke of Clarence, elder brother of King George, told the court:

"I have witnesses to say that my mother was secretly married to the Duke of Clarence."

The justice replied:

"We won't say anything about that. I will allow the subpenas. I only want to indicate that if I find that they have no relevance to the charge itself, although they may be relevant to other matters, you will, I know, expect me in pursuance of my duty not to hear them."

Prized Gorilla Sips Lemonade and Cures Cold

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The gorilla population of the United States, is still two.

For a while it looked as though it might be cut 50 per cent when Janet Penserosa, prize exhibit of the Bronx Zoo, came down with a cold.

Janet, who is approaching her seventh birthday, began ailing last week. She emitted loud and unseemly noises classified by her keeper as sneezes.

Keepers prescribed hot lemonade and an increased allotment of cod liver oil. Recovery was almost immediate and by way of showing her appreciation, Janet went through a fine performance on flying trapese yesterday.

DOWNTOWN FIRE ON 8TH FLOOR

Downtown firemen battled flames on the eighth floor of the Methodist Building at 524 Penn avenue, more than an hour early today.

Starting in the offices of the E. H. Messer dental laboratories, the fire spread to the adjoining office of Fred C. Schmidt, manufacturing jeweler, causing damage estimated by Batallion Fire Chief William H. Greaves at $1,500.

The fire chief said the fire started in a vulcanizer in the laboratory and ignited the side walls. It was discovered when the flames burst through the windows facing Fifth avenue, attracting the attention of passersby.

'3 TOMS' FACE JURY TUESDAY

The "Three Toms," Coyne, Dolan and Goslin, alleged owners of the ritzy Monaca Club which held forth in the shadow of Oakland Police Station, will be placed on trial next Tuesday, District Attorney Andrew T. Park announced today.

They are charged with maintaining a gambling house and violating the liquor laws.

All the state police who raided the club a year ago, including one officer who was discharged soon afterward, have been subpened, Park said.

In all 25 witnesses will testify for the commonwealth.

Assistant District Attorney Earl R. Jackson has been assigned to prosecute the case. For the defense, Attorney John Duggan, Jr., will represent Coyne; Edward G. Coll will appear for Dolan and A. M. Oliver for Goslin.

CARROLL ADMITS HE'S DINOSAUR

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The inside story of how that 35-foot dinosaur in Earl Carroll's "Vanities" operated was told in Supreme Court yesterday by Mr. Carroll himself.

The theatrical producer testified he frequently was a member of the crew of seven men on the inside of the papier mache animal and therefore was competent to tell how it worked.

He was responsible for the action of the long neck and jaws, Carroll said, and when that big scene came where the beast seized a dancing girl in its mouth—that was Carroll operating the gadgets.

The smoke that issued from the dinosaur's nostrils came from a cigaret in the mouth of another member of the crew who blew it through the proper tubes, he related. The rest of the men grunted, bellowed, made the beast heave, sigh, show anger, waddle and lash its tail.

Carroll testified in a suit brought against him by Messmore and Damon, mechanical novelty manufacturers, who sought to collect $7,500 damages because the dinosaur used in Carroll's opus was not one of their making. They contended Carroll infringed on their patent.

PRAYS FOR MAN SHE KILLED

READING, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—In jail on a charge of slaying the socially prominent Dr. Paul R. Hess "to help him," 28-year-old Frances Sepse is praying for his soul.

The one-time patient of the physician was on her knees for hours last night, said her guardian, Policewoman Ethel Fletcher. The prisoner asked to be taken to the morgue, that she might see the body of Dr. Hess, but her request was denied.

Today the doctor, who was 33, is to be buried from the home of his wife's parents in Kutztown.

District Attorney John Wanner, who says Miss Sepse "frankly admitted that she was very much in love with Dr. Hess," does not expect to question her further, but county detectives have several points which they hope to clear up today.

YORK, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Because she refused to send her 8-year-old son to school, Mrs. Curtis E. Howard, of Springfield Township, yesterday was sentenced to serve five days in York County Jail.

The boy's father, Justice Rudisill says, wanted the boy to attend school, but the mother said she would go to jail rather than have the boy leave her.

Weather Conditions.

A large round high, central over the Middle Appalachians (Asheville, N. C., 30.38), covers most of the eastern states, and another high overlies the Middle Pacific Coast states, extending inland over the plateau (Boise, Idaho, 30.32), while a trough of low pressure extending from the Canadian Northwest (Swift Current, Sask., 29.74), southward over the western plains to Southern Texas (Brownsville, 30.00), separates these two highs. Rain has fallen along the North Pacific coast, and is falling this morning over Southern Texas; elsewhere there was no measurable precipitation. It is somewhat colder over the Canadian Northwest and in portions of the Middle Atlantic states and there is a slight change to warmer in the southern plains and Southern Rocky Mountains, with litle change elsewhere.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 4.8 feet; Lock No. 7 (Mon.), 15.9; Pittsburgh, 15.8; Dam No. 4, 13.2; No. 6, 15.1; No. 10, 17.1, and No. 12, 18.4. The dams are down. The rivers will continue to fall slowly.

VOTE MACHINE DEADLINE SET FOR FEB. 10

Richard J. Beamish, Secretary of State, today inspected and found unsatisfactory the newly remodeled county voting machine. He threatened to have the county order new ones for the spring primary.

But he deferred until February 10 the final decision, saying:

"I do not want Allegheny county to lose the $1,300,000 invested in machines, and I appreciate the co-operation the County Commissioners here have given. It is not like in Philadelphia, where I was hampered at every turn.

"But February 10 is the last call, so far as the Poole machine in Allegheny County is concerned."

Beamish declared if the two machines being repaired now by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company are not suitable by then, he will order the county to buy other machines, adding:

"There must be voting machines here for the spring primary."

M'GOVERN'S VIEWS

C. C. McGovern, chairman of the commissioners, attended, and after thanking Beamish, explained that whatever is done, the machines to be used must present a printed record of the vote—an exclusive feature of the Poole machines.

Beamish and B. B. Sklar, vote machine expert formerly with the Poole Company, inspected the machine together. Outside was Dr. Frank Conrad, chief engineer of the Westinghouse, who declared his engineers found defective material and inaccurate measurements in the machines his concern is repairing. The one examined today was repaired by county mechanics.

BEAMISH CHARGES

Beamish said he found that the curtain hid the counter which shows the number of people who voted, and insisted that it be in the open. Beamish commented:

"The history of these machines is political. Not only did the crowd that ordered these machines expect to draw financial aid from them, but also expected to get political advantage."

Concerning the ordering of other machines, Beamish declared:

"If by February 10 the machines are still defective, I will cancel the certificate and put up to the County Commissioners the necessity for ordering sufficient machines of a satisfactory type for the spring primary."

SLEUTH URGES WAR ON GYPSIES

Hocus-pocus charges get a lot of airing in Central Police and Morals Court today with noe other than city detective chief to voice some of them, and Councilman Walter R. Demmler to hear.

Thehe were charges that one woman claimed she could make money "grow" by prayer. There was another that a gypsey promished to remove a curse with the aid of five dollars, three eggs and a horseshoe nail.

While Councilman Demmler listened, three Negro women testified in Police Court they lost money to Mrs. Katherine Day, Negro, of 519 Francis street, who was supposed to perform the money "growing" stunt. Mrs. Day was held for court.

Simon Tan, 49, and his wife, Marie, 39, Gypsies, of 203 East Carson street, were held for further investigation in Morals Court. City Detective Sigmund Gorskey testified the woman claimed to be a curse remover and Gorskey's brother, Chester, paid her 45 cents for the information.

After the latter hearing, Detective Inspector Frank R. Boyd told Magistrate Ralph E. Smith:

These gypsies are a menace. I would suggest they be fined and ordered out of town. There are three or four bands still operating in the city. I have numerous cases where people have been nicked of large sums of money."

JUDGE TO TAKE OATH SATURDAY

Joseph A. Richardson, newly-appointed judge of County Court, will be sworn in Saturday at 9:45 a. m. in the assignment room.

The oath will be administered by Presiding Judge Richard A. Kennedy. The commission will be presented by Attorney John A. Wendt, senior member of the law firm of which Judge Richardson is a member.

He fills the vacancy caused by election of Judge M. A. Musmanno to Common Pleas Court.

Inspecting Vote Machines

Wabash Purchase Off, New Tunnels Planned

County Planning Commission, adding:

"I am in favor of this proposal or any other, just so Allegheny County gets the $31,000,000 which is coming to us. This county pays more federal taxes than many states and yet hasn't received a penny of public works money."

It was pointed out that the Wabash proposal was set aside because it necessitated an intricate system of ramps and is considered obsolete by some engineers. While the new proposal would cost "considerably" more than the $4,300,000 for the Wabash tubes and bridge, it would be cheaper in the end for the county, authorities pointed out.

Yesterday City Council by unanimous vote suggested that federal funds be used only for new projects. While the purchase of the Wabash Bridge and tunnel was not mentioned, it was considered their purchase was being opposed in the resolution.

ROUTE OUTLINED

The Allegheny County Authority, which will administer the funds, would be permitted to receive 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials on the new proposition as an outright grant from the government, whereas none of the $3,000,000 Wabash purchase price could be obtained in this manner.

The new tunnel would enter Duquesne Heights at a point a few hundred feet east of the Point Bridge and parallel the Wabash tunnel and would be practically the same length, according to specifications.

Under the new plan, the bridge would be a complete counterpart of Point Bridge and would match it in designs, size and cost. At the southern end it would clear the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie tracks. On the northern side it would carry traffic over Water street, with an easy grading bringing traffic to Liberty avenue level at the intersection of Second avenue.

RAMPS PROPOSED

A ramp on the west side would connect directly with the approach to the Point Bridge from Water street. A system of ramps at the south end of the tunnel would connect with Sawmill Run boulevard and converging thoroughfares.

The new setup, it is declared, would shorten the driving time to the South Hills by nearly 10 minutes by avoiding traffic downtown. It would be thoroughly practical as a self-liquidating project, Washington engineers say, as experience in other cities is cited to prove that suburban drivers will readily agree to pay a monthly toll in order to avoid traffic congestion and save time.

Drivers who get out of town with an uninterrupted speed save more than the toll through use of less gasoline, it is contended. Monthly or annual toll tickets attached to the cars would give the daily users the right of way and save them interruption, under the proposal. Those paying toll by the trip would drive in another lane.

PROPOSALS MADE

Approval already has been given by the engineering staff of PWA to the applications of the county and they are now before the legal staff in Washington, according to Churchill B. Mehard, assistant county solicitor and a member of the Commissioners' committee that has been pushing the proposals.

Proposals have been made in four applications:

1—Homestead bridge and Allegheny River bridge at Highland Park.

2—Wabash tunnel (including alternative plan), wharf improvement, grade separation at south end of the Liberty Tubes, Banksville road improvements and extension of Sawmill Run boulevard.

3—North Park swimming pool and lake.

4—Rankin bridge, Dravosburg bridge, McKeesport bridge, Jerome avenue improvement, and Glenwood bridge.

A nucleus organization of 10 designing engineers is now at work in the Planning Commission office under E. L. Schmidt, rechecking original estimates placed on the various application items.

M'NAIR TO BACK MRS. SMITH ON BUDGET

Mayor William N. McNair has thrown the full weight of his influence behind the economy plans of Mrs. R. Templeton Smith.

City Council for the most part appears ready to listen to the Mayor's budget aide—and to consider her recommendations.

The first direct opposition to taking advice from persons other than city officials came officially yesterday from Councilman John J. Kane, who said:

"The position I intend to take is that I will accept the recommendations of department heads. I will refuse to take any recommendations from others."

When Mayor McNair heard of that, he said:

"Mrs. Smith will go ahead and submit her recommendations. They will bear my indorsement. If Council does not want to recognize her, what can I do? That is Council's business, not mine."

OFFICIALS CONSULTED

Meanwhile Mrs. Smith and the auditor, M. C. Conick were spending a busy day interviewing officials of the Health and Welfare Departments, and preparing more suggestions.

Council after brief conferences with several of the directors, decided to take up the budget January 18. Approximately $2,100,000 must be slashed to balance it.

It was plain that other members of Council would not go along with Kane on non-recognition of Mrs. Smith.

William A. Magee said he would consider the recommendations, but wants to see them all together so he can determine their effect.

G. O. P. TO 'LISTEN'

The Republican Councilmen indicated they will listen to Mrs. Smith's plans.

City Solicitor Cornelius D. Scully has asked for a week in which to prepare a report on the cost and practicability of a rate case against bus and taxicab concerns.

Scully also was told that Council expects him to get in touch with the banks to ascertain their attitude toward the bonds issued by the city against delinquent taxes. Scully said informal conversations already have indicated that the banks will be agreeable.

Mob Threatens Youth Held in 14 Attacks

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—More than 200 men and women crowded about a police station today as George Armsted, 20-year-old Negro was given a hearing on charges of attempting to attack 14 women.

Armstead was held without bail for further hearing Saturday. The crowd attempted to gain admittance to the station house, and the magistrate ordered the hearing room cleared. Several men shook fists at Armstead, and a few were heard to mutter threats.

MAGEE INSISTS UTILITIES CITE VALUATIONS

Pittsburgh's public utilities should be asked to furnish the city solicitor with statements of valuations on which their rates are based, according to Councilman William A. Magee.

In case the information is refused, Magee suggested today that the Public Service Commission be asked to bring pressure to bear on the corporations that Magee says can have no secrets from the public.

Recently, in Council, Magee referred to talk of a rate case costing the city at least half a million dollars as a false idea, and said he would propose a plan under which the city might carry on its litigation at much less expense.

A number of rate cases were conducted by the city during Magee's two administrations as Mayor.

MAGEE STATEMENT

In a statement explaining his plan, Magee said:

"This city has wasted very large sums of money in the past in rate suits against utility companies. I cannot recall a single case in which the city was sustained. This was because a preliminary investigation of the facts had not been made."

He then explained that a rate case depends almost entirely upon the question of the value of the company's property. In other cases brought by the city, two or three years were spent by the city finding the valuation. In one case, he recalled, the city spent $250,000 for engineering accounting and legal expenses. The company won the case, and the consumers paid the bill for both sides.

He said:

FACTS AVAILABLE

"All this is wrong. The company has all the facts in its possession, and the city, representing the consumers, is morally entitled to know what all these facts are in advance of any rate suit. There is no reason why a utility company should have any secrets from the public, since it is a public agency enjoying privileges in the form of franchises and, in normal times, practically guaranteed a fair return of 7 or 8 per cent by law."

He suggested that the city Law Department be authorized to request data from the Philadelphia Company, the South Pittsburgh Water Company, the Pennsylvania Water Company, the Peoples Gas Company, the Parmelee Company and other utilities.

He pointed out that in a rate case the figures which the Public Service Commission considers are taken from the records of the public service company and that to get these figures from the companies would save several years of expensive work by accountants, engineers and clerks.

Henry Offered Safety Chief Job; 'Considering' It

Mayor McNair and the man he defeated for the mayoralty nomination, John M. Henry, were closeted together for 20 minutes today in the Mayor's office.

The Mayor offered Henry the troublesome post of public safety director, it was understood.

But, after the meeting, Henry reluctantly said he was "considering the job."

Henry's appointment would probably not be any more pleasing to the Democratic bosses, David L. Lawrence and Joseph F. Guffey, than that of James F. Malone, who was the favorite of McNair and M. L. Benedum for the job until Council indicated it would not confirm the appointment.

Kirch Quits Post In Works Bureau

Leo J. Kirch resigned today as chief clerk in the Public Works Department to take another position. His resignation was understood to have been forced by the McNair administration. Kirch is Republican chairman of the Fifteenth Ward. His successor is John McCaffrey, of 2017 Broadway.

ALEXIS, BRIDE READY TO SAIL

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Parted on their 'round-the-world honeymoon, the Prince and Princess Alexis Mdivani, if all goes well, sail from widely-separated Pacific ports today for a reunion in far-away Yokohama.

Prince Alexis has passage aboard the transpacific liner Hikawa Maru, sailing from here at noon. His princess, the former Barbara Hutton $40,000,000 heiress, has an elaborate suite on the liner Tatsuta Maru, sailing from San Francisco at 4 p. m.

Mdivani, who left his bride at Reno, Nev., to detour around California and a waiting process server, said he looks forward to meeting the princess again at Yokohama "in just 16 days."

Prince Alexis said he considered the impending grand theft trial of his brothers, Serge and David, in Los Angeles, for which he was sought as a witness, "utter nonsense."

The brothers' oil company operations brought them in conflict with the law.

Bank Cashier Held In $35,000 Fraud

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Alleged by Department of Justice agents to have engaged in "deals" involving a million dollars, Robert Ellsworth Lowe, 38, former cashier of the Teaneck (N. J.) National Bank, was arrested here today on charges of embezzling $35,000 in violation of the national bank act.

GRAHAM SUPERCHARGER STARTLES NEW YORK'S AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Three features causing most talk among crowds viewing new cars

Supercharged Graham soon on display here

New York, Jan. 10.—The introduction by Graham of the first moderately priced car equipped with Supercharger is the sensation of the New York Automobile Show, which opened Saturday at Grand Central Palace.

The three features which are causing most talk among the crowds viewing the exhibits are the Graham Supercharger, the universal trend toward streamlining, and the tendency to break away from the conventional type of spring suspension.

Automotive engineers are startled by Graham's achievement in making Supercharged performance available to motorists in general. The Supercharging principle is in general use in airplane engines, but its adaptation to the popular-priced motor car is the automobile news of the year.

It was pointed out at the New York Show that Graham's tendency to pioneer is also evident with respect to the other two newsworthy features of the exhibit—streamlining, and departures from conventional spring suspension.

Two years ago, Graham started the streamlining trend which now dominates motor car design throughout the industry. The sweep of line in the 1934 Graham shows that its designers have attained a new degree of refinement in this respect.

And while a number of cars this year are exhibiting new types of springing, Graham departed from the conventional type of spring suspension two years ago. Instead of mounting the chassis frame over the springs, the frame is cradled between the springs. By thus lowering the center of gravity, sidesway is eliminated and riding comfort is greatly improved. This year Graham's outboard springs are longer, giving better riding comfort than ever before.

Other cities will soon have a chance to see the Graham Supercharger and the new Graham cars at their local automobile shows.

SON OF JOHN D. SUED BY N. Y. REALTY KING

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A ten million dollar suit aimed at John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and associates, is the latest evidence of the titanic struggle to fill vast empty spaces in the cloud-capped towers for which Manhattan is famous.

The legal action re-emphasizes the troubles which—since the advent of the business slump — have beset the men who etched their pinnacles of steel and stone against the New York sky.

The suit—one of the strangest that ever issued from the real estate marts—is brought by August Heckscher, 85-year-old multimillionaire and philanthropist. He has been called one of the largest—if not actually the largest—individual holders of real estate in New York.

COMPETITION!

Unfair competition is the burden of his complaint. He charges in papers filed yesterday that Rockefeller Center, gigantic amusement and business center built on Fifth avenue in the fifties, has been luring or coercing tenants away from his skyscrapers in the Grand Central zone to the newer skyscrapers of Rockefeller Center.

Specifically, he says Rockefeller agents induced tenants to ignore their present leases and move to Rockefeller Center, either by payment of money or by assuming the leases and later offering the acquired spaces at rentals lower than those the owner had established.

He also charges Rockefeller associates are compelling businesses in which they have interests to vacate leases and move to Rockefeller Center. Finally, he says, small shops, because of depopulation of buildings in which they have been located, have been forced to follow the lead of other tenants and move to the Rockefeller properties.

MUSHROOM GROWTH

The mushroom growth of the skyscraper—a form of building which has its critics as well as its advocates among architects, planners and other experts—was in full swing when the turn of the business cycle sent the real estate market tobogganing.

Thousands of offices began to empty under the impact of the crash. Matters were complicated as new, bigger and taller buildings, started or projected toward the end of the boom, reached completion. The completion of the big brother of them all—the Empire State Building of which Alfred E. Smith is head—threw more skyscraper space on an already glutted market.

Then along came Rockefeller Center, with a whole group of skyscrapers and shorter buildings. The struggle to rent space tended to intensify.

Observers are divided as to the future of the skyscraper idea in America. Some have contended it has about reached its peak development, and that the trend will be toward shorter, different buildings distributed over larger areas. Others, like Smith, foresee more and more skyscrapers, if not actually loftier ones.

Physicians Cleared In 'Sales' of Babies

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities, said yesterday the Tulsa County Medical Association board of censors had exonerated two Tulsa physicians cited by her for alleged "baby sales."

She said the board recommended doctors refrain from placing babies for adoption. In Tulsa, she said, babies of unwed mothers were placed with foster parents upon payment of $75 and $100 fees.

PARIS RENEWS RIOTING OVER STAVISKY

PARIS, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Cane-swinging Royalists and police clashed outside the Chamber of Deputies today while the legislators debated charges of widespread corruption in the collapse of the Bayonne pawnshop of the late Serge Stavisky.

The scandal storm broke full force on the government of Premier Camille Chautemps in the Chamber of Deputies.

The cabinet went before the chamber and sought to avert its overthrow by a frank admission of "faults and negligence" and promises of drastic reforms and punishments in police and judicial procedure.

Deputies opposing the government charged that corruption in the government, in the parliament and in the press enabled Serge "Handsome Alex" Stavisky, who killed himself Monday when police caught him, to fleece the public of more than $40,000,000. Royalist papers charged he was "executed" to seal his lips.

Stavisky had founded the Municipal Pawnshop of Bayonne, and disappeared three weeks ago leaving it without assets.

The spectators' galleries were jammed as the Premier himself faced the chamber and demanded "the complete truth" of the Bayonne affair which, he said, "was paralyzing the country and threatening the Republican regime."

He said the government was ready to explain its share in the affair, but cautioned the deputies not to drag the names of innocent persons through the mud.

Death Empties Home Rented For Rose

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—A dwelling rented annually for one red rose will soon be vacant.

The lease had ended today with the death of Mrs. George L. C. Drovin, who was 87. She paid the rental to her son, George Albert Drovin, Philadelphia attorney and owner of the property, on the first of June when roses in her garden were at the height of their loveliness.

Freeport Woman Victim of Burns

Mrs. Catherine Graven, 22, of 158 Worthington street, Freeport, died last night in Allegheny Valley Hospital, at Tarentum, from burns suffered January 1 when her clothing ignited from an open gas stove, according to the coroner's report.

DUTCH AROUSED BY BEHEADING

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Amid expressions of disappointment and surprise from Holland, the German public awaited today President Von Hindenberg's explanation of his refusal to save the life of Marinus Van Der Lubbe.

Van Der Lubbe, 24-year-old Dutch stonemason, was beheaded in Leipzig yesterday for setting fire to the Reichstag Building, despite attempts by the government of Holland to obtain commutation. Dispatches from the Hague said Van Der Lubbe was of unsound mind. Van Der Lubbe became the fifty-third person beheaded since the Nazis came into power.

GERMAN BISHOP GETS SCOLDING

BERLIN, Jan. 11. — (AP.) — A good old-fashioned scolding to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller was reported to be President Von Hindenburg's attempt to settle a controversy that for more than three months has rent the German Evangelical Church.

The devout and aged President expressed grave concern over Bishop Mueller's dictatorial actions, especially in attempting to dissolve Protestant youth groups and subordinating them to the nonsectarian Hitler Youth Organization.

The dissolution of the Protestant youth also means the disbanding of German Y. W. C. A.'s and Y. M. C. A.'s, it was learned.

President Von Hindenburg's criticism of Dr. Mueller was considered extremely important, especially in view of the "hands off" policy generally pursued by him and Chancellor Hitler in the church fight.

Meanwhile, Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer-Beobachter, warned Catholic clergymen against opposing the government.

Postman, Careful Of Health, Dumps Yuletide Mail

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Accused of dumping about 1,000 pieces of mail into a creek during the Christmas rush instead of delivering it, John R. Hunt, a temporary substitute postman, was arrested yesterday by Postal Inspector Joseph S. Vick, Sr.

Hunt confessed, postal authorities said, that he dumped the mail December 20. It was raining hard and Hunt feared, they said he told them, that he was likely to contract pneumonia if he continued working.

About a bushel of mail was recovered.

2 GIRL 'PEONS' WIN WAGES

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—An unnamed rooming house proprietor must pay $100 and train fare from Cleveland to Dubois, Pa., in order to escape arrest on charges of violating the child labor law in employing Allene Saxton, 15, of Dubois.

Allene's mother protested to Cleveland police that her daughter was receiving only room and board for her labor although she accepted the position for "NRA wages."

An investigation revealed that neither the girl nor her sister, Margaret, 18, was being paid.

Authorities ordered the proprietor to pay the girls $100 and to give the younger sister carfare back to Dubois under threat of arrest. Police said the sum would only compensate the girls at the rate of $3.50 a week.

The dead were: Capts. Charles Hoffman, John Peterson and Edward Ries and Pipeman James Brown.

PACT REACHED BY LAGUARDIA

Universal Service.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11.—Gov. Lehman and Mayor LaGuardia late yesterday arrived at a compromise on the "dictatorial" bill proposed by New York City's chief executive.

The Governor did not retreat from his original stand, that the powers sought by the fusion Mayor should not be reposed in one man. The compromise places that power in New York City's Board of Estimate with certain limitations. LaGuardia agreed to amend his bill.

The compromise was reached after a four-hour conference of the Governor and the Mayor and their advisers.

After making known the conditions of the agreement, the Governor said:

"I advised the Mayor that I could not in any way commit the Legislature with regard to this or any other bill. Under the Constitution, this bill would require a two-thirds vote of all the members of each house. I shall, however, furnish the Mayor with a home rule message. If the bill comes to my desk in the form agreed upon today, I will give it my executive approval."

Living Up to British Title Now Costs More

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(Universal.)—It costs $15,000 today, $2,500 more than a year ago, to live up to a British title.

This figure was given validity by Surrogate Foley yesterday. On the plea that American dollars have depreciated in relation to British pounds, he granted an increase of from $12,500 to $15,000 in the allowances of the son and daughter of Lord Decies.

Fishermen Saved, Adrift Three Days

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Three Waukegan fishermen, sought since Tuesday on Lake Michigan, today were brought to safety by Coast Guardsmen from Kenosha.

The men, none the worse for the harrowing experience, were Capt. Frank Reckendorf, 52; Jack Johnson, 62, both of Waukegan, and Ernest Peters, 30, of Zion, Ill.

Quake in Greece Demolishes Homes

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—An earthquake shook Calmata in the Greek peloponnesus this morning, demolishing two houses and seriously damaging 10 others.

There were no casualties, but the inhabitants were panic-stricken.

Secret Building Process Dies With Inventor

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 11.—(AP.) — Albert Schanandoah died in a hospital last night, and with him died the secret of turning into a useful building product the limestone refuse of the Solvay Process Company, tons of which have been deposited for many years on the outskirts of Syracuse.

Nothing had been known which would make the waste material stick together until Schanandoah, in the presence of scientists at Cornell University, perfected his method about two years ago. With his formula he could turn the waste into building material lighter but harder than brick.

Schanandoah was denied a patent because he would not divulge one of the principal ingredients in the formula, and so far as is known he never recorded the formula in writing.

Schanandoah was an Oneida Indian.

PENNA. BANKS LEAD IN FUND INSURANCE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Individual bank accounts numbering 54 million in 13,431 institutions in every section of the United States have been insured up to $2,500 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Chairman Walter J. Cummings announced today.

This was held as certain to have a reassuring effect both upon public sentiment and upon business generally, according to Cummings.

One per cent of the number of banks which applied for membership in the insurance found, or 141, failed to qualify.

Pennsylvania led in the number of banks holding membership in the temporary fund with 983. Other leaders included New York, 891; Illinois, 838; Texas, 815; Minnesota, 646; Ohio, 634; Wisconsin, 578, and Missouri, 559.

Unless state banking authorities decide to eliminate their examinations of financial institutions members of the insurance fund operating under state charter will be subjected to a dual examination.

Cummings explained that to the corporation is delegated the responsibility of the examination of banks to assure their maintenance on a sound basis. This important matter cannot be left to the states, he said. Non-member banks of the Federal Reserve System, in the past, have been subjected to no federal examination.

MANVILLE BACK WITH WIFE NO. 4

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Tommy Manville, Jr., yesterday removed the asbestos covering of his family's millions and melted back into the arms of his "dream girl" wife No. 4, from whom he separated Sunday.

At the Manville estate, bordering Long Island Sound, the butler, asked if Mr. or Mrs. Manville were home, said:

"Yes, yes, they are."
"They?"
"Exactly, sir."

This was the only intimation of a reconciliation. All that could be learned was that Manville had come home early in the morning. But everything about the house, even the butler, was smiling.

Mrs. Manville is the former Marcelle Edwards, of the stage.

JUNIOR PATROL

Sometimes letters get misplaced, fellows!

If your letter isn't printed in the Mail Box right away don't be discouraged. Keep on looking for it. We have only so much space and we get many letters. We will use yours just as soon as we can.

Now here's of the best letters ever from Olive Mary Furlong, of Seventh street, West Elizabeth, Pa. She writes:

"I am the captain of a Junior Patrol club. My club and I like to obey your rule; so we bought presents for a poor family. We had $2.50. We bought many presents for them. We will try to help again too. I would like to have my armband. I am a captain and read the Junior Patrol every night in the paper. We haven't got a radio or I would listen, but I hope I will have one soon. Please send my armband quickly."

We wish we could send you that armband right away, Olive, but you did not send pledges for your 10 members. Are they already members of the Junior Patrol? Then just send a list of their badge numbers, so that we will know who they are. That was wonderful of you and your club to give presents with your money.

Sylvia Rosenson, of 1012 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, sends in nine pledges. She says that her sister, Sylvia Rosenson, can sing and would like to sing over the Junior Patrol radio program. Fine and dandy—send us some more news.

We have a letter today, too, from Catharine Moore, of Bridgeville, Pa., and she sends us the name of 11 friends who are members of her Junior Patrol. But she did not send any pledges, or name who is captain.

And James Hackett, of 5214 Dresden way, Pittsburgh, writes that his oldest brother is the captain of a patrol and that all his sisters belong to the Junior Patrol, too. James has lost his own pin and card and wants another one. Just send a new pledge slip, James, and we will send you one. Tell your brother to send us the pledges for his members, and we will send him an armband.

FINE EXHIBITION OF MELCHERS' ART OPENS

By PENELOPE REDD

A comprehensive exhibition of the work of Gari Melchers is presented at Carnegie Institute today to be on view until February 18.

Miss Redd

The collection illustrates how official reputations are made. Tracing the course which Gari Melchers elected to follow, one finds his natural facility for painting leading him along the primrose path of immediate success. His huge "machines" with which the painters of the eighties fought for place and space in the European salons are forced in sentiment. "The Last Supper" and "The Communion" represent the fashion of the times for transmitting to the observer a vivacious spiritual sensation.

Melchers frequently painted the mother and child subject, using Dutch peasant models. Again he appropriated an apparent spiritual significance from the traditional aura surrounding this theme.

Evidently towards the end of his long life, Gari Melchers was less aware of the constant pressure of competition in the exhibitions. In many of the paintings done in Virginia, he worried less about making huge and striking canvases with their attendant thinness of motivation. He relaxed sufficiently to paint occasionally moderate sized pictures compact in composition and sincere in feeling. These intimate what a potentially noble artist was lost in the making of the successful painter, Gari Melchers.

Despite the futility of speculation upon the effect of his almost life-long voluntary exile abroad on his art, one remembers that Gari Melchers worked in France as an unconscious contemporary of one of the most glorious groups in art history. His less ostentatious paintings in his final years, suggest the conclusion that America might have been his aesthetic salvation.

Win Estate of Kin They Branded Thief

POTTSVILLE, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The estate of John Leach, of Sheppton, by decree of the Schuylkill Orphans Court goes to the family in Poland which he left in 1888 after they had accused him of stealing from them.

Leach conducted a barber shop in Sheppton and died apparently penniless. Workmen tearing down the shop removed a barber's chair and $5,797 fell out of the base.

The regular school faculty will arrange and supervise the tests. Only those students receiving a minimum grade of 80 per cent will be considered.

EXILED RULER SEEKS THRONE

NANKING, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The Panchen Lama, former spiritual leader of Buddhist Tibet, is planning to regain his lost domains as a result of the death last month of the Dalai Lama who exiled him.

Advices from Pailingmiao said the deposed chieftain sent word to the Nationalist government that he will come here to discuss the possibility of succeeding to rulership to Tibet.

In 1924 the Dalai Lama, temporal head of the nation, accused the Panchen Lama of plotting with foreign powers, drove him out of the country and usurped his prerogatives as spiritual dictator.

Reports that a successor to the Dalai Lama had been found in the outskirts of Lhasa in the form of a new-born child were circulated here today. The baby is supposed to embody the Dalai Lama's reincarnated soul, in conformity with Buddhist tradition.

JAPS PREPARE FOR U. S. WAR, SAYS LEADER

pare for it, and, in fact, we are already preparing for it.

"The Stimson doctrine (non-recognition of territories gained by force, promulgated after Japan's seizure of Manchukuo) remains unchanged despite the Democratic administration in Washington.

"We do not believe that diplomacy will settle the issues and we are determined to prepare for the worst possibilities of an economic and political clash.

"Undue fears are not entertained regarding our Navy's status. Nothing can frighten our nation if we are determined to fight to the last man.

CHALLENGES WHITES

"The geographical formation favors our defenses. No country in the world has a submarine fleet superior to that of Japan.

"The relationship between the United States and Soviet Russia involves a scheme to surround Japan for a military purpose, as proof of which I would point out that the U. S. S. R. is completing preparations for war and concentrating troops and a strong force of bombing planes in the Far East.

"The time has passed when the powers can force us with threats. Any country scheming with such a psychology will find itself greatly mistaken.

"If the whites consider themselves superior we must fight them. In the problem of whites versus yellows lies the greatest obstacle to smoothing out Japan's diplomatic relations.

"World envy parallels the steady rise of the Japanese in world affairs. Heretofore the whites felt themselves privileged.

TRADE WAR CERTAIN

"The entire issues involved transcend diplomacy. Anglo-Japanese competition in cotton is responsible for today's deplorable diplomacy, likewise America's eagerness for China trade as well as our own ideas for the development of Manchuria place agreements between America and Japan in the darkest light.

"We build warships. It is not difficult to produce airplanes and automobiles. And a trade war between Japan and America is inevitable.

"Prior to the Washington conference, Japan was quiet. America has prepared for war on the eve of the 1935 conference. America better prepare herself by concentrating her vessels in the San Francisco zone.

CRISIS IN 1935

"Some are anxious over our defenses from the viewpoint of the possibility of an air attack and over the alleged inferiority of the Japanese navy compared with that of the United States.

"I do not entertain such fears. Our combined air force is sufficiently strong and numerically equal to others. Three air fleets may surround Japan and attack from Formosa, from the sea and from the north. I anticipate the presence of a great enemy fleet in the Pacific with a superior air force.

"Such facts as are developing will probably be precipitated in 1935 when the powers are scheduled to discuss naval matters. If the powers limit the defense rights of Japan, there will be no concession on the subject of a armament equality.

"The year 1935 coincides with our actual withdrawal from the League of Nations. We will not return the mandated islands only at the cost of war, and if the powers attempt to snatch them from Japan, a clash is inevitable.

"Some people say that the naval treaty brings peace. I do not subscribe to that view, as a mutually satisfactory treaty has not been concluded, and any time that a naval treaty does not bring peace it does not reduce financial burdens.

"If the Occidentals will throw off their assumed superiority and regard all human beings, irrespective of color, as their equals, then there will be real world peace."

DUCE EYES JAP TRADE INROAD

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service.

ROME, Jan. 11.—While the formidable economic competition offered by Japan in Africa and elsewhere has been occupying the attention of Premier Mussolini for some time, Italy plans no special budgetary outlays to cope with it, International News Service learned on reliable authority today.

The extent of Japanese commercial penetration in Africa was revealed recently with the disclosure that the Far Eastern empire had made great strides in trade dealings with Abyssinia, heretofore considered an Italian market because of its proximity to Eritrea, an Italian colony.

Chinese Nationalists Advance on Rebels

PEKING, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Government troops were less than eight miles from Foochow today, where 10,000 rebels have been ordered to fight or lose their heads.

Withdrawal of these forces under Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai is foreseen, however, together with their merger with the Kiangsi Red Army.

Jap Army Chiefs Reveal Russian War Preparation

TOKIO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Startling details of Soviet military preparations along the Manchurian border were officially published today by the Japanese army as it began a nation-wide campaign to warn the public of the menace of war with the U. S. S. R.

In support of its allegations, the Imperial Army started distribution of a map throughout the island empire. In color, it vividly illustrates the Soviety Army and naval positions in Oriental Russia.

The detailed map shows the distribution of 10 Soviet infantry divisions, totaling 150,000 men, and two complete divisions of cavalry. It reveals the airports where 400 Soviet military airplanes are quartered, including 60 heavy bombers.

STANDS IN FORTRESSES

Three hundred armored tanks are included in the motorized portion of the Soviet Siberian Army, according to the map.

The army figures give 15,000 as the number of G. P. U. (Soviet Secret Service) men operating on the Manchurian and inner Mongolian border, on the lookout for spies.

Ten to 15 submarines are being constructed for use at Vladivostok and large airports are located at both Vladivostok port and Harbarovsk junction of the Amur and Sungari rivers, the Japanese map indicates.

The Soviet army in main is shown as stationed behind heavy fortresses in eight cities.

CHINESE WARNED

The Yomiuri newspaper in a headline today says:

"A fence of red guns encircles Manchukuo. Our army propagandizing can inform the Japanese that Manchuria is in danger of a war attack by the Soviets."

Meanwhile, information here reveals that the office of the Japanese military attache at Peiping, China, is included in the departments engaged in the campaign of warning.

Official statements by the Japanese army representative there, given out in Chinese, warns the Chinese that they must remain at least neutral in case of a Japanese conflict with a third power, and should preferably put their resources at the disposal of Japan.

SOVIET ENVOY URGES PEACE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Soviet Russia, through its new envoy, Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky, today had made a strong bid for the support of American influence to help maintain world peace, especially in the Far East.

Evidencing the seriousness with which the Soviets view the danger of a conflict with Japan, Troyanovsky, in his first interview with the press here, laid great stress upon the urgent necessity of striving for peace at this time.

Indicating Soviet Russia might seek a non-aggression pact with the United States for the moral effect such an understanding would have on "other nations," Troyanovsky said that, although this question had not been discussed yet, it might be in the future.

Russian, Japanese Will Speak Here

Maj. Gen. Victor A. Yakhontoff, formerly of the Russian Imperial Army, and Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, Japanese author and lecturer, will discuss the New Balance of Power in the Pacific at the January 19 meeting of the Pittsburgh branch of the Foreign Policy Association. It will be held at the Hotel Schenley. Dr. Thomas S. Baker, of Carnegie Tech, will preside.

ATTACK ON U. S. BY JAPANESE DOUBTED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—American officials today were stunned by the declaration of the commander-in-chief of the imperial Japanese Navy that Japan is actually preparing for war with the United States.

"Militarism run wild," was how one high official described the declaration of Vice-Admiral Nobumasa Suetsugu, commander-in-chief of the combined fleets of Japan, that the Japanese Empire was preparing for war with this country.

DOUBT ATTACK

The geenral belief in State and Navy Department circles was that the Japanese naval commander's statement was designed to increase thef ears of the Japanese people in order to assure support for the enormous sums which Japan is expending on her Army and Navy.

Doubt was expressed that Japan actually attempt to attack the United States or its possessions.

Vice Admiral Suetsugu's appeal to racial prejudice in his declaration was regarded as "deplorable."

CHARGE HIT

His charge that the relations between the United States and Soviet Russia involved a "scheme to surround Japan for a military purpose" was described as "ridiculous."

It was admitted this government hoped American recognition of Soviet Russia would, among other things, help to have a steadying influence on the threat to peace in the Far East, but it was said nothing in the nature of a miltary understanding was ever considered.

In naval circles Vice Admiral Suetsugu's declaration was described as "unmistakable evidence" why this nation should maintain a treaty strength navy.

British Reinforcing Troops in Far East

TOKIO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Strong British reinforcements for Singapore and Hongkong are reported in Japanese army information published by the newspaper Asahi today.

Twenty additional military planes are joining the 110 military fliers at Singapore, the newspaper says. Anti-aircraft guns are being erected and the Hongkong airfield is being fitted out with lights to aid planes from Singapore.

Barracks are being built to house four new battalions, due from England, the newspaper adds.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

Saves Big Dollars! No Cooking!

Millions of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough medicine, they get a purer, more effective remedy. They use a recipe which costs only one-fourth as much as ready-made medicine, but which really has no equal for breaking up obstinate coughs.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and one cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and makes the most effective remedy that money could buy. Keeps perfectly, and children love its taste.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, clearing the air passages, and soothing away the inflammation, has caused it to be used in more homes than any other cough remedy.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Patricia Pitt

By PATRICIA PITT

With the holiday season with its myriad events over for another year, school societies are now taking advantage of the comparatively free social calendar to hold annual sessions.

The Farmington Alumnae had their get-together yesterday at a luncheon in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. What struck me most at the luncheon was an interesting style note—shiny black leather trimmed the woolen dresses of some of the smartest Farmingtonites.

Marie Louise Bickford's costume was ever so smart—of black wool with wide wings over the shoulders of the leather with a leather belt and a row of leather buttons marching down the front of the blouse. And her hat, of black felt, was also leather decked. Mrs B. F. Jones, III, wore a blue crepe dress with a black leather belt wth a leather flower to accent the neckline.

Winter's Debs Attend Farmington Luncheon

Among the winter's debs there were Virginia Evans and Constance Drake, chatting with post-deb Laura Oliver. Laura's bright emerald green woolen dress was distinguished by an intricate design of fagoting in the skirt, and a white crepe collar. Virginia chose brown wool crepe with an ascot of vivid green velvet and a green hat and Constance's frock was of rust wool with a collar of black and gold striped material.

Chatting with them were deb Peggy Robinson, in black, with crisp, sheer rows of flat, pleated white ruffles around the neck, forming a diamond design in the front, and around the wrists; deb Betsy Liggett in green, and Dorothy Blaxter in brown wool with a cowl neckline of brown satin.

Virginia Willock, in gray wool, was chatting with Mrs. William A. Gordon III, who wore a two-piece costume, having a skirt of black jersey and sweater of wide bands of red, black and gray, and with Phyllis Totten, who chose a red crepe dress, distinguished by a collar of black and gold barred taffeta, tied in ascot effect.

Diagonally Striped, Belted Sweater Worn

Mrs. John W. Lawrence wore with her brown skirt a long, belted sweater of brown and yellow diagonal stripes with a twisted coil of yellow yarn and a large yellow tassel adorning the neckline. Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., chose pistachio green wool combined with satin in the same shade. John B. Drew wore red wool, and sitting on her chair arm chatting was Mrs. G. G. Blackburn, in olive green wool.

Mrs. J. Henry O'Neill was in blue crepe, Mrs. J. Shirley Austin in brown wool, and Mrs. William Standish III, in an unusual color combination—a skirt of rust-red, a blouse of brilliant Chinese blue crepe, and hat to match her skirt. Virginia Drake was there, too, in brown, and Mrs. F. C. Irish.

Federation President Announces Change

Mrs. George Singer Ebbert, who's president of the Federation of Girls' Schools Societies—of which Farmington is a member—announced that the Federation's annual luncheon January 31 will be at the Hotel Schenley instead of at the Twentieth Century Club, the usual place.

Mrs. W. Eugene Gary and Mrs. Paul B. Ernst will be in charge of the federation luncheon.

Farmington re-elected Phyllis Totten as president, and elected Mrs. J. L. D. Painter, vice president; deb Peggy Robinson, recording secretary, and Marie Louise Bickford, corresponding secretary.

Stage Society to Give Three One-Act Plays

At the Stage and Play production—the second of the season—on February 6, in the Twentieth Century Club, as usual, there'll be three one-act plays.

Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby and Mrs. William S. Moorhead will be in charge of Booth Tarkington's "Trysting Place." Harold Geoghegan, of Lady Gregory's "The Workhouse Ward," and Mrs. H. A. Machesney, of the third play.

The George W. Wyckoffs—she was Betty McKay, the charming bride of Saturday—have sailed from Baltimore for Jacksonville, Fla.

And some more newlywed news—the Joseph Wood Olivers are expected in Pittsburgh Sunday. The bride, who has many friends here, is the former Edwina Rickrell, of Louisville, Ky.

The John H. Nicholsons, of Shady avenue, plan to leave Friday morning for Miami Beach.

St. Mary of Mount Alumni To Give Three-Act Play

Saint Mary of the Mount Alumni will present "Funny Phinnie," a three-act comedy, January 31 and February 1 in the school auditorium, Grandview avenue and Bigham street, Mt. Washington.

William J. McMullen, chairman of the committee in charge, will be assisted by Miss Bessie Walsh, Miss Rose Recktenwald, Miss Genevieve McCormick, Miss Mary Cannon, Miss Marcella Gardner, Miss Margaret Powers, Miss Antoinette Miller, Miss Mary Harrington, Miss Helen McKeever, J. E. Wallace, and R. J. Dowd.

Grace Minch, Bride-Elect To Be Honored at Bridge

Miss Geneiva A. Looach, of Feree street, Coraopolis, will entertain Saturday afternoon in her home with eight tables of bridge in honor of Miss Grace Minch, daughter of George Minch, of Ridge avenue, Coraopolis, who will marry E. M. Bachtell on February 17.

Bradford Woods Woman To Meet With President

The Bradford Woods Woman's Club will hold the first meeting of the new year in the home of the newly-elected president, Mrs. F. L. Barnhart, this evening, Mrs. E. H. Jackson assisting.

Announcements Made of Two Betrothals

Two engagements are being announced today, one of a Squirrel Hill girl to a St. Louis boy, and of a Uniontown girl to a Carrick man.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Ludebuehl, of Beacon street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Louise Ludebuehl, to Joseph Willard Early, son of Mrs. Frank E. Early, of St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Ludebuehl is a graduate of Pennsylvania College for Women and her fiance was graduated from Washington University, St. Louis.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Olive Hurst, of Uniontown, of the betrothal of her daughter, Miss Ruth Georgia Hurst, to Clinton A. Weslager, of Carrick.

Miss Hurst is a graduate of Indiana State Teachers' College and has taught in the Uniontown schools for several years. Her fiance is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh.

B'nai B'rith Auxiliary President's Day Jan. 29

Outstanding Speakers To Address Congress Quarterly Meeting

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Congress of Clubs members and those of affiliated clubs will find it distinctly worth while to attend the Congress quarterly meeting on Monday. It's to be an all-day session, of course, Mrs. Oliver J. Haller opening it at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. A. B. Wright, dean of Duquesne University, will be the first speaker and he's going to have "The Future of Gold," an explanation of the monetary system, as his subject.

The second speaker scheduled for the morning is John Paulding, Chicago painter and sculptor, who created "The Sculpticolor—The Doctor" which was on display at the Century of Progress Exposition. He will discuss this new three-dimension combination of sculpture and painting. Mr. Paulding has done considerable sculpture for public buildings and portraits for public memorials. He won the Mrs. John C. Shaffer prize for sculpture in 1927 and his latest work is a medal of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Equally promising is the afternoon program, on which will be Capt. Kilroy Harris, Australian author of "Kangaroo Land" and "Outback in Australia." His subject which is to be illustrated, is "In the Australian Bush." Capt. Harris has traveled more than 5,000 miles on horseback and equally far in a one-horse buggy through Australian back country. Incidentally, it is interesting to know that he was decorated on four separate occasions for gallantry during the World War.

Elsie Breese Mitchell will direct assembly singing for which Mrs. Lulu B. Parker will accompany.

Cathedral Chapel Film Group Chosen

The women's committee of the Cathedral Chapel, Oakland, appointed by the chaplain, the Rev. F. A. Atkinson, for the performances of the film, "The Voice of Ireland," to be given Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings at Catholic High School, includes Mrs. Charles Connors, Miss Margaret Cassidy, Mrs. Salvatore D'Ambrosio, Mrs. Anna McTighe Ruckman and Miss Catherine Varley. The picture, which was made entirely in Ireland, is the first sound and color film from the Emerald Isle.

The committee members will be reception aides on Sunday afternoon, when several hundred teaching sisters from parish schools are guests at a private view of the film.

P. C. W. Alumnae Teas to Honor Seniors

A series of three teas has been arranged by the Pennsylvania College for Women Alumnae Association, honoring the senior girls at the college. The teas are set for January 13, 17 and 20, the first to take place at the home of Mrs. A. S. F. Keister in Kinsman road.

Mrs. Howard Beatty Smith, president of the association, will be hostess for the second affair at her home in Murdoch street, and Mrs. George Wilmer Martin, of Pitcairn place, will have the third at her home.

The assimilation committee will provide a program of music and readings as well as "mixer games" that will give the alumnae and their guests an opportunity to become acquainted.

On this committee are Miss Sarah Stevenson, Miss Ruth Ludebuhl, Miss Betty Graham, Miss Jessie Marsh, Miss Gertrude Oetting, Mrs. Martha Bradshaw Stout, Miss Dorothy Floyd, Miss Doris Bushnell, Miss Betty Rankin and Mrs. Ruth Gokey Walters.

PRINTS POINT TO SPRING

Splashes of white relieve the inky black of the crepe frock, above. Two clusters of red cherries trim it.

The larger woman who does not feel quite comfortable in an all-print frock will find compensations in the slightly Russian silk frock above, which uses a bright print to lengthen the waistline and for the rolling collar.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THE UBIQUITOUS print frock is back again, in light Dresden colors for Southern resorts, in brighter or darker tones for those who play about in snow and ice.

Everything from tiny nosegays to geometrical designs that smack of Fair Isle is being used as a source of designs, and the pastels of Mme. Pompadour are no smarter than the raw, vital colors of Mexico.

* * *

THE PRINT SUIT is back, a swell buy for wear beneath one's fur coat when headed for an afternoon of contract in the North, and just as good to wear with a fur neckpiece to the races at sunny resorts.

Evening gowns, both formal and of dinner persuasion, are being made again from crepes printed in huge floral designs, and the short matching evening jacket seems to be in high favor once more.

* * *

OLD-FASHIONED CHALLIS, that prim, sheer woolen stuff, is staging a comeback in quaint prints, very much Little Women. Made with long sleeves or short, models in this material are practical as well as pretty, and they come well within the average budget.

Print fabric accessories are on the up and up, with matching hat, hand bag, and scarf sets offered in a great variety of designs for wear with plain color light or dark gowns.

Charles A. McClintic is in charge of feature entertainment at the ball.

Others at the luncheon, all members of the executive committee or heads of committees, were William M. Duffy, Miss Elizabeth Arbuthnot, James C. Chaplin, B. F. Jones III, Mary Carroll, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. Herbert A. May, Mrs. Lewis A. Park, Mrs. Nathaniel Spear, Mrs. Clarance A. Stanley, Mr. May, Theodore F. Smith, Louise Totten, Mrs. Hall, Mr. McClintic and Mrs. Simon T. Patterson.

Miss O'Connor Arranging Bridge for Tech Alumnae

Miss Anita O'Connor, of Brentwood, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements of the annual Margaret Morrison Alumnae Bridge, to be held Saturday afternoon, February 10, at the Hotel Schenley.

The proceeds of the bridge are used to endow scholarships distributed each year to students of Margaret Morrison Carnegie College.

The members of the committee, who met at an informal tea at the Hotel Schenley Tuesday to discuss plans for the bridge, are Miss Helen Murphy, vice chairman; Miss Harriet Morgan, patronesses; Miss Florence Bechtel, faculty; Miss Charlotte Bailey, candy; Miss Mary Dewalt, tables and tallies; Miss Kathryn Githens, prizes, and Miss Helen Booth, publicity.

Mrs. Loeffler Mt. Lebanon Music Group Hostess

Mrs. A. L. Loeffler will be hostess for tomorrow's meeting of the music department of the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club. Mrs. Edna T. Batz is arranging the program, which includes luncheon at 12:30.

The "dance form" is the text of the day's study and Mrs. Batz will have the paper. Piano selections illustrative of the theme will be given by Mrs. A. L. Volmrich and sextet composed of Mrs. W. H. Kramer, Mrs. D. D. Butler, Mrs. W. K. Estep, Mrs. C. A. Mayfield, Mrs. A. L. Schiel and Mrs. Batz will sing.

Such a song and dance act we have for you today! Somehow or other we found so many items all garnered together in one spot, that we simply encamped ourself and called it a day . . . or rather, a column!

For . . . just as we were cinching up our middle, taking our belt in, the better to hold us together for the time being . . . what should we spy but BELTS! Whole families of belts—to wear with sweaters on through to Southern sport frocks!

We pounced upon one pile of them which were reduced—Lastex yarn "kummerbund"-like affairs to encircle your ribs in practiced manner, and mould your waist. Yellow and brown, or red, white and blue—these. 25c when they were 50c! And right beside them, braided brown wool ones, about an inch-and-a-half wide, for 25c. (Good for sweaters.)

And across the aisle none other than the season's newest—gingham belts—beamed brightly at us. A couple of inches wide . . . intended for the South . . . but most wearable up here too with the right frock. $1.50.

* * *

And now to get our thoughts up above the belt

We think that linen gloves at $1.50 are NEWS (or are WE just benighted!) Anyway . . . these pull-ons of linen, in pastel shades, are just about the nicest Springiest things we've spied in the line of paw coverings. And you know how linen washes and wears! So whether you're going South . . . are merely raising loud lamentations up here because you CAN'T go, a pair of these in your dresser drawer will help.

* * *

So . . . on to give the little gloved hand a handbag. And with the new Mexican models, it's not hard to choose some which will be sure to appeal to you and YOU . . . as well as your friends!

For these babies have grown up with all sorts of chili and paprika, and are the hottest tamales you could wish now for $3 (how's that for being up on our Mexico?) Plaids . . . of finest silk.

And hand in hand with them are the new slip cover bags. Those popular youngsters who were always so practical with their washable and ironable jackets! All pastel shades . . . with embroidery, initals, or pearl-buttoned tabs! $3.

And if you want several sets of contrasting tabs to match dresses—then they're yours for the asking (and 25c each!) We even heard that one woman bought 16 of them! What ho!

* * *

Now to stop holding your hand for the time being . . . shift all eyes to the face above all this.

Because . . . faces need some new attention these days, and we've unearthed a new makeup set which will grace any dressing table!

This swellish little fandangle is blue satin covered . . . looking just like a plain powder box. BUT . . . when Pandora or anyone else lifts the lid . . . lo and behold, your rouge, lip paste and eye shadow all waiting for you! And if you take off the entire top, there is your powder, a whole $1.50 box of it incorporated in this set, as it were! $3 for the whole business . . . and if you don't think this is cheap, just try buying all the items separately! (Made by Quinlan.)

TELL IT TO ELSIE

Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Efforts to Arrange Lives Of Others Usually Fail

"Family trouble!" Who hasn't been through it?

Big Sis and Big Brother mooching on Ma and Dad—and Little Sis longing to break up the combination. Ever get into a rumpus like that? Sure you have!

Then tune in while I try to give Cynthia a few words of advice—which it's dollars to doughnuts she won't take!

Dear Elsie:

I am a young lady of 24, and I seem to be having family trouble. So I wish you'd help me, if you can.

First of all, my mother and father have a large home. My brother and his wife and their two school-age children live with us. They have ever since they were married. My sister, who has a baby daughter, also lives with us with her husband.

What makes me mad is that, with two other women in the house, mother does most of the housework and cooking, except for what little I can do to help her after coming home tired from my work downtown.

My sister has been married 14 years, and her husband hasn't lost a day at work in all that time; but my brother hasn't worked since the depression began.

Then, on top of all the work mother does, there is my own side. I have, naturally, been going out with young men, but whenever one calls to take me out the whole flock must be on hand. I never feel free, either, to invite young folks in for the evening or to invite a boy friend over for a Sunday night supper or the like.

FAMILY DRAWBACK

I've been going with one chap off and on for about two years, and all this time I have never been able to see him at home without the whole family being around. I have grown to like this fellow quite a bit, but I know he feels I have "too much family," and that it must look to him as if he will not only marry the family if he marries me, but may have to support them as well.

Don't you think that, after all these years both my sister and brother have been married, they should not only want homes of their own, but have them—and that, above all, they should realize what a burden they are to mother?

I have talked to both mother and dad about it, and about selling the house and the three of us going into a small flat. But they don't seem to feel that I am right, or at least they won't admit it, if they do. How can I make them see?

What shall I do? I hate to see mother working this way. And for myself, I am just fed up with the gang of them. I've thought of getting an apartment of my own, but I wonder if that would be just the right thing to do. Please help me. What do you think?

CYNTHIA.

SHOULDN'T INTERFERE

What to do? Move to that apartment!

You're working. You can take care of yourself and have your own home, where you can be yourself and enjoy yourself. Then do it.

As for doing anything with the rest of the family—you can't. I know that Sis and Brother and the rest of them aren't doing right. But if mom and dad let them get away with it, that is their own lookout, and you've no right to interfere.

And that advice goes for all of us when we're beset with the common desire to arrange other people's lives. It can't be done! We can help, if and when help is requested. But if the other fellow won't save himself, we can't force salvation on him.

And what a lot of family fury we'd avoid if we would take that tip!

But will we ever believe it until everything else goes boom? Never; never; never!

We all admire someone we wish to be like.

It is not always the remote famous personality. More often it is one in our own environment.

Beginners in all lines of work look with admiration upon the more experienced and accomplished around them.

The office boy sees in one of his bosses the man he hopes he may some day become. Girls in shops, factories and restaurants aspire to be like the buyer, forelady, or hostess.

The stenographer looks upon the private secretary as her ideal.

The bride would like to run her new home as beautifully as her elder neighbor across the way. The debutante would emulate a charming matron she admires.

You may not dream that you are someone's ideal. Be a good example.

Given in Marriage

A Sequel to Heart of a Wife

By ADELE GARRISON

Avis' Purpose Is Puzzle to Others

Mary giggled delightedly as I said that I was going to take a leaf from Avis Arlen's book and ask to see Noel alone.

"I don't know about this," she said. "I'm not afraid of Avis, but you're something else again. According to what I've seen and heard, when you exercise your well-known charm upon a man, that man succumbs as if he'd been struck by lightning."

It was the most arrant nonsense, but her eyes were so bright and significant with mischief that, to my furious disgust, I found myself flushing.

Noel came to my rescue with an amused little laugh.

"I'm glad there's some way I can make you jealous," he said. "I had despaired of ever accomplishing that feat."

Was he as sincere as his voice sounded I asked myself. Had Mary's poise and careful camouflage of her feelings made him unaware that she twice had been furiously jealous of him—once because of Princess Olina, and the second time because of Avis Arlen and the "poetry books" which Avis had boasted of their reading upon the tour which Noel's father had arranged, we were all sure, for the express purpose of breaking up the betrothal of his son and Mary?

It was just as well that he did not realize her jealousy, I told myself, with the age-old sex loyalty ingrained in every woman's bones. If there was to be any vantage in the emotional battles which I foresaw these two would have, along their marital journey, I wished it to belong to Mary.

NOEL PUZZLED

"I'll sacrifice myself to that cause, Noel," I told him, smiling. "Run along, Mary, anywhere you please, for the next five minutes. At the end of that time come down to my little study and I'll turn your boy back to you."

"Yes, but will you guarantee him to be 'heart whole and fancy free?'" she demanded merrily. But I only made a little moue at her for answer, and taking Noel's arm I rushed him away to my little study.

I closed the door and turned to find the boy looking at me with astonished and bewildered eyes.

"Has — has — anything gone wrong?" he faltered. "Something you want to keep from Mary? Has my father—"

"No, no," I said emphatically, seizing his arm and swinging him back and forth. "Nothing has gone wrong or is likely to. There's only one thing of which I want to warn you. Avis Arlen repeatedly has said that she must see you alone before you are married. She told me—excuse me, Noel, for repeating it—she said that there was something between you and her too sacred for words; something that no one else could understand, and that she must see you and ask you something—clear up something, she said—before you were married. Now—"

CHARACTER KNOWN

"Mrs. Graham!" Noel's voice was suddenly hoarse, strained, and his eyes were tortured. "You can't possibly think that any of that raving is true? It's an awful thing to say about anybody, especially a woman, but that girl—"

"Do you think you need to tell me anything, Noel, about the personality or character of Avis Arlen?" I asked. "I believe her to be capable of any falsehood, any chicanery, to gain her point. I am afraid, too—" I hesitated, then went ruthlessly on, for Avis surely had laid herself open to my revelation—"that she cares for you in her own ruthless, selfish way, and that she is prepared to stop at nothing, either to prevent your marriage or, failing that, to make things as unpleasant for you and Mary as she can.

"If she can manage to see you alone, even for a moment or two, there will be no limit to the things she will insinuate, and will try to have to get to Mary.

"Now, everybody is conspiring to keep her so occupied that she cannot get near you, but I want you to be on your guard, so that you will not have to listen to her for even a minute. What is it, boy?"

For, with an exclamation of dismay, Noel was staring at me as if he suddenly saw a basilisk.

Hints for the Household

To make an apricot sweet, strain a tin of apricots from the syrup and make an almond filling with one-fourth pound of ground almonds, one-fourth pound of icing sugar, and one beaten egg. Divide into portions make into balls, and press two halves of fruit one on each side. Arrange in a glass dish and pour over a lemon or raspberry jelly, made from the syrup, with water added, if necessary, to make it up to one pint.

Outside brass and metal work is a great problem during misty or rainy weather. An application of a waterproof and invisible solution specially designed to withstand all atmospheric conditions will keep your brass, copper or steel work bright for at least a year. It does away with the drudgery of daily cleaning.

Don't forget the laundry tub when you make a wash frock. Wash garments should be sturdily built so the seams won't pull out after many washings. Frilly trimmings eventually must be ironed. For that reason the best pattern—if laundering is considered—is a simple one with few seams and joinings.

A few drops of lemon juice squeezed on a tough steak will make it tender, providing the lemons are fully matured. New lemons will not do, but they may be stored for several weeks in a string bag in the pantry, and then used. If the fruit is new the acid content is too strong and the flavor of the meat is impaired. If lemon juice is used and it is desired to fry the steak, then place a dish or plate over the frying pan. This keeps in the steam, and the lemon juice finds its way into the fibers of the meat instead of being allowed to evaporate.

Contract Bridge

HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

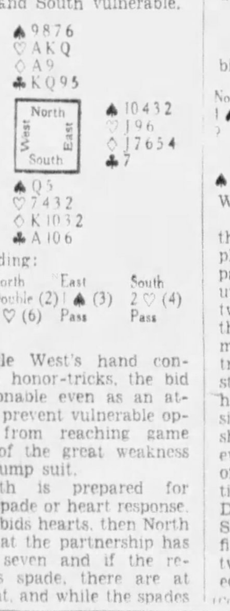
The Takeout Double

The Takeout Double is unquestionably one of the strongest and most effective calls at the disposal of the Contract player. It is an indication of solid honor strength and of the type of holding that is prepared for any response by partner, whatever that response may be, and, of course, implies ability to play the hand at a game or part-score contract. When a non-vulnerable player opens the bidding, the player next to speak may have a hand containing a great deal of honor strength. He may even suspect that the Opening bid is psychic or nearly so. But if he can stand a bid by his partner which may be based on nothing at all before making one himself, unquestionably the best course generally is to double for a Takeout and then base the subsequent bidding upon what partner may say.

An effective and lucky use of the Takeout Double is shown in the hand below, which was played in the New York State Regional Tournament conducted by the United States Bridge Association. The hand in question occurred in one of the contests for the pair event.

West, Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.



The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣ (1)	Double (2)	1 ♠ (3)	2 ♡ (4)
2 ♠ (5)	4 ♡ (6)	Pass	Pass
Pass

1—While West's hand contains 2½ honor-tricks, the bid is questionable even as an attempt to prevent vulnerable opponents from reaching game because of the great weakness of the trump suit.

2—North is prepared for either a spade or heart response. If South bids hearts, then North knows that the partnership has at least seven and if the response is spade, there are at least eight, and while the spades are weak, no great trouble should follow.

3—East, with a trickless hand, attempts to inhibit, if possible, a response by South.

4—South reasons that, after all, his hand does contain 2 honor-tricks, and that partner's Takeout Double shows a minimum of three, and probably more. Hence, in view of the fact that East has bid spades, he expects to find four hearts in his partner's hand and thus is willing to undertake a contract of two.

5—Another effort to interfere with the possible march of opponents to game.

6—This is no doubt an overbid, but North reasoned that, with the Ace-King-Queen of hearts in his own hand, South might find it difficult to bid again, and, of course, probably placed greater strength in the South hand than actually was there, including, quite likely, five hearts.

The hand, in play, was extremely lucky. West opened the King of spades and followed with the Ace, and South ruffed the third round. There was nothing for an even break in hearts. Since the trumps broke, the contract was made laid down.

Today's Question

Both sides vulnerable. The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ♣	Double	Pass

You, North, hold:

♠ K Q J 8 7 4 ♡ A Q 8 2 ◇ 7 6 5 ♣ —

What do you bid?

Answer Two spades. Although, as a general practice, a player should have faith in his partner's Penalty Doubles, it is unwise to leave in a Double of two-odd when holding a void of the opponents' suit. Furthermore, North holds a 6-4-3 distribution and is not particularly strong in honor-tricks, so his hand looks far better offensively than defensively. North should not bid three spades or even two hearts as he is sure of a certain amount of duplication of values on his partner's Double of two clubs. The North-South hands may be badly misfitted and if South passes to two spades that will undoubtedly be the best contract.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Bone Inflammation Is Often Traced to a Fall

Not long ago I was talking to a young father who was quite worried about his boy. It seems that the lad had been in excellent health until one day he stumbled in his play and injured his thigh. The injury seemed trivial at the time and little attention was paid to it. But within a few days the boy complained of pain in his leg. A doctor was summoned and found it necessary immediately to lance the leg. "Osteomyelitis" had developed.

Dr. Copeland

This is the usual story of osteomyelitis, which, as its name implies, is an inflammation of a bone. The inflammation can be traced to an infection caused by pus producing germs. The source of such germs may be located in diseased tonsils, teeth, nasal sinuses, or some other part of the body. They wander about the body, seeking a weak spot where they may perform their unpleasant work.

As happened according to the story told to me by the worried father, a blow or fall damages the tissues and prepares the way for a localized infection. Though the injury is slight, it is sufficient to cause trouble. The unfriendly germs reach the injured and weakened tissues, where they carry on in an unpleasant manner.

Of course, osteomyelitis may be the result of a direct infection of a bone. This often occurs in the case of an automobile accident or a severe cut or tear where the bone is exposed to pus-forming germs. The disease may also follow a severe attack of tonsilitis, nasal sinusitis, scarlet fever, measles or influenza.

The victim of osteomyelitis is suddenly stricken ill with high fever and chills. He complains of pain and tenderness in the afflicted part. When this occurs in children, it is often erroneously called "rheumatism" or thought to be due to "growing pains." Bear in mind that sudden pain in an arm or leg should arouse suspicion of infection, especially so if fever is present.

When osteomyelitis is recognized early and proper measures are taken, prompt and complete cure is possible. When overlooked, neglected or improperly treated, the disease becomes chronic. Chronic osteomyelitis is one of the most stubborn and difficult afflictions to cure. In addition, chronic osteomyelitis may lead to permanent and disabling deformities.

I cannot overemphasize the danger of neglecting the effects of falls and blows so frequently received by children. If pain is present and there is any doubt as to the extent of the injury, it is always wise to have an X-ray picture taken of the injured part. This will show the extent of the injury and detect early signs of osteomyelitis.

Cure is then possible by such simple measures as rest in bed and fixing of the afflicted limb so it cannot move. When these measures are taken, operation is rarely necessary. But in many advanced cases an operation may be called for to remove the pus from the infected tissue. This is a simple operation and need not be feared. It is delay that is dangerous.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

A Rose by Any Other Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband, in taking out his last citizenship papers, shortened our name. For instance, if the name was "Forestone," he just used "Stone."

Is it proper for us hereafter to go under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Stone? I must confess that lately I have been using the shorter name, and I have been questioned by some of my friends as to why the change. Am I correct in doing this?

My husband's parents are still alive, and we were married under the former name.

ANONYMOUS.

This is more a legal question than an etiquet one. If you wish to have your change of name legal, you should take this matter up with your lawyer, and through him you ask the court for permission to change your name. Then when and if this is granted, you should notify your friends of this change. This gives authority and dignity to the change.

Let Hostess Order

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell me if it is customary, when two women are ordering sundaes in a drug store, for one person to do the ordering? I know it is customary for the gentleman to order when there is a lady companion. My daughter criticized me the other day for not ordering for both of us. The orders were different.

IN DOUBT.

If one woman is being the hostess, it is polite and gracious for her to carry out the details of her hospitality, and so, as when she is hostess in a restaurant, she would give the order for both her guest and for herself. If each woman is paying for her own sundae, each would give her own order. When the orders are different, it is a nice point for the hostess or host to remember to give the guest's order first.

'TOOTS, CASPER' RETURNING SUNDAY

What were the contents of that letter Stella Crinker held over the head of Uncle Abner in the "Toots and Casper" comic? That's what the public wants to know.

The sudden disappearance of "Toots and Casper" from the pages of the Comic Weekly, distributed with last Sunday's Sun-Telegraph, however, created a condition of consternation seldom before known in a case of this kind. "Toots and Casper's" friends were left up in the air—high and dry.

Readers of the Comic Weekly, young and old, didn't wait until Monday to make their inquiries but stepped right up to the telephone Sunday morning and deluged the Sun-Telegraph office with the frantic call "Where are Toots and Casper?" Then came more protests by mail Monday in scores of letters asking about the whereabouts of these favorites of the comic pages.

Well, there's one sure way of ascertaining whether or not a comic has a following. That is to leave this particular comic out for a single edition. If the readers want it back they'll tell you in no unmistakeable voice. If they don't want it back there'll be no protests.

So, it was discovered that "Toots and Casper" had an army of friends. This was not underestimated by the editors of the Comic Weekly, but in the enlargement of this feature to 16 pages, one full page comic had to be omitted to make room for some of the brand new comics. And that one page happened to be "Toots and Casper." A reader protest was expected, but nothing like the one that landed on the Sun-Telegraph.

So, by popular demand, "Toots and Casper" will be back again next Sunday. For this issue last Sunday's omitted page and the page that would have been regularly scheduled for next Sunday, will appear in black and white. With these two pages appearing simultaneously the continuity of the comic will be maintained. Then on Sunday, January 21, "Toots and Casper" will re-appear in colors in all their glory.

So, that's good news for thousands and thousands of readers, young and old, who seem to think that the day isn't complete unless they have "Toots and Casper" with their Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

BIDS SHUNNED BY COUGHLIN

DETROIT, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Father Charles E. Coughlin, of the Shrine of the Little Flower, is accepting no invitations to speak outside of his own church in suburban Royal Oak.

He made that plain in commenting on a reproof given by the Most Rev. Paul R. Rhode, of Green Bay, Wis., to the president of the Catholic Young Men's Club, of Manitowoc, Wis., for extending an invitation to Father Coughlin without first obtaining the approval of his parish priest and bishop.

Father Coughlin said he "heartily agreed with the bishop. He added:

"I have not received the invitation and I would refuse it if I did. About 40 such invitations come to me every day and it has been my policy for the last three years not accept invitations outside my own church here at Royal Oak. The only exception I made was the speech I made in New York, but that was under my own office."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

PAIN OVER KIDNEYS

WHEN pain over kidneys or bladder irregularities keep you getting up at night; if you feel nervous, despondent, heed the warning. The kidneys may not be working as they should to filter the blood and keep you free from too much uric acid. Drink plenty of pure water and get Dr. Pierce's A-nuric at any drug store. Read what Henry O. Thomas of 258 Union St., Allentown, Pa., said: "Whenever I would get a 'catch' in the small of my back and across my kidneys it was mighty hard for me to straighten up sometimes. Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets always fixed me up in a couple of days' time and drove away that backache, also regulated my kidneys so they acted normally."

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial size. "We Do Our Part."

Walter Winchell

Things I Knew All the Time

(Look, he thinks he fools them with a new title!)

That most historians are wholly mum on the question of Napoleon's butchery of his own soldiers—"because there is no definite proof." So here it is as a fact. At Jaffa, 580 wounded French soldiers died after Napoleon doctored their food with opium, and at Rosetta, a number of sick Frenchies were strangled! (Feature writers, see the N. Y. Herald of Aug. 31, 1803—and remember Walter. It's in the Public Library!)

That not all the moving picture salaries are fabulous. One factory that grinds out "cliff-hangers"—serials—offer and hire experienced writers for as low as $35 per week. (Twice their worth, at that.)

That the far-seers of the art world predict another Renaissance within 25 years. To be influenced mainly by Chinese art.

That plenty Walt Disney revenue comes from royalties on articles which bear the name of M. Mouse and 3 Little Pig insignia. During Xmas, the piggies decorated everything from baby seats to beer steins.

That John McDermott, who built a crazy house on a Hollywood hill out of abandoned movie sets, has a Turkish room with a bed built into the wall. (And underneath the bed—a fireplace!)

That the kids will adore this item. Read it to them out loud: That in Glasgow, Ky.—the teacher was spanked!

That you can't pass a camel thru a needle's eye—but you can walk with ease thru a 4x6-inch postcard. (This is not a gag. It's a fact—and I'll show you how it can be done—if you care.)

That Walter Hagen's 15-year-old son often beats him at golf.

That parents will probably give me a vote of thanks for this one: When the child bawls, put a moth-ball in a glass of water and let him or her watch it go up and down. (It's fun for adults, too!)

That if Sec'y of the Treasury Morgenthau, Jr., will view the records, he will find that in 1837 the government entrusted to the states then existing—28 millions. Receiving in exchange state certificates of equal value to be sold at Gov't pleasure—which it has yet to do!

That this explodes the popular legend that if General Custer had lived he would have been court-martialed for disobeying orders. Because the so-called orders allowed Custer to do what he pleased. (Critics see Vol. A p. v. 368 in the N. Y. Public Library and shut up!)

That in England Capt. H. C. Biard, who, in 1925, was Britain's hero—having won the Schneider Trophy for her—is now without a job and broke—and willing to do anything. (Medals, Hmmff!)

That in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., once—hailstones fell—big as baseballs. In fact, they killed a horse! (N. Y. Tribune, June 24, 1906.)

That St. John, N. B., claims honors for possessing the "world's smallest park." Visalia, Cal., invalidates the claim by producing a park 10 feet by 10—and challenges the world to produce a smaller one! Well, all right. On Ridgewood (Brooklyn's main stem) is a park not only smaller than Visalia's—but it also seats 35 persons!

That Pedro Correo, Columbus' brother-in-law, did not accompany Chris to America, yet Pedro saw Indians before Columbus did. (Ah, that's got you, eh? Go ahead and make me prove it—because I can!)

That in Copenhagen, an Eskimo became a raving maniac after viewing his first movie. (Probably a Hollywood movie on Eskimo life!)

That Chas. Laughton, naturally shy and timid, once arrived in New York and much to his embarrassment was recognized on the street. But when he stood in front of the Rialto where his picture was an attraction—nobody who came in and out gave him a tumble.

That Jefferson Davis is one of the few Confederate leaders the Government never pardoned. So what? So this: His statue is in the National Hall of Fame in Washington, D. C.

That neither a king nor a racketeer was the most shot-at person. The distinction goes to Wm. Hatfield, a hill-billy, who always looked for a fight and got it. There were over 300 attempts on his life.

That in New York there are fewer cops doing night patrol duty than there were in the much smaller city forces of the 80's.

That there's now a premium on gold, but in 1873 there was a premium on, of all things—paper money! You got 25 extra for each thousand dollars—small bills—because of the terrific hoarding.

That in Northern Alaska in Winter you don't need matches. You drag your feet across the carpet and sparks fly from your fingers.

That in 1906 Congressmen Gaines, of Tenn., and Rucker, of Mo., absented themselves from a session, for which they were arrested.

That in Kentucky they consider drunks worse than lunatics, since drunkenness is a cause for divorce—insanity isn't!

That a second is easily counted by saying: "One chimpanzee."

That Lola, a dog, learned the alphabet in two days. Did you?

And that this isn't a joke—but a recorded fact! In 1926 England barred Ben Bernie—but permitted the entry of an octopus!

Why Not Build Drama Home In Every City as Part Of CWA Plan?

By GEORGE SEIBEL

Under this New Deal, that genial elderly gentleman Uncle Sam is assuming a more and more paternal relation to his nephews and nieces, and it seems even the arts are to be recognized as necessary to human life. The CWA is taking into account musicians, painters, sculptors, and various other sorts of artists.

It is the actors who have been treated like red-headed stepchildren. Uncle Sam has even put a special tax of 10 per cent on any one inclined to buy their wares. It's the same as fining people who go to theaters, and it has retarded the recovery of the drama — how much? At least 10 per cent!

Mr. Seibel

All over the country are thousands of players who have nothing to do because theaters are closed. Theaters are closed because rentals are high, railway fares high, and the public poor. Why cannot the CWA build a few theaters and try the experiment of letting them to the players to see what can be done?

The idea is a very good one, though not strictly new. It has been done in Europe for many years. The Theatre Francais and the Vienna Burgtheater are both subsidized by the state—in effect, the state owns those buildings, and lets the actors have them, besides furnishing an insignificant subsidy and guaranteeing against reasonable deficit.

REPUBLIC OF ART

The actors, in many cases, as in the French national theater, form a little republic of their own. Actors who rise to royal rank, like Sarah Bernhardt or Constant Coquelin, soon drift away through the lure of large profits and personal fame. Oftentimes art is better served by such defections, because the tendency in a state institution is to conservatism and orthodoxy. Art must ever be ready to take up new ideas.

But it's not only in the large capitals of Europe that the state theater flourishes. In the little university town of Giessen—made famous by the chemist Liebig—a public-spirited citizen built a theater as beautiful as our Nixon and gave it to the city. In that theater a very good stock company plays very good repertoire. Yet the town has only 16,000 inhabitants.

There are hundreds of dramatic theaters in German cities and opera houses in Italy, where the community supplies its art by municipal enterprise. There is no reason why under the New Deal the American theater should not receive consideration. Every town where a sufficient number of patrons will get together and form a sustaining group, should have the right to apply to the CWA for a loan proportioned to the membership and the population. Architects who understand theatrical requirements should furnish the plans for houses built at accessible places, but not on noisy front streets.

AWAY FROM THE NOISE

A theater should be in a quiet place. The reason our playhouses are on much-frequented thoroughfares is the commercial spider instinct of the managers, who wish to lure the passing fly into their parlors. But the noises of the modern city are becoming a bigger nuisance and a worse menace than the smoke ever was. Sooner or later they will have to be put down. The theater ought to get away from them.

Such theaters when built should also be architectural gems. It's as easy to build a beautiful edifice as a box with windows and doors. And when completed, the theater should be placed at the disposal of actors who form a group playing on a co-operative basis.

There should be one restriction with regard to plays. At least one-third of the plays produced must be more than 10 years old. At least one absolutely new play should be staged in the course of a year.

KEEPING CLASSICS ALIVE

This will keep the classics alive and give the new playwright an opportunity. The way our stock companies are now run is very unfortunate. The manager picks one of the recent Broadway successes, for which he has to pay considerable royalty. He selects it because it attracted crowds and caused a stir, which is quite apart from the merits of the play or its fitness for his company or audience.

If the company had to produce a certain number of plays that have stood the test of years, they would have to revive many good things now seldom seen—plays by Barrie and Galsworthy, Pinero and Jones, Ibsen and Hauptman, some of the classics by Moliere and Schiller, to say nothing of the great comedies and tragedies of Shakespeare.

So let's pass the idea along to the CWA, which has shown great hospitality to schemes encouraging artistic endeavor. First of all, they should see that the 10 per cent tax or fine imposed on the theater is removed; then they should see that theaters not too large are built where players can follow their profession without having to walk railroad ties.

Budget Views On Screen

THE GLOBE TROTTER

Leading members of Congress present their views on President Roosevelt's $10,000,000,000 budget in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Among others who give their predictions as to the success or failure of the plan are Senator Hastings, of Delaware; Senator Dill, of Washington; Senator Reynolds, of North Carolina; Senator Robinson, of Indiana, and Speaker Rainey.

Golf stars open the battle for titles in 1934 at Miami. There are interesting pictures of the struggle between Ralph Stonehouse and Willie Dow, with a description of the game by the Globe Trotter.

The train wreck at Lagny, France, in which 200 were killed and 400 injured, is pictured.

Striking Illinois milk farmers are shown holding up trucks en route to Chicago and dumping the milk that they carry.

Alexander Troyanovsky, the Soviet's first Ambassador to the United States, arrives in New York with William C. Bullitt, America's envoy to Moscow. The Russian Ambassador delivers a goodwill message to America.

Greeted by Mayor La Guardia and thousands of other New Yorkers, Columbia's football warriors get a big reception as they arrive home after their victory over Stanford.

Children hold a fashion show in Miami.

Note—Because of the necessity upon theater managers to arrange their programs in time schedules some of the subjects in above issue of Hearst Metrotone News may not be shown in your theater.

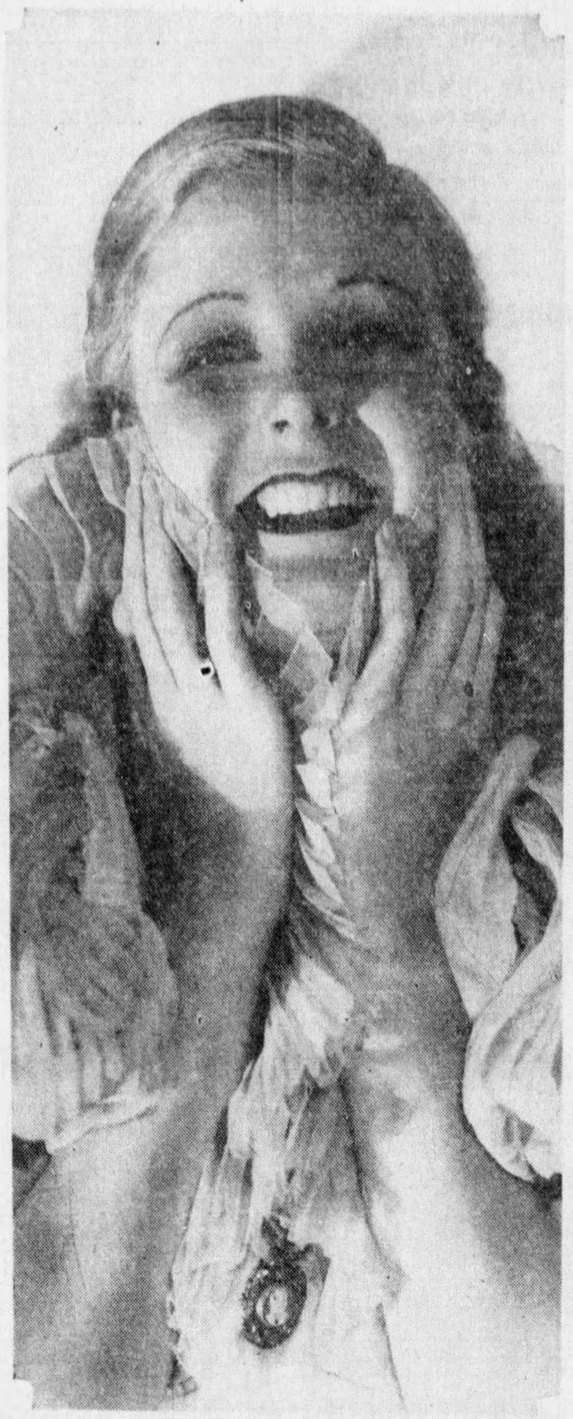
Stenog

Bebe Daniels is somebody's stenog in "Counsellor at Law," movie made from the play, that will bring John Barrymore to the Stanley screen Friday.

Wives Seek Divorces, Two Decrees Granted

Divorce suits have been filed in Common Pleas Court by Mildred Clark against Howard Clark and by Clara A. Gillis against Wilmor L. Gillis. Divorces were granted to Clyde A. Loy from Elizabeth Loy and to Chester O. Wheeler from Elizabeth Wheeler.

Fluffy Ruffles



Jean Muir, snapped at "Bedside" set in studio. "Bedside" is a future booking for the Stanley or Warner.

Movies Fail to Hold Jaffe From Stage

Repeated offers from two Hollywood studios failed to hold Sam Jaffa, eager to return to his Broadway stage haunts after making his screen debut with Marlene Dietrich in Paramount's production of "Catherine the Great." Jaffe sailed from Los Angeles, accompanied by his actress wife, Lilian Taiz, to return to New York via the Panama Canal. In New York Jaffe will go into rehearsal for John Golden's play, "The Octagon," in which he and his wife will appear opposite each other. He made a big stage hit as Kringelein in "Grand Hotel."

Mrs. Patrick Campbell Takes Back Hollywood Raps

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—With her blasts against the film capital still a lively memory, Mrs. Patrick Compbell, glamorous footlight queen of two continents, now does a right-about and gives the cinema city her official sanction.

"Hollywood has grown up and is a safe place for sane people," declares the actress whose barbed wit once tore the movie foibles into shreds.

"The only objection I have to it now are the ants," Mrs. Campbell adds. "The house is full of them."

When the ground dries up from the recent storm and the ants go outside again, the actress believes she may settled down comfortably to make her home in the once-despised community.

She is working with Norma Shearer in "Rip Tide," and she probably will make other pictures.

To make the conquest complete, she's even succumbed to the conventional lure of a house in Beverly Hills.

* * *

Studio officials are outraged over the latest Hollywood racket—the proposal by a former cameraman to establish a business of making composite photographs of well known players with any individual who is willing to pay $1 for the service.

The film plants are ordering employes not to furnish the necessary still pictures of the players.

* * *

Barbara Bardondess, former New York newspaperwoman and now a Hollywood actress, scored a big scoop when she went to work in Greta Garbo's picture and managed to get an interview—albeit an unintential one—with the Swedish star. But, although any publication in the country would have paid well for the story, she gave it gratis to the national fan magazine in which it will appear. Her only reward will be the publicity value of the article.

Among the things La Garbo told Barbara was that the real size of her shoes is 6½ double A.

She also related an amusing story at her own expense. Some time ago, the glamorous Swede went into a shoe store to make a purchase. The fussed salesman rushed up with 10 or 15 pairs of large size shoes.

"Take them back and get me 6½ double A," droned the husky voice.

Then, according to the star, the salesman became even more fussed.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," he said. "I thought you were Miss Garbo."

The Devil Pops Up With Laughter

Marital discord in Greenwich Village is the thread upon which Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich have strung their frivolous comedy, "Up Pops the Devil," presented last night on the Hotel Schenley stage by the Civic Players.

Helen Wayne, as the wife who supports her husband while he is trying to become a famous author put a touch of sincerity into her role, while Reginald Stanborough as the husband left you doubtful whether he could support that impending infant—though the dramatists suddenly turn him into a genius.

Regis Manning and Elaine Boughner made a capital pair of villagers, especially when under the influence of bathtub gin—in fact, the drunken scenes were the best of the evening. But Roberta Welch imported a pleasing southern accent, and Hyman Bennett was quietly noble as a seraphic literary agent. Then there was Harry Schofield, whose revolt against sixteen millions was accomplished with debonair bravado.

Very well staged and directed by Alfred E. Smith, this comedy of scintillating dialogue fills a pleasant evening in an alcoholic Bohemia where anything might happen.

All in a Day

By Mark Hellinger

Notes On a Trip

EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK:—My stay in Hollywood on this occasion was, of necessity, very short. I saw a fine football game, however, met a few friends that I liked, and departed with a fairly clear head. There isn't much more you can ask from a visit to anywhere.

I have jotted down several little items that may be of interest to you. They follow:

Mr. George Purcell, a handsome gentleman with a deft touch, was my barber while I was in Los Angeles. Living with me in the hotel was Mr. Ted Husing, a radio sports announcer. And Mr. Purcell seemed greatly impressed when he learned Mr. Husing's identity.

"Mr. Husing," he said eagerly, "this is one of the happiest moments of my life. I'm so happy to know you that I find it difficult to express myself. My mother never fails to listen to you on the radio."

The sports announcer's chest went out several inches. He cleared his throat and made certain of listening.

"My compliments to your mother, Mr. Purcell," he replied. "I think she displays excellent judgment. She always listens to me, does she?"

The barber nodded rapidly.

"Oh, yes," re returned. "She says she just loves to hear you sing!" . . .

* * *

I SPENT New Year's Eve with George Raft, now one of the biggest stars in all Hollywood. It was a night that George will never forget. For he sprained his ankle, had his car stolen and wrecked, and finally returned home to find his house flooded. Add to those things the fact that he had to gaze at me for a couple of hours, and you can see what a grand evening he really had.

I like Raft. Stardom hasn't turned his head one iota. He's the same fighting guy I knew back in the old days, and he still has the same likes and dislikes. He doesn't take himself too seriously, and that's half the battle in any line of endeavor. I hope George keeps climbing until he passes them all.

For he's strictly a right mug . . .

* * *

YOU don't meet too many right people in Hollywood. Something happens to people when they click out there; something that destroys their sense of balance. The very best of them are kings and queens for a day only, but very few of them seem to realize it. For every regular feller like George Raft or Jean Harlow, you'll find a hundred who think the studios couldn't go on without 'em.

I was sitting in the Cocoanut Grove one night, for example, when I spotted a lad whom I hadn't seen in some six years. Formerly a hack writer around Broadway, he drifted to Hollywood and wrote so badly that he was immediately successful.

I had slipped him many a buck in the old days. And when I saw him that night, I thought he'd enjoy a few reminiscences. Genuinely glad to see him, I slapped him on the back. He wheeled rapidly.

"Hello, Mr. Hellinger," were the words he handed me in a slight accent. "I will say, of course, that I am glad to see you again. But I might tell you that we in Hollywood are a bit more dignified in our greetings."

* * *

A FEW hours before the year came to a close, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beahan dropped in to say hello. Charlie wrote "Night Court" with me some years back, and is now a producer at Columbia. Mrs. Beahan is Sidney Fox, the charming little movie star.

Married a year, Charlie and Sidney had been married all over again on their anniversary. It was a rather unusual procedure, and I spoke to Mr. Beahan about it. He explained the thought quite frankly.

"Sidney and I are mighty happy together, Mark," he said, "and we intend to stay that way. We expect to be remarried on the same day all through the years. Because this is one film romance that is going to be just as strong in its twentieth year as it was in its first."

The following evening, the papers announced that Mr. and Mrs. Beahan had separated after a quarrel! . . .

* * *

ALONG similar lines is the tale of the Hollywood ham who considers himself the world's greatest thespian. He does play leads now and then, but they always need two cameras to photograph his head.

At a recent gathering, he stood up suddenly and announced that he was going to visit a very exclusive club. Another actor said he thought it was a good idea, and that he would go along.

"I'm afraid not, my friend," he murmured. "They only permit the very biggest stars in there."

The other actor nodded rapidly.

"Okay with me," he chirped. "Whose names will we use? . . .

* * *

I'D like to write plenty more about Hollywood. I might tell you stories about Ben Frank, the greatest hotel manager in the land, and about Mae West, whose theme song these days is no longer "Come Timony, My Melancholy Baby." I want to write about the pleasant hours I spent with Winnie Sheehan and Jimmy Dunn and Sidney Skolsky and Lee Tracy and Charles Butterworth and a host of others.

But I guess I'd better not. I'll be back on Broadway, and I'll return to the old type of column. It may not be as exciting. But it certainly is a little safer . . .

There will be only one showing—at night—of Greta Garbo in "Queen Christina" in the Nixon Monday, but there will be two each day thereafter. The seat sale for this feature opened this morning in the box office. In support of Miss Garbo in "Queen Christiina" are John Gilbert, Lewis Stone, C. Aubrey Smith, Ian Keith, Elizabeth Young and others.

Flournoy Miller of Miller & Lysles and Eubie Blake of Sissle & Blake, two noted teams of negro comedians that used to be rivals, are co-featured in the condensed edition of "Shuffle Along," negro revue, that will come to the Pitt stage Friday. The screen attraction will be "I was a Spy," with Herbert Marshall and an English cast.

"Berkeley Square," photoplay with Leslie Howard in the role he created on the stage, is the Fulton screen feature. Fulton advertising carries the admonition that it is best to see it from the beginning, in accordance with the hours appearing in The Theater Clock.

Cantor Adopts System

Eddie Cantor has changed. Like the fellow playing roulette, he has developed a system.

Three trials, one a year and hit upon hit, have taught Eddie that a single annual production is enough. He wants to be known as a "one-a-year" man.

The Cantor picture of last year, this year and next year should roll around like the coming of spring, just as certainly, regularly, and no more frequently. And that's that.

Eddie has taken to smoking cigars. The West has got him; he is the HE-man. Puffing a little uncertainly at a black cheroot, looking skeptically at it as though it might explode, Eddie strode back and forward in the classic tunic that he wears as the emperor's jester in "Roman Scandals," his fourth annual screen musical comedy for Samuel Goldwyn.

People hurried in and out, but it didn't distract him from what he had to say.

"We don't draw enough on the imagination of our audience. We explain things too fully, and then we repeat. And then, coyly, we ask them, 'Are we boring you?' The answer is 'Yes.' Stimulated imagination can offer more interest and entertainment than a whole carload of actresses and actors.

"The trouble with actors is that they haven't enough to worry about.

"Broadway and Hollywood, actors and columnists, radio entertainers—they get too close to Broadway and Hollywood, too far from Scranton and Springfield and Wichita and Colorado Springs and Tacoma. There are millions and millions of people living west of the Hudson and east of Pasadena. They're important. They give us our living."

Eddie is planning on his first trip to Europe in nine years. He hopes to be in England for the London premiere of "Roman Scandals."

George S. Kaufman and Robert Sherwood wrote the story of "Roman Scandals" and William Anthony McGuire adapted it to the screen. Frank Tuttle directed.

THE DO, RE, MI GIRLS, HARMONY TRIO, HEARD OVER A CBS-WJAS NETWORK TONIGHT

RADIO PIANIST WED ON TOUR

Back in Pittsburgh today after a tour as a pianist, Sybil Young, former accompanist on local radio programs, revealed she is married.

After an eight-year romance, she was wed New Years eve in New York to Maurice N. Chernoff, employed in Pittsburgh by an automobile firm.

Chernoff always was her escort when she appeared for musical programs here, and became a familiar figure to the young pianist's musical friends.

Before her radio appearances, Miss Young made a tour of the country in vaudeville.

Local Highlights on WJAS Tonight

The sad musical tale of "Hobo Bill" is the promised musical feature of the "Barnyard Frolics" at 8.

Jeanne Galbraith, aided by her musical companions of Those Three Girls, offer modern songs in a breezy way at 6:15.

Don't overlook — Patsy Shannon in an early evening spot; Paul Gannon at 6:45.

John S. Young Will Teach Announcing

By AIRCASTER

A flash, delayed two hours in transmission, brought the news from the sticks this morning, that Miss Agnes P. MacGillicuddy, the faithful typist who, in normal times, stenographs this space, was wheezing and sneezing in the MacGillicuddy mansion, and that I would have to struggle along solo for a time.

But the ever-helpful aide thoughtfully forwarded a number of suggestions which, she said, "might be passed on to the customers."

Some of the rapid means to wealth, set down by the enterprising Miss Mac, are these:

* * *

HAND POWER

They harnessed Niagara Falls (says Miss Mac) so why not harness all the waste energy that goes into radio studio applause?

Invent a remedy for puns-drunk comedians.

Make up a lockjaw serum for talkative announcers.

Invent a new word for "folks."

Build a loud-speaker that whispers commercial announcements.

Instead of announcing the correct time, increase the fan mail by asking the audience to guess what time it is.

Write a 15-minute commercial plug for a 15-minute program, which nobody will tune out.

Construct a radio set that will give each member of the family the program he wants, all at the same time.

DR. JOHN S. YOUNG

John S. Young, the only announcer on the NBC staff entitled to call himself doctor, soon is to become a professor also.

Young, recently awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by St. Benedict's College at Atchison, Kan., has been selected to inaugurate a course of "radio orientation" at New York University next semester.

Young, born in Springfield, Mass., in 1903, has been member of the NBC announcing staff since 1928.

A change in plans, over those announced yesterday, has resulted in a decision to discontinue the Monday night Roxy gang program on WJZ-KDKA but to continue the Sunday hour under the title of Radio City Music Hall Concert.

'The Devil's Daughter' Dramatized Today

The harrowing experiences of a young English girl who defied religious traditions of India, and was held captive by native priests, re-enacted over the air this afternoon and evening.

Adapted from a story in next Sunday's American Weekly, big feature magazine distributed with the Sunday Sun-Telegraph, "The Devil's Daughter" is heard today as follows: WFBG, Altoona, 3 p. m. and WKBN, Youngstown, O., 8:15 p. m.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, ladies and gentlemen:

Just try to get away with something . . . Even if you don't try, see if you get away with it!

During the course of a broadcast I mentioned Lord Dufferin and classified him as an Englishman.

Mrs. Alice McNeil, Bellevue, was born and raised not very far from Clandeboye, County Down, Ireland. This was not very far from the home of the noted gentleman.

She says he was born in Italy of Scotch-Irish parents.

Well I'm not sure what he is but I will agree that he's not English.

* * *

Everybody must be a numismatic at heart. No—don't get mad, that isn't as bad as it sounds.

It means some one who collects rare coins.

Mrs. Poland started the last wave by announcing her 100-year old cent. Now Phil Glasser, of Charleroi, hauls out of his strong box several cents dated 1829, 1802 and 1708. There's the first coin from the eighteenth century.

He has made me a collector by sending me a five-cent piece dated 1883. The odd part of it is that below the V where most coins read "CENTS" this one carries "E Pluribus Unum."

Next time I spend a dollar and get change the storekeeper will crown me when I examine the change. He'll think I believe it counterfeit. (I have to get the dollar first.)

Wait a minute. Here's Mrs. L. J. Beck, Larimer. She has some of those very ancient "one centers" and one of them is dated in the seventeen hundreds—1798, just like Phil's.

And then comes Charles Marketch, of Ford City.

He's going to spoil all our fun. He has a 1795 cent, a 1795 dollar and a 1798 cent.

What's more he has a handful of old Roman coins, a thousand years old, in good condition, and would give the whole swagdoodle of them for an 1804 cent.

What's more he gives me a severe bawling out for referring to the coins in the last article as pennies, which are British, instead of cents.

Please note the accuracy above.

P. S. Folks, keep your eyes open for one of those 1804 cents.

Raymond Reber, West View—It is difficult to say whether Abraham Lincoln was related to Gen. Benjamin Lincoln, who fought in the Revolutionary War. The ancestry of Honest Abe has been difficult to trace. The Encylopedia Americana gives Hingham, Mass., as the birthplace of the general. It also states that Abraham Lincoln's progenitor was Samuel Lincoln, who settled with two older brothers at Hingham, Mass.

Edward Getz, Lawrenceville, offers an unusual attraction. His dog can sing with piano accompaniment.

BRINGING SUMMER INTO WINTER VIA FOODS

Prudence Penny's Daily Awards in Recipe Contest

Bring summer into winter through your foods, Prudence Penny suggests. Easily enough accomplished nowadays with modern conveniences at hand. Once fruits were served only in their particular seasons, but now, with the corner grocery ready to supply you with whatever you may desire (in canned form, of course), it's no problem or luxury to have those favorite fruits at almost every meal in varying forms.

In today's prize list, Mrs. Anthony Carvelli gives her particular winter way of serving peaches to Sun-Telegraph housewives. Her recipe she names Peach Trifles and very filling trifles at that. Dorothy Stier likes her blackberries in cake, and she, too, tells her method through the medium of Prudence Penny's column.

There are no limitations placed on the kinds of recipes that may win prizes, so send in your best ones to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. A first prize of $5, 10 prizes of $1 each are awarded daily to the best recipes received. No recipes will be returned.

STOP THAT COLD TODAY!

Tomorrow May Make It Twice as Difficult to Relieve!

The time to stop a cold is before it gets started! A cold once rooted is a cold of danger! Don't waste your time and run the risk of serious complications by using makeshift methods.

Remember, a cold is an internal infection and, as such, calls for internal treatment. A cold also calls for a COLD remedy and not a preparation good for a number of other things besides colds.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is expressly a cold remedy. It is internal and direct. It is complete in effect. It does the four things necessary. First, it opens the bowels gently but thoroughly. Second, it combats the cold germs in the system and reduces the fever. Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling. Fourth, it tones the entire system and fortifies against further attack. Anything less than that is taking chances.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine.

Every druggist sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30c and 50c. Good druggists won't try to talk you into a substitute for the sake of a few pennies extra profit.

When you feel a cold coming on, get busy at once. Go right to your druggist for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine. Always ask for it by the full name and look for the letters L B Q stamped on every tablet.

Revealing the Startling Experiences of Three Forbidden Midnight Visitors to the Shrine of "The Devil's Daughter"

MISHAPS, illness, even death often strike those who attempt to break through the veil of the past. Whether these are merely coincidences or the wrath of ancient gods who resent being disturbed is a riddle that baffles the world; a mystery which many brave souls still strive to solve. Their adventures in seeking the answer to the magic of the mystic East seem unbelievable. They risk danger to body and mind, as revealed by Lady Dorothy Mills who recently had a strange experience in the ruins of an ancient Egyptian temple on the banks of the Nile. She describes her thrilling adventure in an exceptionally interesting article, next Sunday, in The American Weekly.

HOSPITAL FOOD POISONS 50

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Fifty patients in the District of Columbia Tuberculosis Hospital were stricken with ptomaine poisoning last night after the evening meal.

Dr. J. Winthrop Peabody, superintendent, reported that all were "resting comfortably" two hours later.

Dr. Peabody termed it a "strange incident." He said:

"Many of the patients who ate the entire meal were not affected. Some of those who ate only selected foods were made ill. Personally I believe the illness was caused by the ice cream."

The menu, he said, consisted of fried rabbit, vegetables and ice cream.

There are 220 patients in the hospital. Included among the poison victims were one doctor and two nurses.

STORE THEFTS LAID TO 'MOLE'

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—In a labyrinth of underground tunnels, dug beneath stores in the heart of Hollywood, two detectives captured a human mole and accused him of burglary.

Herbert Wright, 33, was run down in his asserted lair after he had been shot in the hip. Detectives expressed belief his arrest solved the recent mysterious $1,700 burglary of a drug store.

They believe Wright spent one to two years honeycombing the ground beneath seven stores.

After the drug store robbery, the officers found a tunnel in the basement.

Officers said the tunnels were filled with pitfalls to trap pursuers. They also found that peep holes had been drilled, giving a view of the drug store safe, the dial of which had been coated with aluminum paint.

Admiral Grayson Gains in Hospital

ROCHESTER, Minn., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Two days of improvement in the condition of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Washington, ill in a hospital here, lent a more cheerful air at his bedside today.

Admiral Grayson, operated on Monday for a kidney tumor, had a "good day" yesterday, said his friend, Bernard M. Baruch, New York.

'Coal-Oil Johnny's' Safe Goes to Museum

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 11.—"Coal-Oil Johnny's" historic safe, which once held $250,000, will repose in the new Drake Memoral Museum near Titusville. Its present owners, Newton and Pierce Myers, who rejected several offers for the 300-pound safe, preferred it should have a perpetual home in historic location.

Opened with a brass key, the safe has no combination. Effort was made to procure it for Henry Ford. "Coal-Oil Johnny" Steele, one of oildom's most colorful figures, squandered thousands in an evening.

He died 10 years ago, a poor man, having been baggage agent in a Mid-Western town many years. In the heyday of exciting 60's, he was worth several hundred thousand.

GROUP TO VISIT HOSPITALS

The committee appointed by Mayor William N. McNair to investigate the city's three hospitals is to make an inspection tour of the City Home and Hospital at Mayview next Tuesday.

Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, who requested the appointment of the committee, will accompany them. The group includes 18 members, many of them hospital executives.

The committee met and organized yesterday, electing Dr. A. H. Colwell, of the Presbyterian Hospital, chairman. Other officers are: Vice chairmen, Jessie J. Turnbull, of Magee Hospital, and Abram Creoff, of Montefiore Hospital; secretary, Mrs. Frank A. Bond.

Possible Significance Of Harris Dinner

By MARK SHIELDS

Friends of Senator Frank J. Harris are planning a dinner in his honor the night of January 31.

Mr. Shields

The first meeting to perfect arrangements was held last night, Attorney James H. Duff summoning a number of men to participate.

The dinner is designed, according to his proponents, to commemorate the Senator's 25 years in public life.

The next step probably will be an observation that there will be no political significance to the affair.

Maybe not.

But there will be many to believe that the dinner is intended to get some publicity for the Senator as a suggested candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, or at least for lieutenant governor.

* * *

No Longer Laughs Off Subject

For some time the Senator's name has been heard in this connection, and his friends have taken the matter seriously and are prepared to see how far they can get with such an adventure.

Significantly, the Senator no longer laughs the subject off, and does not, as he did four years ago, confine his aspirations to the second place in the state government. He recently has said nothing on this position, though it is assumed he would be content to team as a candidate for lieutenant governor with some strong eastern candidate for governor.

It is inescapable that at a dinner such as is planned—the price is being made cheap enough to attract a large crowd—there will not be mention of the governorship.

* * *

Phillips' Reaction To Be Interesting

It also will be interesting to see whether former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips, of Butler, attends, and what his reaction to the proposition is.

The Senator and the Congressman are not unfriendly, but Mr. Phillips himself has been promoted as a gubernatorial candidate. Should be show enthusiasm for the Harris boom it would be tantamount to an admission that he himself is not interested.

No such spectacle is anticipated. From all reports, Mr. Phillips is interested, and exhibited that interest by declining to serve as a member of the State Liquor Control Board, probably foreseeing the criticism which would be heaped upon that agency, and realizing it would not be helpful to any man with political ambitions.

* * *

Naming Miner Seems Independence Height

Mayor McNair in making appointments was actuated by various impulses, including, of course, the desire to procure worthy helpers.

He named some men because they were regular Democrats. He named others because they were tried and true personal friends. He named at least one because he represented the independent Republicans who had followed the McNair banner to make his election possible.

But the height of independence appears to have been reached in the naming of Fred Miner as the Republican member of the Civil Service Commission. Mr. Miner was independent of them all, Republicans and Democrats, in the last election, for the Registration Commission says he was not registered to vote. His residence for appointment was given as 1209 Farragut street, Eleventh Ward.

* * *

Little Chance Of Henry Accepting

There is little possibility that John M. Henry would take the position of Safety Director, even should it be offered. Mayor McNair has intimated he might make the tender, but generally his pronouncement is regarded as a counter-irritant to the four Democratic councilmen, David L. Lawrence and Joseph F. Guffey, who have considerably irritated the Mayor by refusing to confirm James F. Malone, the Mayor's original—and continuing—preference.

Mr. Henry has no enthusiasm for Mr. McNair, whom he opposed in the Democratic primary, without pulling punches. He has a livid distaste for Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Guffey, and would be even more poisonous to them than would Mr. Malone. Mr. Henry is a canny gentleman, and undoubtedly penetrates the by-play which is going on, and for which he will not serve as a stooge.

* * *

See Fight to Dethrone Martin

Eastern newspapers say that the next Republican State Committee meeting will see a fight to dethrone State Chairman Edward Martin. There is little doubt of that, this struggle being bound up in the issues of the Republican primary, just as party leadership will be an issue in the Democratic primary. The rival gubernatorial candidates, two or three or more, will seek to have elected state committeemen friendly to their brand of guidance.

As an opponent of Martin should he seek re-election, the name of Paul Houck, of Schuykill County, is advanced. Houck is a party veteran and has been in and out of the organization. Hereabouts a quiet canvass develops little attachment to the Houck suggestion, though there is no zeal for Gen. Martin.

The disposition here is to wait somewhat on developments, not to become committed to any candidate, either for chairman or Governor.

INCOME TAXES BRING LESS EACH YEAR

Collections in 1933 Only One-Third of 1930 Revenue

Critics of the federal income tax today referred to its inability to produce the amount the government needed and estimated, and points out that since 1929 the revenue from this source dropped over a billion and a half dollars.

And it was indicated that the manufacturers sales tax, proposed to take the place of the tax on incomes, would maintain a normal level, since it covered business activities always operative.

The income tax drop was attributed to the decline of earnings over a period of four years.

The tax produced, for the federal government in 1929, was approximately $2,331,274,000. Then came the market crash and the attendant fall in paper or real earnings, and the 1930 revenue to the government totaled $2,410,986,000.

Unemployment increased and earnings decreased among the masses of the people still further. And in 1931 the total from income taxes was $1,860,394,000. As the depression became more acute, 1932 showed revenue of only $1,057,335,000.

And last year, 1933, which ended, for the government, June 30, the annual income from taxed earnings has dropped to $746,000,000.

The revenue for the past fiscal year was just one-third of what it has been four years before.

The National Economy League gatheres the figures and showed the comparison, issuing them in a recent bulletin.

The league as yet has taken no official action, however, either against the income tax or for the sales tax.

New Juvenile Court Home Discussed

A new Juvenile Court detention home was discussed yesterday at a meeting of the board of managers of the home at which Mrs. J. B. Roessing was named chairman; William H. McAfee, vice chairman, and Dr. Lester Hollander, secretary. The board members were named by Judge Gustav L. Schramm last week.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Jan. 11.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Did you ever drive one of these "sulkies" in a trotting horse race? Well, they got old David Harum sitting straddle of a horse's tail out here on the Riverside track, and if you think that hasn't got it on all auto driving you are wrong.

Will Rogers

I am getting just about old enough, and crabbed enough to take up the Grand Circuit, so look out, Goshen and Lexington, young Pop Geers is coming East.

We have our radios, autos, golf, bridge and a million contraptions, but all of it don't pay for the thrill missed in stepping out in the red weel buggy and high stepper. You could be a pretty poor type of suitor, but the horse made up for it. That's how a lot of us was able to go out of our class and get the wives we did.

Yours, WILL.

Consolidation of County's 120 School Boards Would Mean Enormous Savings for Taxpayers

Directors Outnumber Teachers in State, Survey Shows

One hundred and twenty separate school boards, each with its paid secretaries, solicitors, tax collectors and treasurers, run the schools of Allegheny County.

More than twenty-three and one-half million dollars is paid out annually in school taxes for the operation of the schools. Before this money even reaches the respective school treasurers, commission paid tax collectors take out their share to the tune of more than three hundred thousand dollars.

School teachers, janitors, collectors of taxes, solicitors, secretaries, auditors, treasurers, drew more than sixteen million dollars in salaries, wages and commissions. There are in Allegheny County, 120 separate and distinct school boards, each setting millage, levying taxes and directing their collection. Each pays its solicitors salaries or retaining fees ranging from $50 to several thousand dollars. Secretaries receive anywhere from $5 to $500 annually.

COSTS SPURT

In an eight-year period in Pennsylvania, the total cost of our local school districts increased from 111 million dollars to 211 million annually. State aid constitutes 11 to 15 per cent of the total expenditures for the school districts. One main reason for the increase is the duplication of administrative offices. We have in the state about 15,000 school directors, serving without pay. But the directors appoint solicitors, secretaries, treasurers and tax collectors for each of the 2,587 districts and three auditors for each district.

Of course, Pittsburgh stands alone as the biggest and most elaborate of the school districts here. Under C. E. Dickey, county school superintendent, comes 102 independent districts outside Pittsburgh. Then there are 17 separate communities that have their own school system, each having a school superintendent, a staff of teachers, physical education instructors and medical inspectors.

Superintendent Dickey, with scores of other prominent educators and civic leaders, is of the opinion that the small independent school district has outlived its time. There is a determined effort under way throughout the state to increase the size of the school district.

CITES 'COUNTY UNIT'

Speaking in behalf of the movement, Mrs. J. O. Miller, chairman of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters, said:

"In Maryland where I spend my summers, and where schools are weathering the financial gales much better than here, we have the county unit. In Pennsylvania that would mean 67 school districts instead of 2,500. In Maryland we have three school directors in all but five counties where there are five directors."

In following Mrs. Miller's suggestion it would be possible to cut down the number of boards, as she pointed out, to 67. Also it would be possible to cut down the number of school directors from at least 15,000 to a total of not more than 250.

In Allegheny County alone there are more than 700 school officials, serving without pay, all members of the various school boards.

But other organizations, such as the Pittsburgh Teachers' Association, are of the opinion that in enlarging the school districts it would not be necessary to stop at county boundaries. They point out that it would be very easy to merge some of the smaller counties into one large school district, increasing the efficiency of management and providing better facilities for education.

There are throughout the state, small school districts which do not even have a single school or teacher, yet there are elected at various times, school directors, who appoint their solicitors, their secretaries and treasurers.

In Allegheny County there are two municipalities which have no schools or teachers. In Kilbuck Township in 1932 the expenses of the school board ran approximately $600. The previous year the board had paid out $373 to the tax collector, his commission for collecting $5,258 in school taxes. Also in Ben Avon Heights Borough there are neither schools nor teachers. The school board, however, spent $110 for secretary, treasurer and solicitor. In 1931 this board spent an additional $111 for tax collector, who collected $5,273.

PROMOTES EFFICIENCY

Among the reasons given for recommending a larger unit are:

It would make possible statesmanlike administration and businesslike management.

It would make possible policies on methods of procedure applicable to county.

The county may be divided without regard to township or town lines into an appropriate number of elementary schools, junior high schools and senior high school attendance districts.

School grounds, school buildings and equipment may be standardized.

Uniform salary schedule for all teachers may be adopted, based on length of preparation, length of service and efficiency.

Uniform courses of study may be prescribed for all schools.

The business side—a larger unit would enable one person to buy all school supplies, employ all janitors, provide for transportation of all school children, keep all school accounts, make all school reports.

DISTRICTS TEACHERLESS

Taking the state of Pennsylvania as a whole with its 2,587 districts, we find that there are two first class districts, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, with population over 500,000. There are 20 second class districts where the population is between 30,000 and 50,000. There are 262 third class districts, the population being between 5,000 and 20,000 and there are 2,303 fourth class districts where the populations is under 5,000.

Of the fourth class there are 1,157 districts with less than 1,000 population, and 1,561 districts with less than 1,500 population. Thirty-two districts, including the two in Allegheny County have no teachers; 110 districts having one teacher; 156 districts having two teachers; 143 districts having three teachers and 167 districts having four teachers.

This shows that there exists in Pennsylvania 608 districts in which the school directors outnumber the teachers employed.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, in a recent radio address, said:

"Two miles was a long distance to school in the earlier days because the children had to walk. Thus small rural school districts resulted. Today, the school bus takes the farm children to school and these small districts are no longer necessary. We can now have the larger, more, efficient districts."

(Tomorrow the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will present a similar article, this time showing how a half million dollars has been wasted in the last five years in the duplicate assessment of real estate in the four cities of Allegheny County.)

FACTS ABOUT OUR SCHOOLS

Pennsylvania has 2,587 school districts.

Thirty-two districts have no schools nor teachers, yet a regular board is elected, a secretary, solicitor, treasurer, auditor and tax collector hired.

Two of the 32 districts are in Allegheny County, Kilbuck Township and Ben Avon Heights Borough having no schools nor teachers.

One hundred ten districts each has only one teacher in one small room school, but the same elaborate setup exists with an elective board and paid officials.

Going further, there are 156 districts each having only two teachers; 143 each having only three teachers and 167 each having only four teachers.

A summary shows there are in the state 608 school districts in which the school directors outnumber the teachers employed. Each board in the 608 districts has more paid officers than there are school teachers.

COMPANY HERE SET TO START CONSTRUCTION

$2,450,000 Project in Line With Flood Control Program

Direct employment for approximately 1,000 men for two years was assured today with the awarding of the contract for a dam to be built across the Ohio River near Montgomery Island, six miles below Beaver. Booth & Flinn received the $2,450,000 contract, according to Maj. W. D. Styer, United States district engineer here.

Maj. Styer announced that approximately 350 men will be employed directly for a period of two years on the new dam, in addition to 600 who will be given jobs with the start of construction of a reservoir on the Tygart River in the Monongahela basin about two miles above Grafton, W. Va. The two projects together will furnish employment to "several thousand additional men" in plants which manufacture or furnish steel, cement, sand and gravel and other machinery used on the jobs, according to Maj. Styer.

REPLACE LOCKS

Both projects, he said, are in line with the Pittsburgh Flood Commission's $57,445,328 flood basin plan. Allotment of three million dollars to the War Department engineers to begin work on the Tygart River reservoir launched the first unit in the Flood Commission's plan. When completed it will cost 12 million dollars.

The Montgomery Island dam, to be completed in 660 days, will complete a set of double locks, designed to replace existing locks and movable dams at No. 4, 5 and 6 on the Ohio River. Although designed primarily to establish a suitable navigation channel, the dam will provide protection against floods, according to Maj. Styer. By the nature of its roller type of construction the dam may be elevated in time of floods to permit the water to pass under it eliminating any increase to the flood stage because of its own mass.

SURVEY STARTED

Along the upstream side of the dam and above the rollers, used to lift and lower it, will be a service bridge provided with a 15-foot track for the operation of a 30-ton locomotive crane. The crane will be used to make minor repairs on the dam gates and to remove drift ice from above the dam.

A crew of six engineers from Styer's office is now at work on the Tygart site surveying in preparation for actual construction work. When construction gets under way within the next few months, 200 men will be employed through the U. S. Employment bureau at Grafton, W. Va.

This reservoir will provide stream regulation and flood control facilities on the Monongahela River and its tributaries, affecting the Pittsburgh area.

FEUD STILL ON IN SEWICKLEY

There seemed a difference of opinion today as to who was really the police chief of Sewickley.

Burgess Paul Ingram insisted that Roy Barclay, at least the nominal chief, was still suspended, that the acting chief was Patrolman S. Y. McFarland.

But a telephone inquiry to the police station for "the chief" brought the information that Barclay was "up street."

Ingram said the force was not taking orders from Barclay, although Barclay, at Council's insistence, is being paid, whether he works or not.

The borough feud finds Council, whose president is James C. Chaplin, banker, battling Burgess Ingram, who has suspended Barclay several times and promises to keep it up.

Ingram and a faction in the borough accuse Barclay of Ku Klux Klan activities years ago. Barclay contends he was simply an investigator for the Klan.

PAY CUT MOVE BRINGS ROW

A meeting to discuss payment of men employed on road construction projects in the vicinity of Warrendale wound up in an uproar last night when the contractor made a "compromise" offer to the workers.

H. E. Kloss, district engineer of the State Highway Department, said today the state would not countenance a "compromise" payment unless it conformed to the scale in the NRA code, under which the contractor operates.

The contracting firm was the Ruth Lumber and Supply Company, of Scottdale, which sublet the project to George Darr, of Warrendale. Kloss said the state would hold the Ruth firm responsible for the payment. He added that the concern has been notified it cannot participate further in statebusiness until the men are paid.

Three Pittsburghers Renamed by Pinchot

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Three members of the State Council for the Blind and two members of the State Welfare Commission whose appointments were not acted upon by the Senate at the last session were re-appointed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot today.

Mrs. Helen C. Snyder, Philadelphia; Mrs. Estelle May Affelder, Pittsburgh, and C. B. Auel, Pittsburgh, were named to the blind council, and J. Prentice Murphy, Delaware County, and Mrs. Mary Clarke Burnett, Pittsburgh were named again to the Welfare Commission.

HOUSING PLANS TO BE STUDIED

Sir Raymond Unwin, of London, expert on housing projects, and Robert D. Kohn, Director of Housing of the Public Works Administration, will visit Pittsburgh tomorrow to confer on a policy for proposed housing plans for Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. Sir Raymond will arrive at the Pennsylvania Station at 7:45 tomorrow morning. Kohn will not arrive until later in the day.

The two visitors will meet with Joseph P. Tufts, director of the Pittsburgh Housing Association, in the headquarters at 524 Penn avenue. Tomorrow night the visitors will be honor guests at a banquet of the association in the Hotel Schenley. The banquet is to be held jointly by the housing group, the City Planning Commission and the Allied Architects of Pittsburgh.

Bride at 14, Deserted At 15, Girl Sues

Married at 14, deserted at 15, Mary Martha Goodson, 1234 Pennsylvania avenue, an attractive brunette, yesterday asked Judge Harry H. Rowand for a divorce from James Edward Goodson. They eloped to West Virginia and were married April 23, 1925.

Judge Rowand inquired:

"How did you get a license, and what was said?"

Looking at the Judge shyly, the young wife answered:

"He got the license. I did not give any information about it."

Mrs. Goodson told the court that sometime after Goodson left, her husband had written her an offer to send money if she would live with him. She wired for the money, she said, but he failed to send it.

CWA PAYING $103,871 TO 12,746 WORKERS HERE

FUNDS PERILED ON DELAYED PROJECTS

Distribution of a $103,871 payroll was started today by the Civic Works paymaster to CWA workers employed throughout the city and county.

The payroll represents the week ending January 4 and lists 12,746 workers. Paydays will continue the remainder of the week. An increased payroll is indicated for the week ending today, James L. Stuart, local CWA administrator, announcing 14,729 workers listed in the latest available figure that includes Tuesday.

Municipalities are being urged to hasten the launching of their projects. The administrator's office to date has placed requisitions for 23,359 workers at the employment office for jobs already approved.

BIDDLE SCORES DELAYS

Delay in putting men to work may result in the withdrawal of funds for the projects, according to Administrator Stuart, who recently returned from a meeting of CWA state leaders in Harrisburg, said Erich H. Biddle, Pennsylvania administrator, threatened to eliminate from the employment program all jobs which are slow in getting under way.

Biddle's failure to announce a deadline on projects indicates he will continue to accept and approve plans, and reserve money grants for work promptly begun.

Although he was promised nothing by Biddle, Stuart said he would continue to press his request for additional funds.

Complaints that lack of identification slips at job sites have prevented men from going to work after being notified were answered yesterday by Ralph W. Gibbs, employment director.

ADVISED TO WAIT

Gibbs explained messengers of the bureau who deliver the credentials must cover the county, arriving at different hours at the various jobs. He advised employes to remain at the designated place until the messenger arrives.

Indications of improved business were seen by Gibbs, who said four firms applied yesterday for office employes, the request being the first of its kind in six months.

The opening of the new branch of the employment bureau yesterday was attended by several thousand hopeful unemployed. All but a few filled out applications before the agency closed. The office, located at 338 Third avenue, will continue to receive applicants daily.

City Pays One-Third Of Project Costs

The city is getting from the United States government approximately three times the amount of money it is putting into the civil works program, according to Charles M. Reppert, chief city engineer.

An ordinance is to be introduced in Council Monday, Reppert said, appropriating $741,000 in addition to about $150,000 already spent for civil works materials.

The government is putting into civil works payrolls approximately $2,530,000, which will employ approximately 12,000 men up until February 15. Among new projects announced by Reppert was repainting the Highland Park Zoo and the city hospitals.

The money will be appropriated from the $1,400,000 relief bond issue.

MELLON NAMED ON P. R. R. BOARD

Richard K. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, today was elected a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He will succeed his father, the late R. B. Mellon, whose term of office on the board would have expired in 1937.

Richard K. Mellon continues the family line of directorships on the Pennsylvania Railroad board which began in February, 1920, when Andrew W. Mellon was chosen a director to succeed H. C. Frick. On January 12, 1921, he resigned to assume the duties of secretary of the Treasury in President Harding's cabinet.

R. B. Mellon was elected a director December 8, 1926, and occupied that position until his death, December 1, 1933.

STILL SEIZED ON SOUTH SIDE

Three raids last night by South Side police served to keep alive the campaign of police to "clean-up" the city.

Nearly five gallons of moonshine whisky were seized at 24 South Thirtieth street by a squad of police led by Capt. George Schmotzer. Four visitors also were arrested. The same squad found a five-gallon still in operation at 3155 Arlington avenue, where Frank Kubili, 58, was arrested.

At 1210 Bingham street, Mrs. Norah Hoerr, 42, three men and a woman were arrested and a small quantity of moonshine confiscated.

John Pruiett, 53, of 2247 Gironda street, and one visitor was arrested by Woods Runs police at Gironda street.

COUNTY DENIED CENSUS FUND

Plans for the county census of taxable inhabitants were at a standstill today following the revelation that CWA funds for 200 assessors to work on the job have been refused.

Moreover, an uncertain future was indicated for the census in the stand taken by County Commissioner W. D. Mansfield that the plan would be largely duplicated by the permanent registration law, awaiting the Governor's signature.

A matter of appropriation for 70 stenographers to work on the census brought it to the attention of the Commissioners' at yesterday's Salary Board meeting. They held up $26,000 in salaries for the work upon learning their assessor project had been turned down. It was the only one refused from the county.

Contract for census files has, however, already been granted to Remington Rand Company, at a cost of about $8,000.

Although Mansfield said permanent registration census would remove 90 per cent of the need for the assessment census in the city, Commissioner C. C. McGovern stated he had no intention of abandoning the project.

Continuing the salary scale of 1933 with some minor changes, the Commissioners considered the departments of Juvenile Court, Sheriff, Claims and Investigations, Highways, Deed Registry and Assessment and Revision of Taxes.

Bagpipes Sound Funeral Dirge On Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Bagpipes skirled a dirge on Broadway yesterday.

It was "Lochaber Na More" and the kilted pipers were sad and their step was slow.

No gay plaid, but a large black cloth hung over the big Scotch drum, for the man who beat the drum when the pipers piped merry tunes at the clan rallies was dead.

It was the funeral of John B. Bone, who served with the 5th Highland Light Infantry and came to America to beat the drum that every piping band must have.

He was killed by an automobile on Sunday.

GIRL RUNAWAY FOUND IN N. Y.

A 12-year-old girl reprimanded for playing truant from school for several days, police said, disappeared from her home in Beltzhoover early yesterday and less than 12 hours later had been located in New York.

The disappearance of the girl, June Meyers, was reported to police by her mother, Mrs. Anna Meyers, when she failed to return from school late yesterday. A description was immediately placed on the police teletype and shortly after New York police wired that she had been located there and was in the Children's Society Home.

Mrs. Meyers, who lives at 26 Haberman avenue, said she would send for her daughter today.

PWA EXTENDS PENNA. LOANS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The Public Works Administration today allotted $6,534,870 for 41 non-federal projects in 18 states.

Twenty-six of the projects were given loans and grants of the full amount of their cost, while 15 received the grants only representing 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials.

A loan and grant of $25,000 to the Board of Education of Stoneboro, Pa., is for the construction of a two-story gymnasium-auditorium and classroom addition to existing school building

A loan and grant of $768,000 to Lawrence County, Pa., is for construction of a seven-story and basement fireproof courthouse building in the city of New Castle.

PWA PAY HERE PROTESTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Representative Ellenbogen, of Pittsburgh, has conveyed to Harold L. Ickes, public works administrator, a protest against the wage scale being paid by a Philadelphia contracting firm on a PWA project at Cheswick.

The complaint, made by the Carpenters' District Council of Pittsburgh and vicinity, said the firm of Seeds & Durham posted a wage rate of 70 cents an hour for form hands on Dam No. 3 at Cheswick. Ellenbogen told Ickes:

"The council has verbally and by written communication called my attention to the fact that the wage rate for carpenters, approved by the PWA, is $1.25 per hour and that there is no basis for any discrimination in the line of carpentry between form hands and other carpenter work."

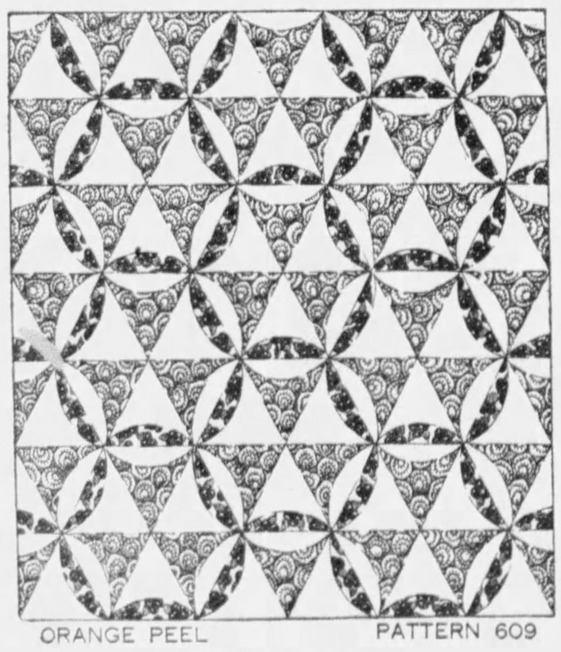
LAURA WHEELER DESIGNS



ORANGE PEEL — PATTERN 609

Make This Heirloom

Among the many quilt designs, there are some that are so outstanding that they become the heirlooms of the generations that possess them. Orange Peel is one of these. Its hexagonal block is formed of but two pattern pieces. Simple to make—lovely in its interlocking pattern—it has indeed every right to become an heirloom. Any quiltmaker, at a glance, can see that the pleasure of making this handsome pattern will be as much as possessing the finished quilt. Though shown in three materials, this design would also readily lend itself to the use of scraps of material.

Pattern 609 comes to you with complete, simple instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single or double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

CITY TRACTION BOARD NEARS TERM'S END

(This is the second of a series of articles explaining conditions underlying the fare charged on the street cars in Pittsburgh.)

Street car operations in Pittsburgh are under the joint control of the Philadelphia Company and the city.

This joint control is in the hands of the Traction Conference Board, which consists of representatives of both parties.

The history of the Traction Conference Board goes back 10 years. In 1918 the Pittsburgh Railways Company was broke, so broke that receivers were appointed. After abnormal war conditions were readjusted, a clear way ahead was seen for the street car lines.

In order to get out of receivership, the city and the utility company made a deal. They agreed the system was worth about $62,000,000. They agreed it was entitled to earn 6 per cent on this value.

MYSTERY VALUE

Just how the value was reached has never been made clear. It seems likely that it was agreed upon as the minimum figure which would permit the company to pay the interest on its debts. By permitting it to pay the interest, bond holders could be prevented from foreclosing on the properties and breaking up the system.

The Pittsburgh Railways system was built up of nearly 200 original companies which had interests in franchises or operated lines. Through the course of years they were consolidated into the present organization. By 10 years ago many of these companies had disappeared, but it still would have been possible for the bond holders of many of these small units to foreclose and take away their particular small piece of the organization. The upshot of this would have been that the good lines would have continued to run, the unprofitable ones would have gone out of business. Many transfer privileges would have disappeared. The final result would have hurt many car riders, many home owners and many investors.

CITY'S AGREEMENT

To prevent such an outcome, the city agreed on a valuation which would make it possible to pay the interest on all the bonds, as well as rents on certain leased lines and a few minor charges.

To protect its interest and that of the car riders, the system was put under the control of the Traction Conference Board. This board was to have an existence of 10 years. This period will expire on February 1, and an extension is to be asked.

During the period of the 10-year agreement between the city and the street car system, any earnings in excess of the 10 per cent were to be devoted to improving the street car service. In the early years such earnings existed. Since 1930 they have not.

Up to the beginning of the depression in 1929, earnings after meeting all expenses and providing for the 6 per cent return on the investment ranged from $600,000 to $700,000 a year. In 1930 they dropped to $34,280. In 1931 there was a deficit, after meeting all these charges, of $889,079. In 1932 the deficit amounted to $2,439,510.

Before meeting interest and other charges on this capital investment in the forms of bonds and loans, the company had a profit of $2,658,023 in 1931. This dropped to $1,119,440 in 1932. Final figures are not at hand for 1933 but an etimate of $850,000 has been made.

This $850,000 will be all that will be available to meet interest, rents and other charges of about $3,500,000.

The present situation makes it appear that the street car system is in a bad way, but it must be remembered that street car riding is directly affected by industrial and business conditions. The slump of recent years has hit car riding. Accordingly, the financial status of the system should not be determined by the conditions of years of severe business depression in judging reasonable rates.

ITALY TO RULE ON SPINELLI'S EXTRADITION

The 15-month fight of Guiseppe (Big Mike) Spinelli, to escape extradition to the United States to face an indictment here charging him with the murder of the three Volpe brothers, was entering its final stages today.

One last step remained in his long fight against return, according to the Associated Press at Rome, Italy. It was an appeal to Pietro de Francisci, minister of justice, against the decision of the Italian Court of Cassations, ruling that he is subject to extradition.

The justice however is expected to approve the supreme tribunals' verdict sometime today. In it the court said that Spinelli "had definitely established his American citizenship under United States Laws" and "was a confirmed homicide." It was on the question of citizenship that Spinelli staged his last effort against extradition.

Spinelli was indicted for the murder of Arthur, James and John Volpe, a few week after their massacre in Wylie avenue. He was tracked to his native town, Agropoli, near Naples, in October, 1932, where he once served as Acting Mayor. The Volpes were also natives of Agropoli.

Lieut. Frank Ferris, of the City Detective Bureau, and Assistant County Detective Chief James McGinley have been tentatively selected to bring Spinelli back to Pittsburgh for trial.

Make this lip test

LOOK at them . . . and your cheeks, too, without make-up. Do they possess the natural glow of health, which comes from a sufficiency of rich, red blood? If they do, make-up is simple . . . if they don't, read on . . . you may find one of the reasons why your skin is not clear.

It is well to remember that a probable reason why you do not have red lips, rosy cheeks, good health, energy and cheerfulness is that your blood is in a run-down condition. Lack of hemo-glo-bin, the red coloring of the blood, may also indicate a weakened condition of the body . . . loss of strength . . . poor appetite.

Neglect of diet, worry, overwork, colds or sickness, frequently break down and retard the natural development of the red-blood-cells and their oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin.

Why not set in motion the rebuilding of those all-important blood-cells instead of procrastinating and sacrificing your appearance and the feeling of being well and fit?

Though you have no organic disease,* you may have a lowered red-blood-cell count with deficient hemo-glo-bin. When this occurs, and it is very common, you need a tonic. Not just a so-called tonic, but a tonic that has the virtue of stimulating gastric secretions, and also having the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood to enable you to "carry on" without exhaustion, as you should naturally.

If your condition suggests a tonic of this kind, we recommend S.S.S. because its value has been proven by generations, as well as by modern scientific appraisal.

S.S.S. is truly a blood and body tonic. It is carried by every drug store in America in two sizes—the larger being more economical.

Consult a physician, of course, if you suspect any organic trouble.*

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

Some interesting facts about the Blood

About 8% of the body weight is blood. It circulates over the entire body something like 200 times daily. On each trip it passes thru the lungs, before entering the heart, to throw off dead air from the tissues and to take up the vitalizing oxygen to convert food material into tissue repair and energy. The only way food can be utilized in the body to give it heat and energy and replace worn out tissue is to combine it with the oxygen released from the blood in the tissues. Hemo-glo-bin of the red-cells carries the oxygen. It is just as important that the hemo-glo-bin be kept up to Nature's standard to insure that the body tissues get their oxygen and can remove the waste matter as it is to eat nourishing food. Constant rebuilding of the red cells is necessary, as their ordinary life is only about 30 days, and extra help is needed when they are below normal. © The S.S.S. Co.

CHAPMAN NAMES MRS. PINCHOT AS SUBSTITUTE GOVERNOR

STATE SENATOR REPLIES TO ATTACK

WARREN, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—State Senator Leroy E. Chapman asserts the "substitute governor" whom he charges with trying to influence his vote in the recent special session of the Legislature was Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of the state's chief executive.

Replying to an attack by Mrs. Pinchot in her Warren speech yesterday, Senator Chapman last night lashed back at the Governor's wife with charges of coercion.

It was the first time he openly named Mrs. Pinchot, although he had intimated previously she was the person he had in mind in his scathing attack during the closing days of the legislative session.

LINKED WITH MELLONS

In her address yesterday, Mrs. Pinchot asserted Chapman "worked only for big business interests," declaring:

"You know and I know that Senator Chapman wanted to do what the Mellons and big business wanted him to."

Chapman said:

"I challenge Mrs. Pinchot to tell me who the big interests are and how the Mellons happen to be to be able to boss me around."

He asserted that just before the time to vote on a move to bring before the Senate the names of Gov. Pinchot's still unconfirmed appointees to the Public Service Commission, he was called to the Governor's office.

MRS. PINCHOT THERE

There he found Mrs. Pinchot, John L. Hanna, Secretary of Property and Supplies, and Senator Andrew J. Sordoni, of Wilkes-Barre. Mrs. Pinchot sought to have him vote to bring the P. S. C. appointees' names up for action, he said. Gov. Pinchot was in a New York hospital suffering from a nervous ailment at the time.

The Senator asserts the effort to influence his vote was made at 3:30 p. m., that he voted against bringing the names of the appointees out of committee, and at 5 p. m. his brother had been dismissed from a road position.

RATE CUT REFUSED

Chapman indicated he is opposed to the P. S. C. members "because they voted against a decrease in rates of the Pennsylvania Gas Company in Erie, Warren and Corry." He said he will be a candidate for re-election.

Mrs. Pinchot Champions Governor's Program

FORD CITY, Pa., Jan. 11.—Before an audience of 3,000 workmen that crowded the Ford City Armory, last night, Cornelia Bryce Pinchot again championed her husband, the Governor of Pennsylvania, for his efforts to obtain federal relief for the unemployed.

Again Mrs. Pinchot laid the depression to what she said was the unnatural distribution of wealth to the Mellons and Morgans, adding that five per cent of the populace had cornered 60 per cent of the wealth.

She referred to Gov. Pinchot as the first Governor to go directly to Washington to apply for federal relief, and followed it up by adding that if Senator David A. Reed had had his way there would have been no federal relief—a condition which she said would have resulted in "hundreds and hundreds dying in Pennsylvania of starvation."

She also came out for unemployed insurance.

James M. Duff, president of the National Brotherhood of Operating Potters, charged that discrimination against a group of Ford City potters was so keen they were unable to obtain CWA employment.

The meeting was sponsored by local labor unions.

Sarig Calls Pinchot State's Big 'Cluck'

READING, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Terming Gifford Pinchot "the biggest 'cluck' in Harrisburg," Representative Wilson G. Sarig, Democratic leader, criticised the Governor because he "refuses to let anyone else sit on a single legislative nest." Continuing his attack, Sarig said:

"Pinchot is the most unscrupulous politician ever to sit in the Governor's chair."

Pittsburgh Youth Arrested at Prison

Dorcet, who it is alleged secured $40 in the hold-up, was sentenced to Huntingdon on another charge from another county.

TITLE ELUDES CULBERTSONS

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The first annual pair championship of the United States Bridge Association passed into history early today with one last, wild run of cards that swept aside the hopes of favorites and neophytes alike.

Michael Gottlieb and Howard Schenken, two of the most formidably consistent players in the game, walked off with the cup with a total of 666½ match points—40 points better than their nearest opponent.

A. M. Barnes and Edward Hymes, Jr., also of New York, were second with 626, and next were Mrs. Ely Culbertson and Albert H. Morehead, also consistent leaders throughout, who had 607½.

Culbertson himself was swept into the also-rans as a result of the day's play, though he started the session at the top. He and Theodore A. Lightner could do no better than eighth place and 593½ points.

The regional champions who came to the contest from a half score cities, placed only one entrant in the first 10—A. P. Stockvis and Leroy Thurtell, of Washington, who were seventh with 594.

With the pair event out of the way, tourney kibitzers began speculating on the probable winner of the major team of four events, beginning today.

PROM PROTEST OVERRULED

Overruling objections of the student relations committee to the University of Pittsburgh's annual junior prom slated for January 19, the student council last night gave the dance its official stamp of approval.

The relations committee refused to grant a permit for the dance, because, its chairman Roy McCune said, Ellsworth Miller, prom chairman, violated every rule in the committee's rule book in arranging for the dance. He contracted for the orchestra, the hall, tickets and launched advertising for the event without consulting the committee, McCune said.

Jack McParland, president of the student council, announcing the approval of plans by the council, said most of the arrangements were concluded during the holidays when the committee was absent.

Downtown Store Remodels Building

Announcing an improvement in business during the past six months, the Harris Stores Company today began remodeling its building at Liberty and Oliver avenues.

The alterations were expected to require several months. The announcement said the owners "are showing their optimism in this practical way." A large number of men will be engaged in remodeling and redecorating all floors.

NURSES UNABLE TO GET PAY FOR RELIEF

Snags in the state relief plans for medical and nurses' care of the needy were revealed today in a statement issued by officials of the welfare fund.

Pointing out that, according to plans announced last month, state relief funds are available to pay for medical care and nursing service in families on relief, fund officials declared that the Public Health Nursing Association will receive payment for only 118 of 16,017 visits made during December due to delay in issuance of authorization slips.

APPROVAL DELAYED

Under the state plan, the fee for nursing care was set at 85 cents a visit, payable on receipt of an authorization slip signed by the doctor in charge of each case. According to the fund's statement, the association has been unable to secure slips in many cases where medical care is being given by city or county doctors, and faces a similar situation with regard to maternity cases receiving medical care financed by the city appropriation made in November.

In the latter case, nursing care is definitely specified, but no provision for payment by the city is made. Nor have any authorization slips for payment from state funds been available, although arrangements for such payment were announced by Dr. Harold A. Miller, director of medical care for the State Emergency Relief Board, officials said.

URGE MODIFICATION

Modification of the present plans is asked in the statement, which reads in part as follows:

"Under the present plan of operation, the statement made last month that nursing care in all families receiving relief would be paid for from state relief funds is decidedly not true.

"The Nursing Association cannot possibly secure payment from relief funds for care in more than a very small fraction of these cases without some modification of the present plan."

MOTHER PLEADS FOR RETURN OF STOLEN BABY

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Appealing to the woman who stole her dimpled little Patricia, Mrs. Mae Luciano today promised that she would not prosecute the kidnaper.

From her bare East Side tenement where Mrs. Luciano and her husband, Edward, have kept sleepless vigil the heartbroken mother wrote:

"I won't press any charges against you. Please bring my Patricia back. Our Theresa cries for her angel Patricia. You are causing us untold misery. Please bring her back to us. A heartbroken mother."

This appeal, broadcast through the International News Service, kept pace with official police messages that flashed over the teletypes of five states spurring the hunt for the 25-day-old baby.

New York police and agents of the Department of Justice are concentrating on the forged letter by which the bespectacled woman, posing as a welfare nurse, succeeded in tricking Mrs. Luciano into giving up her infant for an hour.

VANDALS SNARL FIRE ALARM

An investigation was being conducted by North Braddock officials today to determine the persons responsible for the crippling of the police and fire box call system of the borough, imperling the lives of borough residents.

Burgess Fenton Mitchell disclosed last night that the entire system, which cost the borough several thousand dollars, was deliberately "jammed" shortly after the Monday night reorganization meeting of council.

Gas and oil were drained from all the borough trucks, including the fire apparatus, he said. The reserve tanks, from which the truck take fuel, were drained and filled with water, the burgess said.

John Cassidy, former fire truck driver, who lost his job Monday night, was re-hired by council to make emergency repairs to the call box systems.

Trade Board Fights Trolley Short Loop

Abandonment of short looping of trolley route No. 88 at Penn avenue and Ninth street, before 9:30 a. m. and after 4 p. m. is urged in resolutions adopted last night by the Homewood-Brushton Board of Trade.

The present system compels many car riders to walk several blocks to their work, each morning, the resolutions set forth.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The number of persons killed in automobile accidents in the United States during 1933 was estimated by statisticians of the Travelers' Insurance Company at about 29,000 on the basis of preliminary reports made public today. This compared with 29,196 deaths reported in 1932.

VETERAN TILDEN IMPRESSIVE IN WIN OVER VINES

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Floor Vets Clash Again.
Third Year of Rivalry.
Vines Gets Net Lesson.
Yoter and Pitler Vic.
De Oro Age Marvel.
Carney Meets Old Stars.

When Pitt and Duquesne meet on the Pitt basketball court tomorrow night to open the season's fighting for the city title, it will mark the third year in which eight members of the two teams have come together as opponents on the hardwood. Three Pitt men—Russ Ochsenhirt, Charley Hughes and Don McCamant—for the third and final season will be facing five Duquesne regulars in Dudey Moore, Art Feldman, Jim MacDougall, Irving Brenner and Marty Reiter. It will be their fourth tussle, with one more to come on February 6.

Dudey Moore

The records show that to date the advantage in the competition is on the side of the Dukes. Pitt's three seniors will have to put on quite a scoring splurge to overtake their Bluff rivals in the matter of individual points registered. In fact, the highest scoring by any Panther senior in Duke-Pitt basketball history does no more than match the mark of the lowest-scoring Duquesne veteran. McCamant, high man for the Panthers, with nine points in three games, is tied with Brenner and Feldman, the lowest scorers for the Red and Blue. Otherwise, the Duke seniors are far ahead. Reiter and MacDougall lead, with 16 points each. Next is Moore, with 10, and following McCamant, Brenner and Feldman, the nine-pointers, come Pitt's Charley Hughes with six points and Ochsenhirt with five.

OLD MASTER TILDEN WRECKS VINES' DEBUT

The wheeze that youth must be served doesn't apply to tennis, as long as Bill Tilden is hanging around, judging from the straight-set spanking the old master handed to Ellsworth Vines in the latter's professional debut in New York last night, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2. A little matter of almost 20 years difference in age didn't keep Big Bill from demonstrating after the first set that the younger stars can't even carry his racquets.

Though it didn't require any, the honesty of professional tennis was given a boost by the outcome. Tilden and Vines are to start a coast-to-coast tour tomorrow, and, under similar conditions, some operators in one or two other pro sports might have been tempted to make the opener a whole lot closer for the sake of later gates. But any time anybody plays Tilden, he's got to beat Big Bill's best. And Tilden's best, seemingly, is still tops in tennis. The rout won't hurt Vines, and need not keep him from becoming a success as pro. No double he found out some things about tennis last night that he never knew existed.

LOCAL BASEBALL PRODUCTS NOW RIVAL PILOTS

Elmer Yoter, of McKees Rocks, impressed his employers so favorably by his fine showing for 1933 in his first year as manager of the Wilkes-Barre club, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, that he has been re-engaged as pilot for next season. With Jake Pitler, former Pittsburgher, leaving the Springfield (O.) club, of the Middle Atlantic League, to succeed Bob Shawkey as manager at Scranton, in the New York-Pennsylvania loop, two products of the Pittsburgh sandlots will be in the same league as rival skippers.

Elmer Yoter

Yoter did a swell job as playing manager of the Wilkes-Barre club last year. He had the Barons leading the league for a time, and finished in third place, 10 games behind the pennant-winning Binghamton club, which was operated by the New York Yankees. That was a very creditable showing, considering the fact that Elmer had to work without the help of any major league hook-up and went through the season with the smallest number of players ever carried by the Wilkes-Barre club in a flag race. Rocks man contributed a lot of individual playing strength in addition to his smart leadership. He was one of the most feared hitters in the pinches and earned a ranking with the best third basemen ever to play in the league, easily the best that Wilkes-Barre ever had.

STILL TITLE CONTENDER AFTER 47 YEARS

Veteran cue followers may find it difficult to believe their eyes when they see the name of Alfredo De Oro in the list of eight players scheduled to compete for the national three-cushion billiard championship in a tournamnt that opens tonight in Philadelphia and continues until January 23.

De Oro, who qualified by winning the eastern sectional tournament, may well be termed the age marvel of all sports. Now past 70, here he is still competing for championship honors in another branch of billiards 47 years after he won the pocket billiard championship for the first time in 1887. To get an idea of the volume of water that has gone over the sports dam while the venerable Cuban has been a top-notcher in cuedom, just consider that when the Green Baize Grandee was first a champion, John L. Sullivan was king of the prize ring and was being challenged by Jake Kilrain; a California bank clerk named Jim Corbett had just entered the boxing game; Maud S was queen of harness racing and the trotting record was 2:08¾; tennis had its first national champion in Richard Sears, and there was no Davis Cup; Pittsburgh was having its first National League baseball season; Pop Anson was taking the batting championship from King Kelly; the Volunteer was defending the America's Cup; only Capt. Mathew Stanley Webb had succeeded in swimming the English Channel; the original Jake Schaefer was balkline ruler, Frank Ives had not yet reached his peak, and Willie Hoppe had not been born; hockey had not invaded the United States; national golf tournaments and the first modern Olympic Games were still far in the future; automobiles, motorboats, motorcycles, basketball, bowling leagues, trapshooting associations and volleyball were unknown; Knute Rockne, Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth and many other latter-day world figures had not been born. Yet De Oro is still playing or championships. Try to find his equal.

CARNEY FINDS COAST OLD-TIMERS' EDEN

Luke Carney, local boxing manager, who is piloting Eddie and Fritzie Zivic on a Pacific Coast campaign that has been very successful thus far, finds himself in fistic associations out there that turn back the pages of fistic history many years. Luke writes from North Hollywood, Cal., to describe that part of the country as "the old-timers' paradise," and suggests that Pittsburgh's veteran boxing fans may recall some of the stars of the Queensberry past whom he has encountered.

Luke Carney

Starting off with Jack Dempsey, Carney says that among others in the fistic colony of that district are Jim Jeffries, Jess Willard, Frank Moran, Fireman Jim Flynn, Pete Everett, Billy Papke, Frank Mantell, Dixie Kid, Rufe Turner, Spike Robinson, Danny Webster, Frankie Conley, Mexican Joe Rivers, Al McCoy, Tommy McFarland, One Round Hogan, Herbie White, Willie Ritchie and Jim and Rufe Cameron. Carney tells of meeting and talking with these veterans almost every day, and adds that Rivers and McCoy are now training the Zivics.

YALE'S SPORTS DIRECTOR MAY LOSE JOB

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Yale's far-flung man power outside the college walls was on the verge of drastic action this morning over the selection of a football coach, with the threat of something unprecedented in the history of all intercollegiate athletics. The threat was one of open rebellion against the vested authority of the university and its athletic association, including overt hints of reprisal and the withdrawal of patronage if Tad Jones, of Yale, was named instead of Harry Kipke, of Michigan.

Declaring that they will not yield to the desires of "a wilful minority," they added that their committee of seven, named by Athletic Director Malsolm Farmer to help select the coach, would take two significant steps if Jones got the call.

FARMER 'ON SPOT'

First, the committee would request Jones not to take the job.

Second, it would ask Farmer to offer his resignation.

Farmer, it seems, is one member of the "wilful minority" referred to. President James Rowland Angell is said to be another; in fact, he is said to have "ordered" Farmer to select Jones for the position, with the result that Farmer is off somewhere behind the seven-ball. He held out for the eight-ball, but that was being reserved for the man who did not do what Mr. Angell ordered. After all, it is Mr. Angell's university.

HARKNESS WANTS JONES

And in the background is Edward S. Harkness, who also wants Tad Jones. Harkness has donated about $15,000,000 to the university, and probably feels that he ought to be able to pick a football coach for that. But the alumni, and particularly the majority members of the "advisory committee," do not agree with him.

ELKS TO BOWL IN OHIO

By PHILIP GRABOWSKI

The seventh annual Elks' national bowling tournament, under the auspices of the Cleveland B. P. O. E. Lodge No. 18, conducted by the Elks' Bowling Association of America, will be held in Cleveland March 24 to April 15.

A. J. Morgan, new convention department manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was the guest speaker at a buffet supper at the North Side Elks Hall last night. He talked about bringing the annual American Bowling Congress classic to Pittsburgh in 1936. Fred Barth, director of the A. B. C. in Pennsylvania, also spoke. Barth announced the biggest prize list ever offered the winners in the twenty-seventh annual Tri-State tenpin tournament. W. E. Bisley acted as toastmaster.

Entries in the Tri-State tourney may be filed with Tournament Manager Art Ober, 3340 Liberty avenue.

After dropping the first game, the Iron City team came back strong to win the next two from the North Side Elks' team in a Metropolitan Tenpin League match on the latter's alleys last night. Lehner, of the Iron City team, upset 230 sticks in the first game, followed it up with a 255 score and then concluded with 213 for a total of 698 pins. Moore rolled best for the losers. The Fort Pitt aggregation won three games from the Brookline team. The scores:

EXPLANATION OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF YESTERDAY: SON AND FATHER LIVED THROUGH ALL ADMINISTRATIONS—Noltey Jordan was born in Rockingham County, N. C., on November 5, 1795, one year before President Washington retired. At the age of 16 he enlisted in the United States Army and fought through the War of 1812. He also served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War. His son, J. S. Jordan, who now lives in South Boston Va., was born in Halifax County, Va., on September 10, 1860, when his father was 65 years old. The two generations have lived through all administrations of the United States.

TOMORROW—THE REAL LADIES' MAN.

17,000 FANS SEE PRO NET STARS CLASH

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Take the word of H. Ellsworth Vines, Jr., who sampled the old master's fire for three sets last night, the greatest tennis player in the world at the moment is Bill Tilden, 41 years old and spry.

"There isn't a man in the game, amateur or professional, who would stand a chance against him in match play."

So declared the convinced "Elly" after Tilden had taken him over the humps by scores of 8-6, 6-3, 6-2, in Vinves' debut as a professional at Madison Square Garden. He continued:

"Fred Perry, of England, and Jack Crawford, of Australia? He'd beat either of them easy. I know about what they can do, and I know what he did to me.

"I thought I'd faced some services, but that first ball of Bill's has the others backed off the boards. It was at me before I knew it, and how it twisted!"

17,000 SEE DUEL

He didn't exaggerate. A few minutes before the crowd of nearly 17,000 that packed the Garden had sat amazed as Vines, a great national champion only two years ago, had tried desperately to stem Bill's thunderous service by bracing both hands on his racquet. Even then he couldn't keep it in the court.

The audience had seen Vines drive deep to Tilden's backhand, a forcing shot, and tear in for the kill as he was won't to do when he ruled the world's amateurs. And they had seen the youngster's racquet nearly knocked from his hand, the ball go flying askew, from the fury of Big Bill's backhand return.

Where Ellsworth was forced to depend almost entirely on his own scorching service, which failed him sadly at times, and his blistering deep-court shots, Bill matched him there and then dazzled him with an assortment of phenomenal shots and court deceits that left no doubt of the ultimate result. Tilden's beautiful half-volleys, his "gets" of balls that seemed lost, and the effortless ease with which he covered court were something to see.

TILDEN PRAISES VINES

Pleased as he was with himself after the match, however, Tilden was generous in his praise of his newest sparring partner. He said:

"Vines played wonderful tennis, considering the fact he was unfamiliar with the indoor surface. He'll get used to it as he goes along, and he'll have the old man humping. He was at a terrible disadvantage tonight."

But any disappointment he might have felt doubtless was leavened by the size of the crowd that paid to see him start out. There was $29,760 of new money in the firm's treasury, and that will buy a lot of tennis balls.

Vincent Richards and Bruce Barnes battled to a draw in a preliminary singles match that was called after each had won 11 games of the opening set in order to let the big duel start on time. After the main go, Vines and Richards came back to trim Tilden and Frank Hunter in a doubles match 6-1, 6-0.

P. I. A. A. REVISES FLOOR TITLE PLAY PLANS

CHANGES MADE TO PROMOTE FAIRNESS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A new schedule for the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association basketball championship was announced yesterday.

The schedule, made public by Edmund P. Wicht, P. I. A. A. secretary, eliminates an inter-district game and adds a preliminary regional contest in both East and West. The plan was adopted by the P. I. A. A. board of control at its annual meeting.

The new plan centers upon splitting the Eastern and Western regions into two divisions, each composed of three districts. One district in each division will be awarded a bye for the inter-district games, the byes to rotate among the divisions in succeeding years.

Inter-district winners will meet the teams drawing byes in the preliminary regional championships and these winners will, in turn, battle for the regional crown. Regional winners will clash for the state title, denoting the championship of the 634 schools affiliated with the P. I. A. A.

The new plan, Wicht believes, will tend to promote a better balanced play, will afford a stability lacking under previous arrangements, and will give teams playing long, arduous schedules a better chance to combat schools which "coast" to inter-district laurels.

Inter-district championships, both East and West, will be played March 20; preliminary regional championships, March 23; final regional championships, March 27, and the grand climax, the state title game, on March 31.

According to tentative plans, approved by the P. I. A. A. board, the 1935 and 1936 dates will be one week earlier.

The eastern divisions will be:

First Division, District No. 1—Bucks Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties; District 3, Adams, Berks, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Perry, York, and District 11, Carbon, Lehigh, Monroe, Northampton, Schuylkill.

Second Division, District 2—Lackawanna, Luzerne; District 4, Bradford, Columbia, Lycoming, Montour, Northumberland, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Tioga and Union, and District 12, Pike, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming.

The western alignment:

First Division, District 7—Allegheny Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Fayette, Greene, Lawrence, Washington, Westmoreland; District 9, Cameron, Clarion, Elk, Forest, Jefferson, McKean, and District 10, Crawford, Erie, Mercer, Venango, Warren.

Second Division, District 5—Bedford, Fulton, Somerset; District 6, Blair, Cambria, Center, Clearfield, Clinton, Huntington, Mifflin, Indiana, and District 8, Pittsburgh.

LOCAL SOCCER FANS AWAIT STARS' DUEL

By TOM BIRKS

Secretary Barton, of the Monongahela-Youghiogheny Soccer League, announced today that all games scheduled on Sunday have been postponed.

It is likely that the up-river soccerites will trek to Greenlee Field on Sunday to watch the Curry-Morgan battle in the first round of the national open cup competition.

The scheduled meeting between Buff Donnelli, star Curry forward, and Dante Villani, Morgan fullback, has the fans in the district agog.

In a radio interview last week, Buff Donnelli told the fans that he classed Villani as the finest fullback in the Pittsburgh district and probably one of the greatest American-born defenders ever to boot the leather in this district. In this important game, with the winner promised a crack at either the winner of the Illinois or Ohio eliminations, both should be at their best. Donnelli and Villani have been pals for years, but that friendship ceases on the soccer field. Many fans in the district this season also have been proclaiming that Felix Mitchell, the crack goal-getter of the Morgan club, is more dangerous around the goal than Buff Donnelli. This point also will be settled in this game.

Gallatin and Avella will meet in the cup tie playoffs, but the venue is too far removed from the district for the Pittsburgh fans to take in the game.

Four games will be played in the Central District League on Saturday, while one will be played in the Panhandle section.

New York Woman Keeps Cue Title

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Turning back the challenge of the same Chicago school teacher for the second successive year, Mrs. Gertrude McEvoy, of New York, is still the women's national pocket billiard champion.

Although upset in the concluding game of the regulation contest yesterday, Mrs. McEvoy clinched the title again last night by defeating Georgia Veatch, of Chicago, 35 to 29, in a close extra match that went 33 innings.

W. Pa. Cue Tourney Opens Tomorrow

The city and county and former state champions will be among the entrants in a Western Pennsylvania pocket billiards tournament which will get under way tomorrow night in the Ritz Parlors, 136 Sixth street. They are, respectively, Larry Hogan, Milan Talevich and Earl White.

The field will be limited to 12 players. Entries close tonight.

SPORT VIGNETTES

From Donora comes the word that Howard Mayberry, the former boxer, who was injured and at first reported killed when struck by an automobile on Armistice Day, is in a bad way in the Monongahela Hospital, with a chance that he may have to have a leg amputated, and his family is in need of assistance . . . Perhaps the fans who got a kick out of Howard's fine boxing when he was active in the ring would like to chip in and do something for him now . . . It will be appreciated.

What ho, how about this rassling business? . . . Do the women like it? . . . Well, if they're all like Mrs. Johnny Kline, wife of the local grappler, who appears on the card at the Arena tomorrow night, they do, and no mistake . . . Mrs. Kline a former roller skating champion of Michigan, thinks wrestling is one of the most healthful sports and also one of the most interesting, and she has engaged in some bouts herself with members of her own sex for the exercise . . . Says she never misses a mat show, and thinks the local promoters will be wise to admit women free to their shows for a while to build up interest among them.

Just a typical tale of a young boxer these days . . . It is that of Jimmy Gilligan, a featherweight, of Toronto, O., who boxes Mose Butch at Fairmont, W. Va., tonight . . . Gilligan has boxed some good bouts here and some others which were not so good . . . He realizes he has had his shortcomings, but he explains: "Half of the time I wasn't eating . . . Before one of my bouts, in which I was beaten, I hadn't had two meals within a week of the night of the fight and didn't have the strength to carry on . . . I knew I shouldn't be fighting under the conditions, but I had to get a few dollars to help out at home and get a bite to eat now and then . . . I realize the difference now that I am working a few days a week on a laboring job under CWA and am eating substantial food and training properly . . . I think I can beat Butch, and, if I do, I want to come back to Pittsburgh and show the fans the difference a few meals under a boxer's belt will make."

One year ago tomorrow, the Poughkeepsie Regatta was called off as an economic move, and one year ago next Tuesday Hunk Anderson was renamed football coach at Notre Dame . . . Interesting as we look back on these pages of sports history . . . Vince Dundee is slated to defend his world middleweight title in Miami, Fla., March 8 . . . Wonder if our Teddy Yarosz will be interested in that or if he will want to wait for a title match at Forbes Field a little later with prospects of much larger gate receipts? . . . In other words, will the title or the dough come first with him since he already has beaten Vince twice and figures to do it again? —HARRY KECK.

Penn State Five Defeats Dickinson

STATE COLLEGE, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Speeding up its attack in the second half, Penn State's basketball team defeated Dickinson College's five last night by a score of 37 to 21.

For 10 minutes in the second half, Dickinson was held scoreless as the Lions clinched the game, running their string of home victories to three. The half began 19 to 14 in Penn State's favor and Capt. McFarland continued his scoring drive that gave him a total of 19 points for the game.

Dickinson held the lead early in the game, but the team tired rapidly as the lion defense tightened. Capt. Kennedy led the Dickinson tossers in scoring with seven of the 21 points. The lineup:

Penn State	G.	F.	Pt.	Dickinson.	G.	F.	Pt.
McFarlane, f.	7	5	19	Wilson, f.	0	1	1
Stocker, f.	1	0	2	Kennedy, f.	3	1	7

AL QUAILL MAY TURN PRO ON YAROSZ CARD

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Al Quaill, crack local amateur middleweight boxer, who has been awaiting a propitious moment to turn professional, may make the break on the Ted Yarosz - Jimmy Smith card at Motor Square Garden, three weeks from tomorrow night.

Al Quaill

Only the fact that professional boxing has been in the doldrums here has kept Quaill in the simon-pure ranks so long. He has outclassed the local field, running up a big winning streak. When he does quit the amateurs he wants to be sure of an opportunity to box regularly.

GOOD SPOT TO START

Getting away to a start as a paid performer on the Yarosz program, Al will be able to show his stuff before a capacity crowd, which is assured for this 15-round state title battle. That will be something. And Matchmaker Lew Raymond plans to run weekly shows thereafter between the Garden and the Arena and figures on developing Al into a good attraction.

Phil Goldstein, the former lightweight boxer, has been Quaill's coach, and he will be his manager if and when he turns professional. Besides handling him here, he will make a New York connection for Quaill which will give him an opportunity to break in there.

One of the most promising preliminary cards in many months here is being arranged to support the Yarosz-Smith battle. It will consist of two six-rounders and two four-rounders. Quaill probably will be in the opener against Jack Dalcherone, of Springdale, with Elmer Wilson and Mike Barto, district welterweight rivals, boxing the second bout.

MANCINI VS. GORNICK

Dominic Mancini and Marty Gornick, welters, who were prevented from meeting in the windup at the Moose Temple, Christmas afternoon, when Mancini was stricken ill, will box the semi-final, and Dan Hassett, of Philadelphia, will meet Red Bruce, local Negro knockout-hitting light-heavyweight, in the first six-rounder.

Hassett is a stablemate of Smith and was introduced the night Jimmy beat Young Terry at the Arena recently. Gornick is a stablemate of Yarosz.

Hamas, Schmeling Battle On Rocks

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Negotiations for a heavyweight bout between Max Schmeling and Steve Hamas have been broken off, at least temporarily, because the two managers failed to agree over the division of the proffered purse.

Promoters Bob Gunnis and Herman Taylor offered 55 per cent of the gate for the fighters. Joe Jacobs, manager of the former world's titlist, demanded 40 per cent, leaving 15 per cent for the former Pennsylvania State College athletic star.

Charley Harvey, Hamas' pilot, couldn't see "eye-to-eye" with Jacobs in his demands for division of the "spoils," and asked 25 per cent for his fighter.

DRURY NOW PRO

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Morley Drury, one of the greatest backfield stars in Southern California's football history and an all-America star in 1927, turned professional yesterday by signing to play with a western team against the Chicago Bears at Wrigley Field Sunday.

PANTHERS TO BANK ON VETS

CARLSON PLANS TO USE ALL REGULARS

By JESS CARVER

The Old Guard, that combination of the two Hughes kids, Claire Cribbs, Donnie McCamant and Russ Ochsenhirt, is going to be Pitt's first hope against Duquesne as the Panthers essay not only to break the splendid victory string of the Dukes, but also to record the university's first basketball victory over the Bluffmen, tomorrow night.

All season long, there have been rumors and even rumors of rumors emanating from the Stadium that the good Dr. Carlson, the effervescent coach of the Golden Cats, was planning to bench two or three of his veterans and inset some younger and less experienced, but perhaps more driving, of his performers. These rumors have stood up well during the pre-game argumentation, but have been well spiked by game time. Doc gets himself all worked up over the shortcomings of his vets, but when the time comes to send 'em out onto the floor for the ball game, he has arrived at the conclusion that, after all, maybe they'll click this time, and gives 'em another chance.

PITT PUZZLING

To be perfectly frank (not Frank Carver, either) the Panthers haven't looked good all season. They've been beaten twice, and while none of these teams look very sweet when they are taking one on the lug, but the Panthers haven't even looked good in winning. Certainly they were not impressive against Georgetown in the season's inaugural last December. Certainly they were nothing about which to write home in the Minnesota game. They looked somewhat improved the night they took Ohio State and were fairly formidable, at least they showed potential power, in the Temple game last Saturday, but still they've not accomplished anything calculated to bring the glow of pride and joy, to say nothing of the beam of satisfaction, to the eyes of the old Sawbones.

Carlson isn't worrying as much over the coming encounter, which, by the way, figures to put the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a local college game into the Stadium Pavilion. By that is meant that he isn't worrying as much as he has over games in the past. In the first place, Carlson realizes, as do most coaches, that worrying over playing the Dukes will not get you to first base; in fact, it won't get you away from the plate. The Dukes have something which worry will never destroy, and the only thing to do is to try to brew a concoction one hopes will break it up. That one thing is finesse.

FINESSE THE THING

Finesse to a team, any sort of a team, is what his left hook was to Dempsey; the bat is to Babe Ruth, or his nose is to Jimmy Durante.

The Dukes, while they are not keeping Chick Davies awake nights, have him somewhat on the uneasy seat. They've got to enter this game with the strain all on their side, and strain is a very, very bad thing for a college team to be under. It does things to the workings of one's attack; to the nerves of the already high-strung youngsters and to the peace of mind and complacement of spirit of the opposition.

And a 20-game victory string is nothing to be taken lightly, although there isn't a team or a coach in the country who would not like to have such a record at which to point the finger of pride. And how!

The thing that is worrying Coach Chick is the fact that the boys were not able to hold a 16-point lead against Westminster. Of course, holding leads against Westminster isn't the easiest thing in the world to do. There are other tasks easier, such as beard-ing lions in the dens of same, telling Gen. Johnson where to get off and asking the boss for a raise.

TECH MEETS HOYAS

Having come through the test by fire against Temple in amazingly impressive manner, Carnegie Tech's varsity basketeers are looking forward with quite some trepreditation to the coming of Georgetown's Hoyas tomorrow night. The Tartans are not anxious to take two setbacks in a row, particularly in Conference competition, and unless the Hoyas have deteriorated a great deal since they were in town to meet Pitt, this may be the setup facing the Plaid.

Pair of Knockouts Mark Shrine Show

Two knockouts were recorded as eight pairs of amateur boxers battled before the Shrine Auto Club at Syria Temple last night.

George Martzo, J. L. Thomas Club star, knocked out Joe Brody in the first round, and Henry Klena won by a technical knockout over Joe Blair in the third. Teddy Movan scored his thirtieth victory in his last 32 bouts. The summary:

126-pound class—Steve Botsko defeated Frank Rickard.

135-pound class—George Martzo knocked out Joe Brody, first round. Don Shafer defeated Otto Tarquin. Steve Waiters defeated George Lasko.

147-pound class—Teddy Movan defeated Johnny Hunka. Jimmy O'Brien defeated Frank McLaughlin. Charley Cravotta defeated Steve Nickiciaski.

175-pound class—Henry Klena won by a technical knockout over Jack Blair, third round.

Wesleyan Passers Win Over Glenville

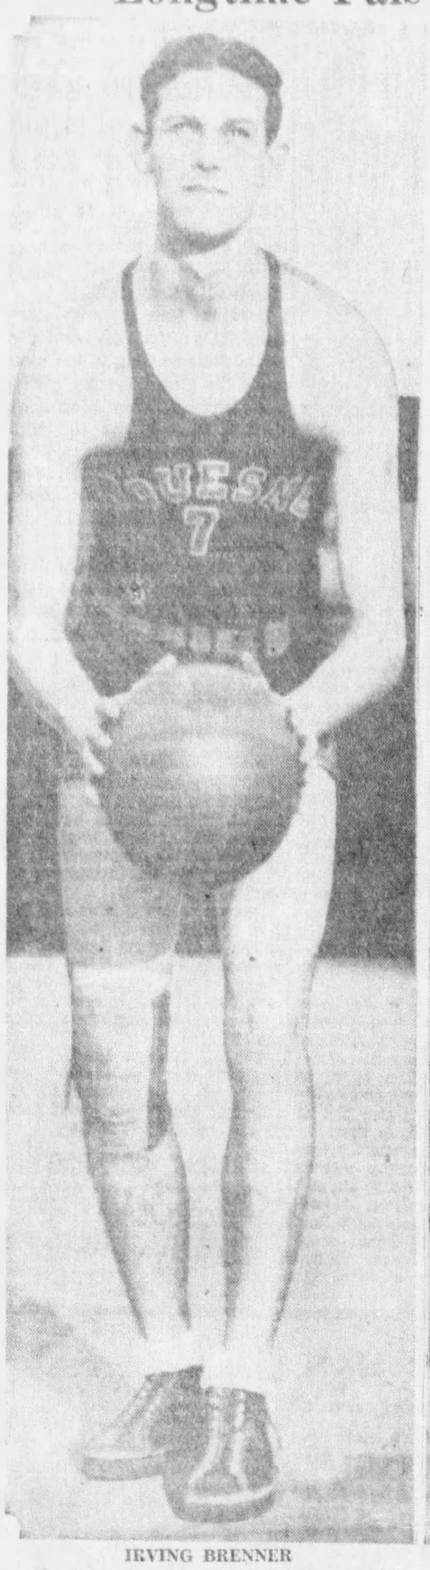
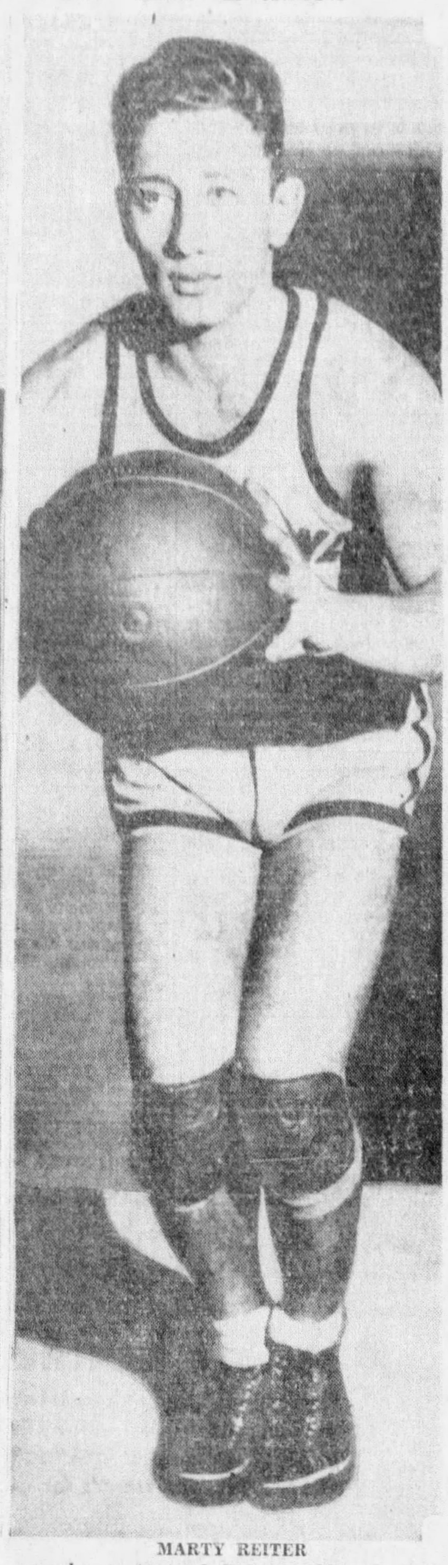
Longtime Pals Star for Dukes



IRVING BRENNER



MARTY REITER

Classmates in grade school and since at Fifth Avenue High School and Duquesne University, Brenner and Reiter will carry their longtime friendship into the first battle for the city collegiate basketball championship against Pitt at the Stadium tomorrow night. Brenner is the regular center and Reiter a forward. Both starred in basketball at Fifth Avenue before entering Duquesne. No. 7 is Brenner's favorite number. He has worn it throughout his high school and college career and consider it very lucky. These are Sun-Telegraph pictures.

CHILLYSAUCE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Baseball has a law which penalizes tampering, but the legislation is laughed at by more than one magnate . . . Many times this winter you have seen the law broken with impunity . . . When a manager publicly expresses the desire to land a player on another team he is tampering, but so far no penalties have been handed out.

By this token, George Gibson will not admit he seeks Tony Cuccinelli, Dodger second baseman; yet if Max Carey were to approach Gibby on the question of negotiations looking toward a swap involving Little Tony, he probably would find Gibson in a receptive mood. . . . Gibby says he is trying to live up to the ethics of the sport in this connection. . . . He remarked: "I had a lot of schooling under Barney Dreyfuss, who played according to the rules. . . . Moreover, I find there is no substitute for honesty."

Neither politics nor single tax will cut any figure in the awarding of the Pirate second base berth, it would appear. . . . The post is as open as Bill McNair's lobby desk and may the best boy win. . . . The four candidates who already have filed their papers are Tommy Thevenow, Harry Lavagetto, Bill Brubaker and Pep Young.

Even if Tony Cuccinelli remains in the Flatbush, the Pirates have a chance to flash a second sacker of Latin blood . . . Cookie Lavagetto would be a big number in the Italian quarter . . . It is strange that Cookie caught the eye of Manager Gibson just about as quickly as Gibson walked on the ball field at Oakland, Cal. . . . Gibby liked his movements and advised Bill Benswanger to watch the actions of the kid.

Speaking of Italian boys, it would not be a surprise in Coast League circles were Babe Pinelli picked up as a major league umpire in the course of the next year . . . The fire-eating third-sacker of the Reds through many a campaign walked out of his fighting character and became a high-class official one year ago.

Pie Traynor and Pinelli are good friends, but Traynor found it hard to resist riding the scrappy Red while Babe performed at the hot corner. . . . One afternoon Traynor beckoned to Babe who approached him. . . . Pie informed Babe that a fan wanted his signature. . . . Said Traynor:

"He's standing back of our bench Babe and he wants you to autograph his banana."

Joe McCarthy appears to have serious designs on the American League flag, but another Joe of the baseball brethren will have something to say about that. . . . When the McCarthys and the Cronins start to fight, there ought to be some action.

BAKER SIGNED BY WILLIGS

Dr. Eddie Baker, former Pitt basketball and football star, has been signed by the W. S. Willigs, of the Allegheny County Basketball League, and will join the McKeesport club at once. He'll not be eligible for league play for two weeks, but will play in the team's non-league tussles.

In a County League tussle last night the Willigs defeated the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A., 50 to 44. Crum and Rice leading the attack for the victors. Leech, at forward for the Y, was the high point man, however, with 18 points. The lineup:

Three Pitt Stars Return From Coast

The three Pitt grid aces—Joe Skladany, Mike Sebastian and Frank Walton—who took part in the East-West contest in San Francisco New Years Day, were back in town today, and one of them, Walton, star tackle, had accepted terms to play with the Boston Braves of the National Football League for next season.

The Panther stars report they were treated royally by the Californians.

CITY LEAGUE QUINTS SHOW FINE FORM

By JULIUS LEVIN

One of the best races in the history of the City High School League is promised the followers of local scholastic basketball this season, judging from the results of games played during the first two weeks of the campaign.

The battle for the Section I crown, now held by the South High School Orioles, is likely to develop into a hectic one before a champion is crowned. The principal contenders appear to be South, coached by Johnny Dickson. Schenley, despite a setback received at the hands of Connelley in its opener, displayed enough class in upsetting the highly-touted Allderdice quintet, to warrant rating as a title contender. Allderdice, Westinghouse and Fifth Avenue also have displayed flashes of championship form.

PERRY POWERFUL

The race in Section II is not far behind Section I in the point of high-class attractions. South Hills, Langley and Perry promise to figure in the running for the crown. Perry has a veteran quintet with Bob Kornick, all-scholastic forward; Homer Seifert, a consistent guard, and Joe DiMatteo, as good a guard as any in local basketball, the standbys, Perry is the defending champion in Section II.

Langley High School has displayed enough class in its first two victories to give Perry and South Hills plenty to worry about in their drive to stay in front of the Section II procession.

Followers of the South High School team, who were somewhat worried that their favorites would not be as strong as last year, when they not only captured the City toga, but went as far as the semi-finals in the state championship, now are convinced that the Orioles are every bit as good, if not better, despite the loss of Bill Jesko, brilliant forward.

ORIOLES IMPRESS

Washabaugh's quintet dazzled Peabody in its first league contest and ran up a 41-13 victory over the East Enders. Eddie Spotovich continues to be the keyman of the attack. This sterling athlete, one of the best centers in Western Pennsylvania, gets the majority of the tap-offs and is second to none as an accurate shot.

Spotovich has a classy array of talent for a supporting cast. Washabaugh has developed a flock of newcomers who are giving last year's regulars a tough battle for starting positions. Material is so plentiful that the Oriole coach can choose any five men and have a crackerjack lineup on the floor.

Unless they become overconfident, the Orioles are going to stay in the thick of the championship race. Those who have followed them consistently believe them to be better than last season, and that is taking in a lot of territory.

STROLOSKI SHINES

Johnny Dickson, coach at Connelley Trade School, seldom has anything to say regarding his basketball team, but the work of his quintet in the first two games stamps it as a powerful floor machine, capable of beating the best operating hereabouts.

The Taylor Allderdice quintet, admitted to be one of the best in the history of the school, apparently is unable to shake a jinx of long standing. Coach John Irwin has built a smooth-working floor machine, but just when it is picked to win handily, the Dragons have a knack of wilting. Against Fifth Avenue, the Dragons dazzled the Uptowners with their intricate attack and yet barely won by a three-point margin. They seem to work the ball under the hoop, but are unable to make their shots count, half the battle in offensive basketball.

JACK WOULD RUN GARDEN

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Jack Dempsey wants to take over the boxing business of Madison Square Garden.

The former heavyweight champion said today if, as Col. John Kilpatrick, president of the Garden, told a radio audience the other night, the Garden can't make boxing pay, he can. He said:

"I'll move into the Garden on a percentage basis, stage some real fights and show them boxing is far from dead. I'm sure the fans will turn out for a fight any time they get a real attraction, but they won't for for 'sucker' shows. I will agree to lease the garden and the Long Island City Bowl for exclusive boxing rights. Boxing has been badly run down and the fault lies with those who have been running bouts at the Garden."

Only 22 of the 150 boxers invited by the State Athletic Commission to participate in an elimination heavyweight tournament had responded today. None of them is of first rank. Among those accepting were Battling Bozo, Alabama; Abe Feldman, New York; Tony Galento, Newark, N. J.; Babe Hunt, Oklahoma; Joe Knight, Georgia; Patsy Perroni, Cleveland, and Yustin Strutis, New York.

Rainville Beaten In Miami Play

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—In a bitterly contested match, Marcel Rainville, Canadian Davis Cup ace, was defeated 5-7, 6-1, 8-6 yesterday, by Hudson Hamm, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., for the first upset of the Miami-Biltmore championship play.

Frank X. Shields, of New York, top ranking player of the U. S. L. T. A., whipped Dr. Phillip Hawk, of Forest Hills, N. Y.

STOCKS STEADY AFTER EARLY SPURT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Stocks were cheerful but a little subdued today following their outbreak from the doldrums in the latter part of the previous session.

Trade news was still encouraging, although speculative forces were inclined to step cautiously and take home some of the profits which accrued in Wednesday's spurt. While most statistical observers were rather bullish, some chartists were talking of a "healthy reaction before the real advance gets under way." Grains, cotton and other commodities were barely steady. The dollar was again unaltered. Secondary bonds improved and United States government securities were not so heavy.

Aside from bullish and bearish implications of activities at Washington, together with the possibility that Congress may revalue the dollar and permit the Treasury to take over the Federal Reserve gold holdings, Wall Street apparently was paying more attention than usual to business and industrial news.

Brokerage circles seemed impressed by trade reports from various parts of the country which indicated that the first quarter of this year will show a pronounced gain over the same period of 1933. Comparisons, however, will be aided by the fact that all lines of business pointed downward during the early months of last year.

Market observers pointed out that public purchasing power is being given a tremendous lift by government spending. Federal expenditures during the first six days of 1934, it was found, averaged $49,856,481. At this rate the total outlay for January should be about 162 billion dollars. Since much of this money is going for payrolls and to people who will spend it immediately, it is argued, trade will continue to be stimulated.

The Federal Reserve's report on department store Christmas sales was cheering to the financial district. The board's index placed December selling at some 7 per cent higher than that of a year ago, despite the fact that there was one less trading day this year than last. Figuring the shorter month, the increase over 1932 was said to have been about 12 per cent.

WHEAT REACTS AFTER BULGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—With 760 million bushels drop shown officially in farm reserve stocks of the three major grains, prices today averaged higher at the start. The government report as to corn especially was construed as bullish.

Opening at ⅛ off to ⅜ up, wheat later underwent a sag. Corn started unchanged to ⅜ higher, and subsequently reacted somewhat.

Selling pressure, which developed in the grain market after initial upturns of prices, was attributed partly to profit-taking, but also to the fact that the bullish character of the government report on farm reserves had been largely discounted in advance.

Corn and oats paralleled wheat price setbacks, notwithstanding trade suggestions of likelihood of enlarged demands for corn to be used by distillers.

Increasing stocks of lard and inadequacy of exports tended to ease the provision market.

LAKE TONNAGE UP SHARPLY

CLEVELAND, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Iron ore, coal and limestone—the steel industry's raw materials—were a heavier burden for Great Lakes freighters in the 1933 season than in 1932 by a wide margin, the shipping figures of the lake carriers' association showed today.

The iron ore trade jumped 506 per cent from 1932 to 1933. Steel circles have pointed out, however, that 1932 was an "off year" in which very little ore was brought down from the head of the lakes, comparatively speaking.

Net tonnage of bituminous coal was 31,351,353 in 1933, a gain of 27.63 per cent; the figure for anthracite coal was 425,301 net tons, up 44.67 per cent from 1932; limestone tonnage was 6,664,629, a gain of 71.27 per cent.

Grain shipments, which amounted to 8,713,127, were down 1.99 per cent to the lowest level since 1920. The association said curtailed export demand was responsible.

The entire bulk freight commerce for 1933 was 71,373,176 net tons, an increase of 71.27 per cent over the previous season. Iron ore accounted for 24,218,766 net tons.

Many Lines Report Gains

By B. C. FORBES

STRAWS indicating increasing cheerfulness:

1—Some 50 business magnates were introduced to the vast audience attending the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce dinner, but the person who received the most enthusiastic "hand" was Babe Ruth. Apparently, business men have not permitted their troubles to kill their interest in sport.

Mr. Forbes

2—Attendance at the New York Auto Show is breaking all records. Manufacturers declare that orders booked promise to do likewise.

3—The hotel business, at least in New York, is enjoying extraordinary recovery.

4—Travel has lately increased notably.

5—Arthur Murray says that the number of people taking dancing lessons has multiplied extraordinarily, that during the last year three million pupils paid fifty million dollars for lessons.

6—New York this month has been invaded by more buyers than at any time since 1929—and the total promises to be still greater by this time next month.

7—Even before prices were announced, several makers of low-priced automobiles had booked the biggest orders in four years.

8—The average of restaurant checks is larger.

10—Most dividend changes are now upwards rather than downwards.

11—Advertising is swelling in volume.

12—Fears of unsound currency inflation have subsided.

13—Movie audiences, even in higher-priced houses, have noticeably increased.

14—Liquidation of stocks has greatly diminished.

15—Insurance men have become distinctly more cheerful.

16—Fewer labor troubles are breaking out.

17—Mercantile agencies report better collections.

18—Retail trade has started off encouragingly this year.

19—Criticisms of the NRA are less numerous and vehement.

20—The tobacco industry is more cheerful.

21—So is the steel industry.

22—Construction, stimulated by public expenditures, is on the up-grade.

23—More telephones are being installed than removed.

THIS INTERESTING, astounding, significant fact was pointed out to me yesterday by an automobile executive, A. Vanderzee, of Dodge: five years ago three million people were driving cars that cost them an average of only $900, or twenty-seven hundred million dollars.

This "saving" of eighteen hundred million dollars has been made available for the purchase of other things.

Is it not true that industries which have made the greatest progress in improving their products and reducing their prices have proved able to attract an increasing share of the consumer's dollar? Domestic refrigeration, for example, has been booming during the last 12 months as never before.

STEEL PRICES PROTESTED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Foundries located outside metropolitan districts today protested against prices charged by the iron and steel industry.

At a public NRA hearing on price complaints under existing codes, representatives of these foundries claimed Chicago and Toledo mills can obtain pig iron at $18.15 a ton while foundries in small areas have to pay $8 a ton additional. They also charged the freight rate differential favored the big cities.

Another complaint was voiced against the designation of Youngstown, O., as the basing point for steel rates and it was brought out the big steel companies are proposing to make Pittsburgh their base. Such action, the NRA was told, would result in an increase of $75 per car on freight charges to some points. Names of these complainants were withheld and it was announced the Iron and Steel Institute was conducting an investigation.

Diggs was born in Tennessee and was graduated from Yale in 1913. Recently, he has been vice president of the Southwestern Sewer Company.

O'Connor also is Comptroller of the Currency, but Diggs' duties will be confined to the corporation.

FOURTH DEGREE

By K. S. DAIGER

CHAPTER VII.

I explained the purpose of my visit, and when I came to Carroll's call on me he began to laugh.

"So the little devil did go to the newspapers," he chuckled. "Good for him!"

"Is there anything to it?" I asked.

"Not a thing in the world. Some late caller on a servant, probably. We could check up on it doubtless if we were to try hard enough. If there were any indication of robbery or murder we would as a matter of course."

"Have you made any investigation?"

"Naturally. I talked to Mr. Paige at great length myself and to the only two servants on the place—Peter the gardener and the housekeeper, Mrs. Deane."

"What did they say?"

"Nothing of any importance. Old Peter has lived on the estate since he was a boy and acts as caretaker and gardener. He neither heard nor saw anything out of the way. Mrs. Deane left the Paige house early in the evening and was here in Towson at the time Mrs. Paige died. I checked up on her alibi and it's one hundred per cent okay. She admitted, however, that her mistress had been somewhat depressed and moody—due largely to her physical condition, she thought."

"Have you looked at the official pictures—the ones the Coroner ordered taken?"

"Not particularly. I glanced at them. Why?"

I pulled the one of the boudoir from my pocket and handed it to him. "Look at the knot," I said. "I have been informed that it is a bit unusual and is one frequently used by crooks. Do you know anything about it?"

Williams examined it closely, and then, as the rest of us had done, he took out his magnifying glass.

"I think it looks darn funny," he admitted. "I'll admit that we hadn't looked into the knot especially. Who told you that this knot is used by crooks?"

FAVORS INVESTIGATION

I hesitated, considering the advisability of quoting another police official. Then I decided to be frank with this open-minded officer.

"Inspector Anderson did," I answered. "He's a good friend of mine and I hate to see a lot of unnecessary publicity started that will hurt him. I've talked the matter over with him—the Carroll angle of it, I mean."

"What did he say?"

"He said that his remarks were not for publication, but that if you wanted any advice or assistance, he would tell you exactly what he thought if you would telephone him."

The Sergeant's feet came down from the desk with a bang.

"Then that means that he does think there's something in it?"

"That's exactly what he said," I explained. "I don't know what he meant."

"Just what is it that you want me to do?" asked Williams. "In view of this knot, I honestly think myself that the investigation should be continued."

"I think an autopsy would be the first step," I answered. "That may show up something. And it will satisfy Carroll and keep things out of the papers."

"Sure," agreed the sergeant. "In fact, I think I'd like to have one for my own satisfaction."

"Fine!" I exclaimed. "That will shut Carroll up and yet give my paper a thundering good story. I'll write an account of the mysterious man seen in the lane and give that as a reason for the re-opening of the investigation."

"Good," said Williams. "I'll call Inspector Anderson and he may give me some pointers. I'll also start some inquiries about the man at some of the big houses. Maybe we can get a line on the knot, too."

CARROLL PLEASED

"When can you have the autopsy?"

"Probably not very much before late this afternoon or tonight. I think Mrs. Paige's body is now at an undertaker's establishment in Baltimore. It will have to be brought back here to the Towson morgue. I'll call Dr. Mason and ask him to perform it. Probably he'll want Dr. Warner and maybe a couple of other physicians. Then he can hold an inquest, if he so decides, and we will abide by the result of that."

We shook hands warmly and I beat it back for the newspaper.

Reynolds was awaiting me with not a little impatience, for this threatened to be a big story.

"What'd you find out?" he asked.

"Well, I've found out that the knot is a bit unusual. Seems to be a favorite in the underworld, so to say. And Anderson feels that perhaps the knot justifies a little more investigating, although the Baltimore office isn't connected with the case in any way unless they are requested to take it up. And I've persuaded the Towson police to hold an autopsy."

"Good work,' said Reynolds approvingly. "That's real stuff. Suppose we get out an extra now and you'll cover the autopsy—tonight, is it?"

I nodded and went back to my desk.

But before starting my story, I remembered my promise to Carroll and gave him a call. I got him without trouble and told him of the new developments. His pleasure was contagious.

"I was certain of it," he cried. "I just knew she had been killed. Now things are going to start happening — you just watch 'em!"

(As a matter of fact, things were about to start— so fast and so furiously that for the next week I was scarcely to eat or sleep.)

For a few minutes I sat quietly at my desk thinking—my last quiet moments before starting in upon a case whose ramifications were so strange and so sensational that they made it the most dramatic crime I have ever investigated.

TELLS WHOLE STORY

Then I looked at my two pictures—at the lovely prostrate body of Sonia Paige—and then at her horrible distorted face—and then I began to write.

The shadows of night were falling when I had finished and we were holding our presses for an extra 20 minutes, just so the Herald men could put their paper to bed and go safely home.

I told the whole story of Patrolman Carroll's mysterious man in the lane and the determination of the Towson police to continue the case by holding an autopsy that same evening. We published the picture of the boudoir with a close-up of the strange knot. And we requested that anyone who could throw any light on the 2 o'clock visitor in the Paige lane or who had any information concerning that particular variety of knot, particularly with reference to any knowledge Mrs. Paige might have had of it, should communicate with our paper at once.

And so as night fell all of Baltimore was agog with the latest developments in the Paige case.

"Murder—murder!" were the words that people said to one another in awed whispers. "Is it possible that Mrs. Paige was murdered?"

* * *

The autopsy was held very quietly that night at 8 o'clock by Coroner Mason, assisted by Dr. Warner and Drs. James A. Pitt and Wallace M. Deering, of Baltimore.

And it showed up one of the most extraordinary deaths in the whole history of Maryland criminology.

It had almost been completed without disclosing any new evidence, when Dr. Warner, doubtless thinking along the line he had suggested to me, opened the mouth and began an examination of the interior of the throat.

MURDER INDICATED

There, caught into the teeth and even under the tongue itself, were a number of little silk threads—yellow silk threads!

"Gagged!" cried Dr. Warner and Dr. Mason in the same breath. "Gagged with the tassel of the silk cord which was used to hang her to the chandelier!"

Then the cord itself was rushed over from headquarters, and there was its tassel, very much bedraggled so that it was easy to see that it had indeed been crammed into the unfortunate girl's mouth and used as a gag.

"She was strangled by this tassel first—soffocated. It was probably wedged well down into the throat and held in place by a bond of some nature. Her heart, in its weakened condition, could not stand the strain. And then the murderer strung her up to the chandelier to hide his crime. This is certainly a case of murder, Coroner."

And murder it was!

A jury was hastily impanelled a few minutes later from among the Towson citizens; and the newsies were shouting their extras on every street-corner only an hour later.

For the Coroner's jury found that "Sonia Paige had meet her death by strangulation at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

The Paige suicide had ended.

The Great Paige Murder Case had just begun.

I was still at my desk late that night when my telephone rang. It was Inspector Anderson and I could tell from his voice that he was not a little bit excited.

"How about it, Kay?" he commenced with a chuckle. "Looks as if Carroll had started the real thing this time, doesn't it?"

"Any developments?" I asked eagerly.

"Yes—that's why I called you. Thought you would like to hear the latest. The Commissioner has received a request for assistance from my department."

"Really?"

"Yes. And you might say that while I have assigned Kurtz and Mahler to the job I'm going to assume active charge myself."

Synopsis

Beautiful Sonia (Sunny) Paige is found hanging by the silk cord of her dress from the chandelier in her boudoir. Her husband, Randolph (Ranny) Paige, made the grim discovery. Robbery is discounted with the finding of the victim's jeweled pendant around her neck. Suicide is the verdict, but Dickey Carroll, a young policeman, saw a stranger on the Paige grounds the night of the tragedy, and believes the young society matron was murdered. Then, too, the knot in the death cord was an intricate one for a woman to have made. Carroll, unable to get his superiors to re-open the case, appeals to a local newspaper, Kay, the reporter assigned to the case, calls on Sergt. Williams.

EDWARD, PRINCE OF WALES, MEETS INDIAN PRINCES—WORLD-TOUR 1875-76

After the crushing of the Indian Mutiny (1858), India became a possession of the British Crown; Queen Victoria, the first Empress. Afterward several insurrections arose against British administration, considered exploitative by educated Indians but were subdued. A viceroy and officials of the India Civil Service administer the greater part of the country. The rest is ruled by Indian princes under British control. Though unpopular with the people, British rule brought many reforms and progress to India in every branch of civilization. Racial and religious differences between Buddhist and Mohammedan Indians help to keep the British in power. (World History)

"A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER"

John Keats (1795-1821) a poet of delightful charm accomplished in his short life, troubled by sickness, as much as most famous poets at the same age. His odes on "Autumn," "A Grecian Urn" and "The Nightingale," besides some of his sonnets, appear in every collection of English literature. Above: Keats reciting his "Endymion."

PRESIDENT WILLIAM H. TAFT

A close friend of Roosevelt, William H. Taft followed him in the Presidency (1909-1913). Taft's first measure, the Payne-Aldrich Bill (1909) failed to fulfill his pledge to reduce tariffs. The dismissal of Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot—who waged war against Secretary Ballinger's sale of such public lands withdrawn from sale by Roosevelt—made Taft unpopular. Progressive Congress members, "insurgents," ceased to co-operate with the President. Above: Taft as guest of Pittsburgh.

His administration is noted for extension of Civil Service in postal offices; prosecution of trusts; reservation of minerals of public lands for sale; recommendation of the Sixteenth Amendment (income tax); negotiation of arbitration treaties; the Reciprocity Bill with Canada (signed 1910) which increased Taft's unpopularity with farmers.

DEFECTIVE WIRING IS A FIRE HAZARD

Too thin wires have undue resistance transforming a good deal of electric energy into useless heat. Insufficient and unprotected insulation may permit grounding (leak into the ground of paid electricity). Such faulty insulation may not prevent short circuit (live wires of different polarity connected by good conductor) when a current of great intensity passes, melting fuses. If fuses are shorted, insulation and building may burn.

Rubber insulated wiring should be protected either by a flexible armor of galvanized steel strips (B. X. cable) or laid in steel conduit pipes (rigid or flexible). Insulated wire with porcelain knobs (knob or open wiring) is unsafe, obsolete and in many places prohibited. Above: Wiring-types.

JOINTS, LIGAMENTS

Bones of the human skeleton may meet in fixed joints (no movement; e. g., bones of cranium), imperfect joints (slight movement, e. g., ribs-breastbone, vertebrae with flexible cartilage between) and perfect joints (3 kinds): Pivot (e. g., head can be moved sideward, up, down), hinge (elbow, knee), ball and socket (shoulder, hip). All perfect joints are surrounded by tough cartilage and bound together by strong straps of connective tissue, called ligaments (such also hold together the spinal column). A fluid is secreted to lessen friction. Tendons are strong tissues connecting bones with muscles. Above: Shoulder and elbow joints.

THE STRUCTURE OF A BONE

The surface of a bone is covered with a layer of connective tissue-cells called "periosteum" supplied with blood vessels which extend to all parts of the bone. Beneath the periosteum is a hard layer, underneath that a spongy layer. In shaft bones there is a central cavity filled with a soft mass, the marrow, which has the power to manufacture the red corpuscles of the blood. Bones are filled with cavities and canals for bone cells, blood vessels, nerves.

ALCOHOL: GREAT SERVANT, BAD MASTER

The degree of acute alcohol poisoning, intoxication, can be determined chemically from analysis. Death occurs from a few minutes after drinking up to one week afterward, if alcoholic content in blood reaches over ½%.

Alcohols are derivatives of hydrocarbons of the methane series having one or more OH substituted for H atoms. Most important alcohols:

Methyl alcohol (methanol, wood alcohol, CH3OH) is highly poisonous, causing blindness or death (contained in denaturated alcohol, often in bootleg liquors). It is used as a solvent, or disinfectant. It is obtained by retort-distillation of wood or by cathalytic union of CO and H.

Ethyl alcohol (ethanol, grain alcohol, C2H5OH), solvent, disinfectant, used in making dyes, laquers, medicines, ether, chloroform, etc. It is obtained generally by alcoholic fermentation of glucose (a sugar) by yeast. Grain alcoholic beverages are injurious, if taken in excess. (Chemistry)

It Was Out of Season

We went up through the Adirondacks last week. The Adirondacks are mountains in the resort catalogues and big hills anywhere.

Long about the sixteenth mountain from the postoffice we got hubbed down in a drift. Couldn't get any more traction than a barber shaving a brass monkey.

Nothing to do but sleep in the car and wait for help. There was a radio in the car. But only for reception. Couldn't send. And when we turned it on Runyon decided the tenors needed help worse than we did. So we turned it off.

The heroic Bug volunteered to plow through the snow looking for succor. We hoped to be voted down. But we had to go. After three hours in a form-fitting blizzard we got to a farm house.

There was so much smoke and sparks coming out of the chimney we figured the folks were cooking hoss shoes for breakfast.

Rapping on the door got no answer so we busted in. The house was one ground floor room. In the middle was a stove that was redder than a grand slam in diamonds.

That stove was hotter than stolen bonds. Twenty people were coagulated around it like cats lapping milk. They were all wearing raccoon coats, coonskin hats with ear laps and All-American football blankets. When we opened the door they shivered like glass beads on a Siamese dancer. A guy hollered to close the door and we did.

Every guy had his nose against the stove. Which was so hot you could have dropped it in the Atlantic at Sandy Hook and it would have boiled eggs in the Bay of Biscay.

We asked them to help yank our car out of the snow. Nobody answered. They just kept their faces against the broiler. We yelled and screamed and nobody said a word.

Finally, we bellowed, "What kind of a joint is this?"

A fellow kinda turned his head toward us. When he took his nose off the stove we saw his beezer had an inch of ashes on it like a good cigar.

"Brother," he said, "in the summer this is a nudist colony."

POLITICAL PARASITES ARE PUBLIC ENEMIES

PUBLIC EDUCATION in the State of Alabama is about to collapse under the strain of an OBSOLETE SYSTEM OF COUNTY AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Unless financial assistance is forthcoming in the meantime, the state superintendent of education warns the Governor and the Legislature that practically all of Alabama's schools will be FORCED TO CLOSE BEFORE THE NEW YEAR IS TWO WEEKS OLD.

Instead of demanding that the Governor and the Legislature save public education in Alabama by modernizing the state's obsolete system of county and local government, the Alabama member of the Democratic national committee appeals to President Roosevelt for federal funds to keep open the public schools of that state.

IN HIS telegram to the President, National Committeeman McCord says:

"THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF ALABAMA FOR LACK OF FUNDS ARE ABOUT TO CLOSE. To keep them open for the next semester we must borrow two million five hundred thousand dollars.

"On behalf of the people of my state I respectfully appeal to you to use your influence in helping us borrow this amount from our government.

"We have six hundred thousand children enrolled in our public schools and I earnestly appeal to you to help us keep these children in school."

ALL OF THESE CHILDREN COULD BE KEPT IN SCHOOL and many other children in Alabama could be given free schooling if county and local politicians, who dominate the Alabama Legislature, would permit the REORGANIZATION OF COUNTY AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT WHICH HAS BEEN RECOMMENDED BY A COMMISSION APPOINTED BY THE GOVERNOR IN 1931.

This commission, at a cost of $30,000, made a detailed study and survey of all governmental agencies within the state.

This survey showed how county and local government in Alabama could be simplified, how the standard of administration could be raised, and its costs reduced.

HAD THE recommendations of this survey been carried out by the Legislature, as was done in North Carolina after a similar survey, Alabama would not be in the humiliating position today of appealing to the federal government for money with which to educate her 600,000 children.

For the federal government to make to Alabama at this time a loan or grant of two million five hundred thousand dollars would not be to keep open the public schools of the state but to keep political parasites in office. It would simply mean that all the unnecessary county and local politicians would continue indefinitely to eat up the taxes of the people which OUGHT TO GO TO THE SUPPORT OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND OTHER VITAL GOVERNMENTAL SERVICES.

Why should the people of the United States SUBSIDIZE SIXTY-SEVEN COUNTY governments in the state of Alabama in order to save the public schools of that state from collapse?

IF THE federal government subsidizes a system of county and local government in Alabama, which is a hand-me-down from the days of the oxcart, oxcart government in other states will promptly demand a federal subsidy TO PAY THE SALARIES AND THE WASTEFUL EXPENDITURES OF A HORDE OF USELESS POLITICAL PARASITES.

The best service that the federal government can render in this emergency to the state of Alabama is to notify the Governor and the Legislature, UNTIL THEY CARRY OUT THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THEIR OWN STATE COMMISSION for the abolition of oxcart government in Alabama, federal aid for public education would be futile and will not be available.

Sunday Entertainment

The Large Majority for Baseball Encourages the Hope That Movies Also Will Be Permitted.

The announcement that the Pirates will play 12 Sunday ball games at home next summer under authority of new legislation will give pleasure to an army of fans.

Persons who do not care for baseball but would like to attend movies on Sunday have cause for cheerfulness in the size of the vote cast last November in favor of relaxing the Blue Law to permit ball games.

The State Election Bureau has compiled the vote in 64 of the 67 counties and reports that 1,578,281 favored games on Sunday and 700,491 were opposed.

With sentiment thus shown to be more than two to one in favor of modifying the Blue Law, we do not see how the Legislature can reasonably withhold permission for Sunday movies.

Wolves and Bounties

There Is No Need to Offer a Reward for the Killing of the Predators in Pennsylvania

Either the same pack of coyotes—prairie wolves—which have been committing depredations on livestock in Washington County, or another pack of the same kind of animals, has turned up in Moon Township, this county, where three of them were found eating a freshly killed sheep.

Wolves were thought to have been exterminated in Pennsylvania a half century ago, though Col. Henry W. Shoemaker expresses the opinion in the Altoona Tribune that they were never really extinct in this state, and cites in support of the opinion numerous cases in which wolves in a wild condition were found in Pennsylvania in recent years.

At any rate the State Game Commission has never paid a bounty on wolves, nor felt the need to offer one.

It is a mistake, however, to say that bounties were never paid on wolves in Pennsylvania; they were paid by order of the Legislature some years prior to the formation of the Game Commission.

It is interesting to note, in this connection, that as recently as 1780 bounties were also paid by the state for the scalps of Indians, just as if they were ferocious wild animals. We learn in "The Indian Wars of Pennsylvania," by C. Hale Sipe, a member of the Allegheny County bar, that on one occasion 13 scalps were sent to Fort Pitt in one package. The scalp bounty law was brought into disrepute by the killing of friendly Indians to sell their scalps.

We see no reason in the coming of the coyotes why the old bounty on wolves should be revived. The zeal with which riflemen took to the fields in Moon Township when the presence of the predators was reported shows no additional incentive is required.

Where Girls Find Help

The Pittsburgh Y. W. C. A. Is Doing Excellent Work and Deserves the Support of the Public

Suppose a girl absolutely alone in the world, without a position or hope of getting one, should find herself in Pittsburgh facing a desperate present need to keep body and soul together. It often happens. Where should she turn for aid?

She should turn to the Young Women's Christian Association. There she will find aid and comfort, and it will be given her in a manner which will not humiliate nor degrade her.

The Y. W. C. A. is doing splendid work in taking care of this type of cases. It is also rendering excellent service to girls with homes and jobs.

The Y. W. C. A. needs $107,682 to carry on its work this year and is asking those who approve of its activities to contribute the money.

Certainly no Pittsburgh philanthropy is more deserving of the support of the public.

Municipal Forests

Pennsylvania Communities May Learn Something to Their Advantage in Europe's Experience

The Department of Forests and Waters at Harrisburg reports that four new municipal forests were created in Pennsylvania last year. Twenty-five towns in the state now maintain forests, covering 14,785 acres.

These woodland tracts are used principally for park purposes. They can also be made commercially profitable. In respect to this, we can learn something from the experience of European cities.

Most German cities have large municipal forests. Berlin, with an area of 240,222 acres, has 58,277 acres of forest within its city limits, or 24 per cent of its area. Frankfort-on-the-Main, with an urban area of 48,066 acres, has 10,473 acres of forest within the city and 1,260 acres outside.

While the European forests are used as playgrounds, they were established for other reasons. They were financially profitable until recently, for under scientific management the timber was from time to time cut and sold.

To the Rescue

(Copyright, 1934)

Congress has a splendid opportunity to speed up economic recovery by doing the sensible thing about Federal taxation.

At present the government is compelled by Congress to rely mainly upon the income tax for its current revenues.

The sheer folly of this reliance has been demonstrated by cold figures—by the figures of steadily diminishing income tax returns, despite increases in the income tax rates, and by the known figures of tax evasions by the owners of large fortunes.

As a source of revenue the income tax is a discredited failure.

Moreover, the income tax is both unjust and injurious. It oppresses all who earn their incomes and it depresses the nation's business.

Instead of the rotten income tax system Congress should provide a General Manufacturers' Sales Tax—the kind of tax that Canada has found most successful as a revenue producer and least burdensome upon the public.

Mark Graves, the New York tax expert, has recommended a general sales tax.

Industry, as represented by the National Association of Manufacturers, has appealed for such a tax.

And if Congress fails to grant such a tax, in lieu of the tyrannous income tax and the obnoxious nuisance taxes, Congress will fail signally to consider the best interests of the country and of the Federal Treasury.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—They were dog fanciers, caninophiles, relating unusual capers of their pets in a corner at the Lotus Club. It was started by a dachshund owner who told of his 4-year-old pet leaping suddenly into the air one day and dashing again and again into the stone wall of a garage. An hour later it died. A suicide.

An Albany lawyer had a coach dog that lived with his family 12 years. One summer it accompanied them to Atlantic City and became attached to a chair pusher, following him everywhere. Taken home, the dog vanished. Three months later it was found at the resort again, following the pusher.

A real estate man in Westchester owned a chow, friendly for years. All of a sudden it would go near no one, spending time in a nearby woods. It would come at intervals for food, put out for it, but only at night when all retired. This went on two years and then it returned as amiable as ever.

I told of a Boston that grew suddenly and amazingly savage toward the Turk proprietor of a souvenir shop in the Grand Central zone. Never before had he appeared ferocious. A few months later the headlines told of the shopkeeper's arrest for outrageous cruelty to dogs.

She is the middle-aged hatchecker in a shabby cellar cabaret in The Village whither a quartet of us had gone in a dip of slumming. In the taxi uptown we commented on the Madonna beatitude of her smile. Every husband has seen it when his wife looks at their child first time. Other men have seen it from piled pillows in satiny alcoves delicately scented, in hospital wards and in honest nests built to shield their own. There is no difference. The same remembered smile in grandeur or muck.

The gloomiest of producers is Lennox Robinson, whose offering this season was appropriately enough, an eldritch opus called: "Is Life Worth Living?" Percy Hammond observed that Robinson suggested George Moore's estimate of Yeats: "A dismal fellow who looked like a wet umbrella left at a rainy day picnic."

Achmed Abdullah has boulevardiered in 11 world capitals . . . Peggy Joyce lives in Judge Samuel Seabury's block on the fashionable upper East Side . . . Helen Broderick has so many costumes in her present play she occupies two dressing rooms . . . W. U. Day conducts a riding academy for diversion . . . Kenyon Nicholson's bawdy success, "Sailor Beware!" might suggest a playwright who is a hard-boiled hellion. Instead he is somewhat the dilletante, with a collar ad profile, is happily married, never visits night clubs and is a devoted student of the classics. He was born in Crawfordsville, Ind., and although no relation, his mentor is Meredith Nicholson, Indiana novelist, born in the same town, whom he addresses as "Uncle."

At dusk circling the gravel path of the old Central Park reservoir will always be seen a sprinkling of firemen in uniform. It's where they take their co[illegible]nals during hours off. [illegible]ng sundown walkers, t[illegible] are many shady characters who not only get a breath of fresh air but are able to converse about subjects in which they are interested without fear of eavesdroppers or dictaphone.

My gastronomic gazing last evening centered on a Japanese lady next table. Her order was: Fresh lobster bisque, omlette with mushrooms, coffee and apple pie with cheese. What, no tea!

Also I'm not yet out of my Christmas jam. I hid my wife's present in so many different places that I'm still on the hunt for it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

Be Still and Know That I Am God!

There are, in the Bible, certain eight words of great wisdom—"BE STILL AND KNOW THAT I AM GOD!"

Those words were written by King David for the ancient Hebrews. But we modern Americans have an even greater need of them, for our lives are filled with a clamor and confusion which that old world never knew. A million amusements . . . a million distractions.

YET, STILL, LIKE MOSES AND ABRAHAM, DAVID AND SOLOMON, WE NEED TO HEAR THE STILL, SMALL VOICE OF GOD.

We may not call it God.

We may call it Beauty or Wisdom.

* * *

But whatever we name it, each one of us has a need of it . . . each heart has a cry which the harsh shout of the world can never answer . . . each bewildered brain listens to a Voice which alone can bring comfort and peace and strength.

But we will never hear that Voice unless we shut out the noise.

Not merely the noise of the world. The noise of the world is oppressive, but a man may still hear God in spite of the racket of street cars.

AND THE NOISE WE MUST CUT OUT IS THE NOISE WITHIN OURSELVES

* * *

The bleat of our self pity . . . the hiss of envy . . . the bray of conceit . . . the bellow of hate . . . the whimper of fear . . . the snarl of peevishness . . . the mumble of suspicion . . . the snore of laziness . . . the snap of intolerance . . . the giggle and gaggle and guggle of foolishness.

These are the noises that really drown out God . . . and the Voices of Beauty and Wisdom.

BE STILL AND KNOW THAT I AM GOD!

Whatever your need, if you would find a solution . . . BE STILL!

LET THE NOISE BE HUSHED WITHIN YOU, BIT BY BIT — LET THE DIN DIE AWAY UNTIL YOUR SPIRIT IS EMPTY . . . READY TO BE FILLED. . .WAITING TO BE FILLED.

And then softly, gently, the Voice will come.

From all sides it will come.

From everything you behold and everything you experience.

* * *

That Voice which runs like one long chord through all things and all life . . . through laughter and tears and sunsets and ships, through plowed fields and budding trees and men bending over benches, through child-beds and graves and wedding feasts and labor conferences, through books and hammers and aeroplanes and loaves of new-made bread, through roses and heaped fruits and moonlight and sweat—

From all sides the Voice will come—

Quieting your confusion, comforting your pain, answering your ignorance—

Whispering: "I COME . . . BE NOT AFRAID . . . BE STILL AND KNOW THAT I AM GOD!"

OUR RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

A Mother Prays

God, I would keep my son as now,
So dear, so undefiled,
With innocence upon his brow,
A sweet and joyous child!

But since I know that cannot be,
May he grow wise and strong,
Well-armored in integrity,
Relentless foe of wrong.

May he with gladness play his part
Within the world of men,
With courage ever in his heart
And faith to try again!

But, Father, in his breast I pray
Leave one unchanging place,
Where still a little boy will stay
For mother-love's embrace!

Dead Silver Mining Towns of the West Are Revived—A Man Without a Country

By Edwin C. Hill

AFTER many years silver is coming back into its own. One of the final decrees issued by President Roosevelt in the long series of brilliant and forthright strokes which made the final three-quarters of 1933 so electrified, was the virtual remonetization of silver on a basis of one to fifty-three as compared with gold.

The scratching of the President's pen across the parchment of that decree stirred the old ghost towns of the silver mining centers of the West back to active life. The old mining towns that made millions over night, back in the sixties and seventies, ghost towns for many years, are filled up again as old claims are combed over and new claims opened up. The land that Mark Twain delighted to write about, that poured the fortune of Midas into the pockets of Flood, Fair, O'Brien and McKay, hums once more to the chorus of pick and shovel and the thumping explosions of giant powder.

Even old Central City, with its romantic history, may again come into its own. In Central City bloomed the first culture of Nevada Territory. It had the first theater and the first grand opera house. Booth played there and Adelina Patti soared her golden notes, as booted miners stamped applause and showered gold coin upon the stage.

President Grant made two visits to Central City, walking over solid silver bricks from his carriage to his hotel. George M. Pullman got his start there, and the inspiration also for the Pullman berth. A neat man, detesting dirt and disorder, Pullman was annoyed when miners plumped themselves down upon the clean blankets of his fastidiously made bed. So he put hinges on the bunk and swung it up against the wall of his cabin, and there was the first Pullman berth, the simple idea which made millions for George M. Pullman and revolutionized railway travel the world over.

Central City is coming alive, though in tune with modern times. Gone are the two-gun men and the desperadoes. Gone are the pallid gamblers in their ministerial black, the single diamond blazing in their white shirt fronts. Gone are the dance halls and the red-stockinged girls, the buckskin-clad fur traders, the red-shirted miners and the frontier deputy sheriffs. But life springs again wherever gold or silver springs from mother earth, and Central City, romantic and fascinating symbol of the old West, may again play its part in the stirring drama of the new day and the New Deal.

Says We Have Not Learned to Play

THE rush and hurry of modern life is blamed by Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of Northwestern University Medical School, for man's failure to live longer than he does.

"We have forgotten how to rest," says Dr. Cutter, "and we have not learned how to play. Our holidays are too infrequent, and our recreation is often more harmful than healthful."

The average length of life in the United States has risen from 35 years in 1880 to 54 years for a man, and to 56 years for a woman. But length of life has increased only a fraction over the age of 60, and shows a decrease in the higher ages.

In other words, once we get past the 60 mark, we are not likely, on the average, to live as long as our great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers. It is one of the mysteries of life.

Insull a Man Without a Country

ONCE more 74-year-old Samuel Insull is a man without a country. He is not only a man without a country, he is an outlaw. For the government of Greece notifies Insull that he must quit the country by January 31, an undesirable alien. Solemnly he is warned that if he remains one hour over the time deadline he will be placed on a ship and sent straight back to the American law which claims him.

A strange career, Insull's, this man who held the world of public utilities almost in the hollow of his hand a bare four years ago. Springing somewhere from the murky obscurity of the London East Side he stood one day, with his grave, brown eyes, his dark side whiskers and his strong-lipped mouth, before Thomas A. Edison in the great inventor's office in New York. Years later Edison was to say of him:

"He is one of the greatest businessmen in the United States and as tireless as the tides."

Ruthless, as well as tireless, with seemingly only one idea burning in his active brain—riches, and the power over men that goes with riches. Finally came the day when the waif from Westminster road had a town house in Chicago, an estate of 4,000 acres at Forest Park. The day when he stood ruddy, smiling and confident as the great people of Chicago, the Potter Palmers, the Marshall Fields, the Rockefeller-McCormicks, flowed past him in the foyer of the Chicago Opera House, bowing to him in friendly, grateful fashion for bringing into being this palace of the operatic art.

And then 1929 and his fatal battle with that hard-handed old fighter, Cyrus Eaton, the turn of the tide, the retreat of the bankers, desperation, flight, disgrace and now outlawry.

From the dingy streets of Whitechapel to the shadow of the Parthenon! With the future to bring no man knows what to this old, broken, disillusioned man, who fought all his life for the things that do not really matter.

ISN'T IT SO?

We become wise as we grow older—as well as more foolish.

No woman can play golf like a man. They simply won't use such language.

An ideal wife is she who neither burns the biscuits nor her husband's money.

In trying to keep the home fires burning some people keep the fire department busy.

The worst drawback to sitting on top of the world is that you have so much farther to skid.

Text for Today

Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear.—Hebrews, xi: 3.

(Today's text is suggested by the Rev. Dr. J. D. Van Horn, pastor, Sheraden Methodist Episcopal Church.)
